OSCAR GARDNER NO MATCH FOR TERRY M'GOVERN.

Knocked Out by the Champion in the Fourth Round-No Doubt of the Result From the Start;

BAN FRANCISCO April %.—Terry McGovern knocked out Oscar Gardner in the fourth round tonight at Mechanics' Pawilion. From the first minute until the end came there was never a doubt in the minds of the spectators as to the outcome. McGovern forced the pace all withrough and had no trouble in landing when and where be liked. Gardner's M swings were very wild and ineffective th and only on two or three occasions did he put a clean bidw upon the champion.
Gardner took a terrific pummeling and went down repeatedly from the ferce as-saults of the Brooklyn Terror. In the fourth round Terry landed half a dozen rights and lefts on the face and body and Gardner went down. He struggled to his feet only to go down again. Gardner landed one left on the body and the blow only served to irritate Terry, who came back at him with lefts and rights in a perfect shower. Gardner received a hard right squarely in the pit of the stom-ach and as he was falling. Terry sent in a left to the jaw which ended the fight. Gardner lacked steam and was very slow on his feet. On the whole, his showing with the champion was disappointing. The betting this afternoon was 16 to 2 in favor of McGovern and some enthusi-astic admirers of the little fellow offered even better odds tonight. The men fought for a purse of $500, the winner taking 75 per cent and the loser 25 per cent. The preliminary between Danny Dougherty, of Philadelphia, and kid McFad-den, of San Francisco, was a wbirlwind start from start to finish. In the tenth round Dougherty sent McFadden to his knees and while he was in that position struck him a light and unintentional blow on the face. The referee promptly dis-qualified Dougherty. The decision was very unpopular with the crowd.

The Fight by Rounds.

Round 1-Terry swung his left and classed. Gardner landed his left on the nody. They clinched and both pounded the body. Terry sent in a short left to the body and in the breakaway swung his left to the head. Terry forced the fighting and landed his left on the body. They clinched and both tried to get in short-arm rights. Both were fighting in the clinch and the referee had to break them. Gardner went down from a left to the jaw and took the count. He went to his knees again but was up immedistely and fought back hard. Terry forced fighting and landed his left on the d. Terry sent in his left on the body and his right to the jaw. McGovern sanded his left on the chin and Gardner took the count. He got up just as the gong sounded. It was all McGovern's. Round 2-Terry rushed and sent Gard-ner to his knees with a left on the faw. Gardner clinched. Gardner landed a hard self swing to the jaw. Terry forced him to the ropes and sent his right and his left to the body. Terry put a straight left to Gardner's nose. McGovern sent a right and left to the head at close quartera. Gardner sent a left to the face.
Gardner went down from a left to the jaw, but got up quickly. Terry tried his right, but Oscar ducked cleverly. Terry sent in half a dozen body blows at close range in quick succession and Gardner nlinched to save himself. Gardner sent in a left to the face and another on the body very low. They were mixing it at the close of the round. The pace was very Round 3-McGovern went at Oscar an

EFFECT OF THE NEW TAXES. Agitation May Have Been Pitched Too High.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Shipping and other industries are settling to the conviction that the only concession which can be expected from the Treasury is the exemption of the contracts for a short period, from the export duties on coal, and candid men among them are beginning to admit that agitation has been pitched too high and that the mines will not be cheened as white drives from will not be closed or ships driven from the sea by the new methods of taxation. Contractors now assert that foreign na-vies, like the French will be forced to pay the export duty on Welsh steam coal, and that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's forecast that the tax will fall upon the foreigner, may be fulfilled in the course of afraid of your armies. They fear what some call imperialism. Now, in section 3. I think, of the latter amendment, it is provided that the United States may send troops into Cuba whenever, in the opinion of Weshington. troops into Cuba whenever, in the opinion of Washington, such action is necessary. This provision awakened widespread suspiction. Many said that it was only a pretext for the United States to continue a standing army in Cuba for all time. The presence of soldiers and especially those of another people, cannot but be onerous and discomfiting to us. Others said that, although the United States Government might withdraw her forces now, she end them back again. This was then a atumbling block. It was, parhaps, magni-fied in the eyes of the common people, and they demanded that if these suspicand they demanded that if these suspic-jons were well founded, such a measure should not, receive our sanction. But President McKinley soon assured us that these suspicions were groundless. When we said that by this provision the United States had more jurisdiction over Cuba than over any one of its states, because, in the latter case, I understand, the Na-tional Government cannot sand troops tional Government cannot send troops into a state without the permission of the state government, he said: "Gentlemen, you need have no fear. I tell you that if the question of independence is settled and all differences on the subject are eliminated, differences on the subject are eliminated, everything else can be arranged."

"What do you mean by independence?
Does not each state of the United States

He aroused enthusiasm when he spoke of the fact that two years ago, when the cotton crop was short and was worth millions, people of the South wanted to know it, and the Ad-ministration notified the people, "so that the foreign speculator did not get the millions, but you did."

First Stop in Mississippl.

CORINTH, Miss., April 30.—At Corinth, where Grant routed Forrest, a tattered old Confederate flag below the Stars and Stripes was the feature of the decoration, Here a handsome floral piece was presented to the President. The President spoke as follows:

"This is our first stop in the State of Mississippi, and I assure you that of the many cordial receptions we have had up-many cordial receptions we have had upon our journey, none has been warmer or more heartfelt and more generous than that which you give in your interesting and progressive city. I am giad to be on this historic ground. Your battlefields about you attest the courner and valor and heroism of the American soldier on both sides of the line. There is only the one side, happily, now, and we are all together on that side. The valor and the men of the North have within the past three years been shown in Cuba, in Porto Rico, in the Philippines and fa China; and when we are all on the one side we are unconquerable. (Applause.) But peace has her triumphs no less than war, and it is the triumphs of peace that the American people are striving for today. We do not want any war. We are not a pirate power; we are a peace power. many cordial receptions we have had upnot a pirate power; we are a peace power. We love peace better than war, and our swords never should be drawn except in a righteous cause, and then never until every effort at peace and arbitration shall be exhausted.

"I congratulate you, my fellow-citizens, upon the prosperity of the country. We never were so well off as we are today. We never had so many happy homes. We never had such high credit, such good money, so much business as we have in the United States in the year 1901, and it is our business—your husiness, for the public official is but the agent of the people-it is your business as well as mine to see to it that an industrial policy sense the instrument in the hands of the people to bring together the North and the South it is the highest distinction that I could covet. (Applause.) I am glad to see the boys in gray uniting in giving the reception. Once foes, now friends forever. Once with hostile arms in their hands, now with affection in their hearts. One for another, and both united in love and loysity for the fiag and for the land we love. we.
"We are not a military people; we are obt dedicated to arms. We love peace, and ure to present to you the Secretary of State, John Hay."

federate veterans fought for the honor of grasping the Precident's hand. As the President was about to begin his remarks there were cries of "Put the flags down!" referring to the flags held by children who were near the car, at which the President exclaimed: "Never lower that flag!" When the cheering had subsided, he naid: "My fellow citizens: I cannot find words in which to express the feelings of my heart for this more than kindly welcome on the part of the people of this city, in all our traveling through the South we have been showered with kind-
