RAISING SWINE ON FARM IS ADVISED

Hogs, Grain Both Cheap Is Lindgren's Statement; Opportunity Seen

While much has been said and written about growing next winter's food in this summer's gardens, an equally attractive opportunity exists this year for getting next winter's meat supply at the most reasonable prices in decades, says H. A. Lindgren, livestock specialist of the state college extension service.

"Hogs are cheap and so is grain," says Lindgren. "A weaner pig fed from now till fall on such feeds as are available on the farm can be made into 125 to 150 pounds of meat for next winter's use. It can be cured as hams and bacon, made into sausage, dry salted, or canned.

"Pigs can be fattened on pasture with a little grain. Table scraps also make good hog feed. Under conditions such as we are now experiencing one can even raise a hog in a small pen, supplying it with green grass, table scraps and a few pounds of grain daily.

"Grass is plentiful at this time. Why not fatten a calf, cow or steer on grass and corn, and can the product for next winter's use? Beef put up in that form is excellent and will fit in well with the garden products now being raised by many families in our state.

"Mutton and lamb can be cured and smoked in much the same way that we prepare hams and bacon. The product is decilious and will add a variety which will be greatly appreciated."

Federal bulletins on methods of preparing these products are available through the animal husbandy department of Oregon State college, Corvallis.

TWO SOCIAL EVENTS HELD AT PERRYDALE

PERRYDALE, June 13—Leone Elliott was recipient of many beautiful gifts at a shower given in her honor at the home of her parents Thursday afternoon. Miss Elliott's wedding to Lloyd Covert of Philidelphia, Pa., will take place Wednesday evening, June 15.

Nellie Zumwaldt and Winifred Scott, hostesses for the afternoon served lunch to 65 women.

Mrs. Bryan Emerson and Aladine Campbell entertained at the Luppin home for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christensen Thursday night. The Luppin home, which will be remembered as the Gladys Domes place near McCoy, was quite beautiful with huge baskets of roses and honeysuckle arranged about the spacious rooms.

Dancing and cards were enjoyed by about 125 guests. At midnight two huge baskets of gifts was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Christensen.

SMART CHIMP

Buddy, the prize chimpanzee of the Bronx, N. Y., Zoo, finds a luscious ice cream cone one of the best means of keeping cool at his spacious apartment in the menagerie. He is already well-known to the public, having attracted much attention by his faultless table manners. He uses a knife and fork a la book of etiquette.

WHEAT HARVEST ON, PRICE WEAK

TOMATOES SCARCE, BOOM NOW ON

Export Business Poor And Buyers Lack Optimism

CHICAGO, June 13—(AP)—Fifty cent wheat instead of the old time standard of a dollar a bushel formed the rule in the trading pit today.

With buyers backing away from sellers, the market flattened and all deliveries of wheat wavered uneasily around the season's bottommost figures. Reports that the 1932 wheat harvest was in progress as far north as Hutchinson, Kansas, led to widening of the price difference between Kansas City and Chicago, and had a bearish effect here, together with persistent absence of export business in wheat from the United States.

Wheat closed nervous, 1-1 3-8 under Saturday's finish, corn ¼ off to 3-8 up, oats 1-8 to ¼ down.

Today's closing quotations:

Wheat: July (old) 49 7-8 to 50 1-8, (new) 49 5-8 to ¾; Sept. (old) 52¾ to ½; (new) 52¼. Dec, 55 3-8 to ½.

Corn: July 29 7-8 to 30; Sept. 31 5-8 to ¾; Dec. 32 5-8.

Oats: July 20¼ to 3-8; Sept. 20½; Dec. 22¼.

MRS. ROLL VISITS

WACONDA, June 13—Mrs. Leslie Roll of Rochester, N. Y., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Murdock is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Ivan Brundidge. Mrs. Roll will remain here visiting friends and relatives until September when she will join her husband in Cincinnati where he is attending the American Chemical society convention. Mr. Roll is a chemist for the Eastman Kodak.

Decrease in Churning Causes Steadiness For Butter

PORTLAND, June 13—(AP)—There is a real decrease in the churn of butter in Portland plants, according to the latest survey while trade conditions are considered fully steady. Butterfat is unchanged, sluggish trade trend is continued in the market for eggs here with more or less weakness reported with the arrival of considerable hot weather stuff. Quality stuff is not being shaded.

A barely steady tone is reflected in the market for cheese at most American centers. Little change was indicated in the general price list either at the source or at jobbing points.

While no change was reported in the buying price on colored hens, mediums and lights were down another cent to a new all-time low record here. There was no further change in broilers.

Market for fancy quality country killed calves is strong. Hogs are steady as are top lambs but cows and bulls are weak with a carryover.

Further boom in tomato prices has been caused here by the hot weather which creates an abnormal demand which the trade is unable to take care of. Sales are 18 to 22½c lb.

Market for both old and new crop potatoes appears about steady in the local territory; no change of consequence being reflected in values. Recent local demand for old stock has been increased. New onions steady.

General betterment in the trade is reflected in cantaloupes with higher prices the rule here. Good quality stock is moving but poor stuff is dragging.

Notes of wholesale trading:

Watermelons are moving better with prices held.

Apricots are dragging with lugs down to 75c top.

First string beans out of the Oregon country were offered today on th East Side Farmrs' market. They were from The Dalles and were of the yellow variety.

Strawberries were in fair supply showing a range of 50-75c crate. Most Gold Dollars sold 60c with Oregons touching the high and low points; most 60-65c.

Lettuce was firmly priced at 85c to $1 generally; a few 75c.

Asparagus was firmly priced at 85c to $1 generally; a few 75c.

Asparagus was slow sale with a general top of $1.25 pyramid.

Peas were in demand; most sales being 4-4½c lb.; a few 5c.

Beets and carrots were generally 25c doz. bunches.

Spinach was slow around 40-50c orange box.

SHARES MARK TIME IN SLEEPY SESSION

Trend Slightly Downward; Auburn Active, Jumps 12-Point Range

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—On the theory that nothing was to be lost by waiting, stocks merely marked time today in the dullest trading since May 23. Net changes for most leaders were inconsequential, with the downside slightly favored.

Auburn auto broke the tedium of a stupid day with a 12 point fluctuation. At one time it was 5¼ lower; at the high it sold 7¼ higher. The close represented a net gain of just 2 points. New York tractions made brisk advances in response to the newest unification plan.

National Biscuit and Western Union, whose dividend meetings come tomorrow, were heavy. The latter's April earnings statement showed a small loss and Wall street regarded this as another argument for unfavorable action on the payment. Most forecasters thought Biscuit would declare the regular quarterly amount. Bethlehem Steel, Proctor & Gamble, Wrigley and Pacific Telephone reacted a point or more net. U. S. Steel was down fractionally but the Preferred rallied.

BERRIES' END SEEN IN LIBERTY FIELDS

LIBERTY, June 13.—The sudden intense heat of the last few days, added to the damage done by the spittle bugs in a number of local strawberry fields, will soon put an end to the berries.

The bugs drain the sap from the plants and the resulting weakened plants cannot withstand the excessively hot sunshine, and have wilted and will dry up.

The continued rains heretofore have coused prayers for sunshine to ripen berries. The answer seems to have been too much of a good thing, as some of the fruit became scorched.

In fields where spraying or dusting against spittle bugs has been done the damage is much less noticeable as yet, and the berry yield will continue for a longer time.

NORTH HOWELL, June 13. — The sudden advent of warm weather has hurried the ripening of Etterberg strawberries in this vicinity, and several growers expect to begin harvest operations during the present week.

DESIGNER OF OLYMPIC TROPHIES

BARONESS SILVERCRUYS FARNHAM AT WORK IN HER STUDIO.

Coming from her native Belgium during the World War to lecture in America on her country and its people, Baroness Silvercruys, daughter of Belgium's Chief Justice, fell so much in love with the United States that she stayed here, with the result that she is today one of the foremost women sculptors in the country. She is now Mrs. Suzanne Farnham with a beautiful home in New Haven, Conn., where her father-in-law is a professor at Yale University. Since her rise to fame as a sculptor, Mrs. Farnham has had many notable commissions, one of which was for a bust of President Hoover for Louvain University. Mrs. Hoover requested a copy of the bust for the White House, declaring it was the best likeness of the Chief Executive she had seen. This year, the brilliant young sculptress is more than usually busy, having been commissioned by the Olympics Committee to make statues of the contestants from Yale. Each figure is modeled from life and arrangements are being made to award the statues in bronze as Olympic trophies. Mrs. Farnham is also an author, finding time to write her autobiography, "Suzanne of Belgium." In politics, too, she knows her way about and has been made a delegate-at-large from Connecticut to the Republican national convention. On top of all this, Mrs. Farnham still finds time to work on a war memorial, which will be exhibited at the Paris Salon in the Fall.

Helen Mulkey Chosen Head of Rebekahs

SILVERTON, June 12—The semi-annual election of officers in the Rebekah lodge resulted in the following: Helen Mulkey, noble grand; Elza Reed, vice grand; Maybelle Gay, secretary; Rose Larson, treasurer; Bessie Goetz, financial secretary. The drill team was given a reception and supper following the regular business meeting.

MANY POULTRYMEN IMPROVING HOUSING

Take Advantage of Lumber Prices; Plans Issued In O.S. Bulletin

Despite low egg prices, many Oregon poultrymen are taking advantage of equally low lumber prices to improve their poultry plants and get them in shape for more efficient production for the better times believed certain to follow.

To meet the demand for approved plans for poultry construction in this state, the Oregon State college extension service has just issued a series of three free bulletins prepared by the poultry and agricultural engineering departments of the college which contain descriptions, bills of materials and detailed plans for constructing range houses, brooder houses and insulated egg rooms.

"Building Plans and Bill of Materials for O. S. C. Portable Brooder House" is the title of extension bulletin No. 446 by A. G. Lunn, head of the poultry department of the experiment station. "O. S. C. Range House" is the name of the second of the series, extension bulletin No. 442. This range house has been in general use for several years and has proved satisfactory as a means of rearing pullets to maturity under sanitary and fresh-air conditions. "How to Construct an Insulated Egg Storage Room," is the title of the third bulletin, No. 445, by F. E. Price and A. G. Lunn. Plans for this type of building were developed to meet the situation reported by cooperative and private egg dealers to the effect that producers were losing large sums every summer from off grade eggs because of improper farm storage.

MISS GANT VISITS

HUBBARD, June 13—Miss Opal Gant, a member of the February graduating class of the Good Samaritan hospital, spent Wednesday with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gant and family enroute to Tillamook city to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Riechal. Mrs. Riechal is a teacher in the Tillamook schools and Mr. Riechal, a graduate engineer of Oregon State college.
