Bits for Breakfast

meeting of the ways and means committee of the 1933 legislature—resulting in a decision without a dissenting voice to recommend the adoption of the program as outlined.

Copies of this report were in the hands of all members of both houses, and it was adopted without opposition. It thus became the "10 year or more program" of Oregon for the handling of the custodial institutions of this state.

Further, the legislature passed a joint resolution for a continuing new committee of 12 members to assist in the work of having the program carried out; six of its members being named in the resolution, and six to be appointed by the governor. No doubt the committee will soon be completed, and organized. It will find much to do, and perhaps its findings will result in a continuance of the direction and study, by the 1935 legislature, in some form or other.

The picture is too large for presentation in full in this series, which will be closed after a couple of more issues, or three at the most, in which something will be said about the upstanding work of Oregon in the vital field of sterilization of incompetents, in order to dam up the stream at its source of the multiplication of the race of potential insane persons, criminals, paupers, imbeciles and derelicts generally.

Enough importance attaches right now to the report of the sub-committee on state hospitals to justify copying it in full, which will be done in the next issue.

Ella St. Pierre is Enjoying Visit to Oriental Countries

KINGWOOD, Aug. 5—Mr. and Mrs. A. Fin, Mrs. E. W. St. Pierre, Mabel St. Pierre and David Bevier have returned from a delightful outing at Taft and other coast resorts. Both at the ocean and in mountain streams on the homeward road they experienced good luck as anglers.

Mrs. St. Pierre hears from her daughter, Miss Ella St. Pierre who is spending tho summer in Japan and China, where among other enjoyable experiences, she is visiting a Chinese friend, Miss Fou Hai Wong. Miss Wong spent last summer at the St. Pierre home here. Miss St. Pierre is accompanied on her trip to the Orient by Miss Myrtle King. Both young women have been teachers for several years in the government schools on the island of Oahu, Hawaiian Islands.

WHEAT VEERS UP EARLY AND LATE

BUTTER IS UNUSUALLY LIBERAL

Changes in Values not Suggested; Beef Carried Over

PORTLAND, Aug. 5.—(AP) ⅝ Weakness in the butter market continued generally through the local trade, although there was no change suggested in week end values. Even the produce exchange bear leaders were unable to force further reduction in cubes for the week end session.

Make of butter was seasonably liberal in practically every section of the country. Output of churners along the coast has been surprisingly liberal and at a time when there is usually a big decrease in operations.

One of the reasons for the local surplus appeared the uncovering of the flooded low lands which were now sending about twice the volume of butterfat to market as a week or 10 days ago.

Trading in the egg market continued of easy character but without price change suggested by leading distributors. A greater per cent of the sales consisted of short held storage.

Market for chickens was holding firm at the week end. There was no further change in the price list. All sorts were in favor. Springer stuff was generally selling as such instead of stags which a few buyers were classing them.

At the week end quite a fair stock of country killed beef was carried over for the coming week owing to the continued heavy offerings, the very low price and inability of the trade to keep cleaned.

Market for country killed hogs, lambs and veal shows a rather firm tone at the week end and especially as regards top quality. Quality lambs were being sought.

Berry prices showed a generally firm market for the week end with decreasing supplies. Raspberries, strawberries and Youngberries at least touched the $2 mark. Even logans were more active.

No Large Holdings are Being Pressed for Sale, Evidenced

CHICAGO, Aug. 5, — (AP) — Veering upward late as well as early, wheat prices gave striking evidence today that no large holdings were being pressed for sale.

Especially at the last, buyers of wheat were in a majority, and appeared to be acting on belief that purchases were in order whenever price setbacks occurred. Rapidly shifting fluctuatione that took place resulted from lack of broad speculative interest, but at no time did prices of any grain threaten to drop to fixed minimum limits.

Wheat closed unsettled at almost the day's top figures, ⅝-⅞ above yesterday's finish, corn, ⅞-1⅜ up, oats ⅜-⅝ advanced.

Today's closing quotations:

Wheat — September 93⅜-⅝; December 1.01⅜-½; May 1.05⅝-¾.

Corn — September 55⅝-½; December 50⅝-½; May 64⅞.

Oats — September 40¼; December 43; May 46⅝.
