Teachers Say New Tax Plan Required

chairman, J. T. Longfellow of Oregon City, branded the present district system as "the greatest single extravagance in Oregon educational organization."

Small Districts Are Deemed Extravagance

The report said: "The 2200 separate and almost independent school districts in the state, with overlapping and duplicating functions and staffs; with small schools maintained for few pupils, with 2200 separate business managements and purchasing agencies; all of these mean unnecessarily high costs with no corresponding educational return. The only solution for this problem is larger units of administration and greater state support."

Walter W. Redford, president of Southern Oregon Normal school, won by one vote over Fred D. Wolf, Salem high school principal, in the balloting for a member of the board of trustees to represent the state at large.

Lane Studies Tax System in Marion taxes added to a larger percentage of 1935 collections than has prevailed in five years, accounts for the larger aggregate this year.

Burk said comparisons with collections received in other counties, made at the recent sheriff's convention, convinced him Marion county's receipts from taxes this year were as high or higher than any other county in the state.

Attach Liens Now

Attaching of personal property tax liens to real property began yesterday at the sheriff's office. This is required by statute in instances where personal property taxes are not paid by the past due date.

L. E. Neet, deputy collector, is making plans to get tax statements out as early as possible in 1936. This year statements were sent all taxpayers and are said to have expedited tax payments materially.

Koser Funeral Is Scheduled Sunday

ges were to be brought against the driver of the car, Rene Fritz, also of Dallas. Fritz told the investigating officer he was driving at between 40 and 50 miles per hour when his car left the road on a curve and overturned in a ditch. Koser, he said, spoke a few words after the crash but died before he could be extricated from beneath the wreckage. Fritz, who suffered minor injuries, and Koser's body were brought to Salem Deaconess hospital by William DeGeer, 303 South Winter street, who happened along about 20 minutes after the accident occurred.

Koser Holder of Heroism Certificate

Young Koser was the holder of a Boy Scout certificate of heroism for saving Carl Bartz from drowning in the Dallas swimming pool in 1929. He received the award at a court of honor at which Judge O. P. Coshow, then of the state supreme court, presided.

Koser was born at Rickreall October 30, 1912. He was a graduate of Dallas high school, class of 1931, and attended one year at Oregon State college. An aviation enthusiast, he had taken flying lessons at the Salem airport and last Tuesday had purchased an airplane of his own.

Surviving are the mother, Mrs. F. A. Koser; an aunt, Mrs. Marty McKee of Perrydale, and an uncle, John Koser, of Amity.

Direct Relief To Be Much Reduced

heretofore obtained by needy people.

For the past two months, relief moneys have come from a balance saved by the state relief committee, before the federal government cut off its funds.

Hewlett said the "master" WPA project of road construction on three large districts in the county, was employing hundreds of men in the county. Transportation and tools are being furnished by the county. WPA pays all the payrolls with the exception of the salaries of a few foremen.

Next month the county also faces the problem of providing for old-age dependents here. It has a small residue from its 1935 appropriation for old-age pensions which can probably be used for the pension checks next week since these are December payments. All the appropriation in the 1936 budget for the county, set up for old-age pensions, was diverted by the special session of the legislature to relief purposes. Pensions have been totalling $4500 a month here.

Riots and Slaying In Orient Serious

worried officials of the Chinese republic sought to check a growing Sino-Japanese tension.

An armored train bearing 500 soldiers was dispatched to prevent students from Shanghai, traveling toward Nanking in a commandeered train, from reaching the capital.

Serious effects resulting from the assassination Christmas day of Tang Yu-Jen, pro-Japanese vice minister of Chinese railways, were predicted by Maj. Gen. Rensuke Isogai, military attache here of the Japanese embassy.

He said the slaying was a result of Tang's efforts to "normalize" relations between China and Japan.

Fleet Is Requisitioned For Next Rose Festival

PORTLAND, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Oregonian's Washington correspondent said tonight Senator Charles McNary had informed Secretary of the Navy Swanson that Portland wants 29 ships, one airplane carrier and a squadron of destroyers and submarines June 8, 1936, for the Rose Festival. Secretary Swanson referred Senator McNary to the bureau of naval operations.

Bruno Huhn Dies

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Bruno Huhn, secretary of the German Aid society here for the past seven years, died today from a heart attack. Huhn, who was widely known for his translations of German literature, was 66 years old.

Oil Sanctions May Be Ordered Soon

Eden, the new British foreign secretary, persuades the League of Nations to impose oil sanctions on Italy.

Warfare in Africa went on.

One Italian Plane Is Brought Down

One of Italy's fleet scouting planes was shot down and its pilot beheaded, the Ethiopian government announced.

The plane was reconnoitering with another over Daggah Bur, on the southern front. The pilot was not immediately identified.

It was the Bosing day holiday here and the foreign office was deserted, but many thousands of British soldiers, sailors and airmen kept a sharp vigil along the "empire route" through Egypt.

Italy pushed on with its Ethiopian campaign, while Rome expectantly awaited the next move on sanctions by Anthony Eden, Britain's new and young foreign secretary.

Premier Laval of France was threatened with a possible overthrow when the chamber of deputies debates on foreign policy tomorrow. He was co-author of the Anglo-French peace plan, now dead, which forced the resignation of Sir Samuel Hoare as Britain's foreign secretary because of widespread resentment to it.

street. Tentative selections of laborers for the Leslie construction already have been made from the agency's files. The contractors, Robertson, Hay and Wallace have previously announced that with the possible exception of a foreman or two, all employes will be local residents, as are subcontractors.

Under the revised plans, the gymnasium and auditorium additions to the Leslie plant are estimated to cost $179,000.

Minier said nothing had been heard from the PWA as to when construction could be started on the senior high building. Bids will be opened at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning on the grade project.

Two Women Hurt In Highway Crash

Two women were brought to Salem Deaconess hospital shortly before 1 o'clock this morning for treatment of lacerations they received in an automobile accident on the Pacific highway a short distance north of Salem. One, a Mrs. Stewart, suffered severe lacerations about the face. Condition of the other, a Mrs. Cox, was not believed to be serious.

William George, Eugene, reported to police he had stopped his car at the side of the road to recover a hat that had blown out of it when his machine was struck from the rear by the auto in which the two women were riding. Names of two men thought to have been in the latter car were not obtained. The car bore a Kansas license.

Fire Loss Heavy

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Henry Gregerson Mercantile establishment at Battleground last night. Loss was variously estimated from $20,000 to $25,000.

Sons Are Beaten By Webfoot Five

KLAMATH FALLS, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The University of Oregon basketball team defeated the Southern Normal 44 to 33 here tonight. The Eugene quintet got off to a slow start and was ahead but 18 to 17 at half-time, but pulled away rapidly in the final period.

The Eugene team connected regularly from the foul line to keep in the running the first half and did not take a decisive lead until the Sons had tied the score at 18-all shortly after the last frame began.

Howell and Patterson led Oregon scorers with 14 and eight points respectively. Walton for the Sons also tallied 14 and his teammate, Hardy, counted for 11.

The university team is scheduled to leave here tomorrow for a series of games in the San Francisco area.

said what he conceives to be the church already is united, in his opinion, by "the common faith in a common savior."

The Rev. George La Pla Smyth, of New York, a member of the committee, said the unity movement began many years ago in England and includes "members of the Roman church, Anglicans and others who deplore disunity," in religion.

Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said that an "Anglo-Catholic" group of Protestant Episcopalians had long sought to unify American Protestant and Catholic churches, but was "too small numerically" to achieve such an end.

signatures may be taken, has not yet been determined by the committee.

There will probably be no decision reached on the matter until after a conference with R. H. McDrew, of California, market crop specialist, with the AAA, who is expected to be in Salem today. McDrew has been in conference with the California hop growers and expects to attend a meeting of the Washington growers on December 30.

Meanwhile the market flurry of the first of the week, which produced one of the largest single sales in the history of hop buying, seemed to have died yesterday. No sales were reported and little interest was shown by eastern buyers in the Oregon crop.
