Work to Begin On High School

PWA Permission Comes; Excavation Will Be Under Way Monday

Approximately 12 fir and 12 oak trees have been left standing on the new school grounds there.

The grade project contractors, Drake, Wyman & Voss, have set up a truck incline to a concrete hatch tower on that site to serve both the grade and the blind school dormitory jobs, for which this firm holds the contracts. PWA permission to start construction of the grade school has not yet been granted.

A crew of 21 WPA laborers was still at work on the senior high school site yesterday removing fencing and changing the line of a storm sewer to remove it from the ground on which the building will stand.

Leslie school pupils studied through a din of power saws and air hammers. Workmen were tearing out the present west entrance concrete steps after removing the face brick from the wall against which the west addition will be erected. First concrete will be poured in the footings for the new east wing Monday.

Lie Detector For Bruno Is Favored

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman gave his support today to a proposed lie detector test for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, but expressed doubt it could be made without the approval of Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, the trial judge.

The possibilities of the test were explained to the governor by Dr. William Moulton Marston of New York City, one of the originators, who said it was "highly probable" a confession could be obtained from Hauptmann, if guilty. Dr. Marston said the test detects deception by "blood pressure symptoms."

Consent of state and defense attorneys would be necessary to submit Hauptmann to the test, which he has offered to take.

urged her to give up her vigil near the shaft house. "Maybe he come out."

Leaves Son When She Goes Away

Only for short intervals has she left the shaft during the past 80 hours. When she does leave her place is taken by her son, Ernest, 12, and his dog, Shep.

Davis' body was found one and one-half miles from an air shaft which he might have reached easily had not after-damp followed the explosion.

"He was not hurt by the explosion," said John Neish, night boss at the mine and leader of the rescue party.

Officials of the government said they believed the engagement took place west of Makale. "Important positions were occupied by the Ethiopians, and many cannon captured," asserted the communique.

Processing Tax Puzzle

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—(AP)—One of the most complex legal tangles on record was foreseen in legal circles today as a result of the supreme court's order for return of $200,000,000 in impounded AAA processing taxes. As explained in legal quarters, the issue is what is to be done with the money returned as well as to whom it shall be returned.

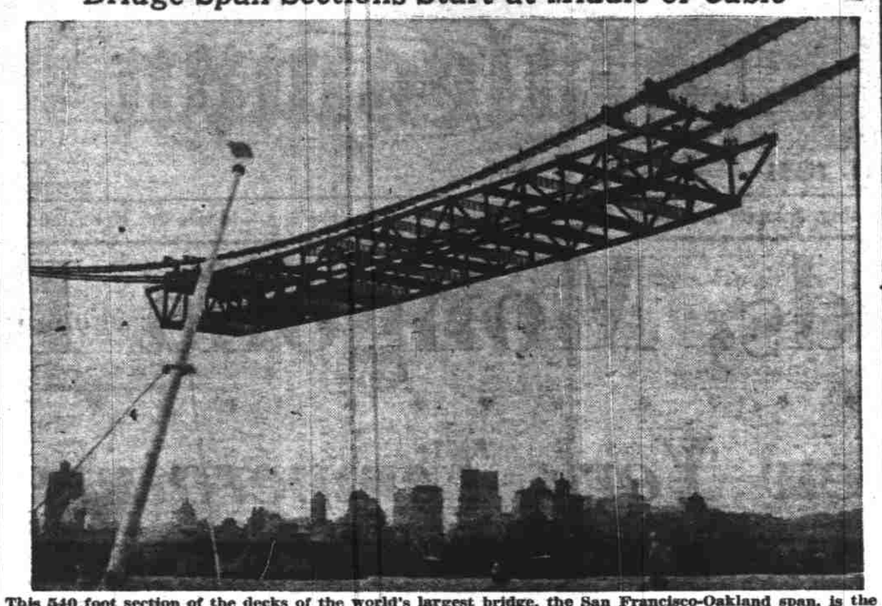
Bridge Span Sections Start at Middle of Cable



This 540 foot section of the decks of the world's largest bridge, the San Francisco-Oakland span, is the first such undertaking to be attempted from the middle of the suspension cables. Heretofore decking has always been started from the cable termini at the piers. In this instance the engineers are working back to the piers from the middle. Slack lines of holding ropes keep sections in place.—International Illustrated News photo.

Jury Is Selected To Try Van Vlack

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Attorney General Bert H. Miller asked a jury late today to send Douglas Van Vlack to the gallows by finding the Tacoman guilty of murdering his pretty ex-wife, Mildred Hook, near here last November 26. He is also accused of shooting two officers.

The plea for conviction, with a recommendation of the death penalty, followed swiftly selection of a jury to try the 31-year-old man.

Completion of the jury and selection of two alternates—a four-day task—opened the way for the state to begin its case and similarly gave the defense an opportunity to enter a plea of insanity for Van Vlack. The regular panel of jurors includes eight farmers and four artisans, all of who mare married. The alternates are both single.

Following Miller's statement Leo Teats of Tacoma, who with E. V. Larson of Twin Falls, is representing Van Vlack, asked for an adjournment until morning "on the grounds that I shall be able to save time in making my statement if allowed to form a more condensed presentation of my side of the case."

Patterson Found Guilty 4th Time

DECATUR, Ala., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Heywood Patterson, first of the nine Negro defendants in the Scottsboro case to face retrial, was convicted today and sentenced to 75 years imprisonment.

Accused of attacking Mrs. Victoria Prince, a white woman, aboard a freight train approximately five years ago, Patterson thrice had heard himself sentenced to death, but each time he won a new trial.

The jury that heard his case the fourth time deliberated eight hours, but the verdict was delayed while another panel was struck to try Clarence Norris, a second of the defendants, tomorrow on the same charge.

Mrs. Price, victim of the alleged attacks on March 25, 1932, said of the verdict: "I don't think it was enough punishment."

Temporary Cabinet to Honor King George Is French Leader's Hope

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(AP)—President Albert Lebrun tonight sought a "funeral cabinet" which would enable a foreign minister to go with him to London to represent France at the burial of King George.

Former Premier Albert Sarraut, a veteran of 19 cabinets, explored the possibilities of forming a transition government. Most political forecasters predicted he would fail.

Neutrality Plan Is In Final Form

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Standing pat for making the pending neutrality legislation apply to Italy and Ethiopia, the house foreign affairs committee virtually completed consideration of the program today while it dangled in deep dispute in a senate committee.

Coincidentally, the senate munitions committee seeking a psychological advantage that would aid it in resuming the questioning of J. P. Morgan, decided to let senate tempers cool over the week-end before broaching its request for $7,500 funds to wind up its ingestigation.

Senators Glass (D-Va.) and Connally (D-Tex.) hotly attacked the work of the committee after Chairman Nye (R-N.D.) accused President Wilson of "falsifying." Both asserted they would fight any request for new funds.

The house foreign affairs committee voted 12 to 8 against exempting present belligerents from the administration neutrality bill, which not only would embargo arms and munitions from warring nations, as in the present law, but give the president authority to curb shipments of other "materials of war."

Aeronautic Board Backs Airport Bonds Proposal

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Oregon state board of aeronautics went on record today favoring the proposed $300,000 bond issue essential if Portland is to obtain $1,300,000 in federal funds for the development of an airport here. The aeronautics board said present facilities will be inadequate soon and that a new airport must be built if Portland is to remain a main terminal in nation-wide air transportation.

Mrs. Power Better

Mrs. Frank Power, 253 North 13th street, was "a little stronger" last night, attendants at Salem General hospital reported. Her condition, due to injuries received when she was struck by an automobile last Saturday morning, continued, however, to be serious.

Plans Co-op Chain

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Plans for a league of cooperative department stores on a nationwide scale were announced tonight by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant-economist.

Polk Youths Held On Perjury Count

Complaints of perjury involving Leland D. Adams and Ralph Wait, both of Rickreall, Polk county, have been filed this week as the outgrowth of a marriage ceremony at Vancouver, Wash. Adams is alleged to have married Lauretta E. Staggs, 15, of Oregon City, on a joyride trip to Vancouver, there stating that her age was 18 years. Wait is accused to have sworn to the same statement.

State police arrested the young men this week and took them before Charles Gregory, justice of the peace at Dallas. He released each on $100 bail.

DeWitt Jones, deputy prosecuting attorney at Vancouver, is pressing charges against Adams and Wait, trying to break up what he asserts is a round of illegal marriages performed through the perjury of witnesses in obtaining licenses.

Most Farmers Desire Production Control of Some Sort, Reported

Most farmers reporting their views on the state AAA act, favor the continuation of some form of orderly production and marketing, the state agricultural department here is being advised as a result of inquiries it is making.

The 1935 special session, in passing a new state AAA act, directed the department to ascertain the sentiment of farmers toward the act. Prominent grangers and other agriculturists say they would like to have the new AAA act in Oregon tested in the courts here to ascertain if the unconstitutional points found in the original state law have been eliminated.

Janitors' Walkout Timed Just Right

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Some dozens of towering office and apartment buildings were transformed into frosty piles of granite without heat or elevator service.

A strike of elevator operators and furnace men crippled nearly 500 buildings in Manhattan, the Bronx and Harlem, according to estimates made tonight by the Building Service Employes' union. After a day of bitter cold, all but some 180 landlords had signed up with the union, it was asserted.

There was a wide divergence of opinion between the union and the realty interests, however, over the effectiveness of the strike, with the landlords giving various figures far under those set by the union.

In the office and loft buildings of the garment area on the west side, the cold played into the hands of the strikers as tennants complained bitterly over the unheated offices and the wearying job of climbing 12 to 20 stories.

No Word Received Of Missing Youth

LONGMIRE, Mt. Rainier National Park, Jan. 23.—(AP)—No word of the success of a rescue party searching the east side of Mt. Rainier for Delmar Fadden, 23, of Seattle, had been received here tonight.

The time set by four searching rangers for a short-wave radio contact with the park headquarters here passed with no sound from their set. The rangers' equipment was installed at the old White River camp, where Fadden was last seen January 12.

In radio conversations this morning, members of the party said they were setting out for Camp Curtis on Steamboat prow, one of the few spots in the district where they believed a man might have found shelter through the storms of the last 10 days. The hike on snowshoes or skis was expected to require an entire day.

Pinochle Game Is Spoiled by Blaze

Not until the flames short circuited the wiring and the lights went out did a group of pinochle players at the Graham residence, a small house on route six, two miles east of Salem on the asylum road, discover that the attic was on fire, they told city firemen who received a call for help at 7:55 o'clock last night.

Graham said that on seeing sparks coming from the ceiling, he attempted to douse the flames with a dishpan full of water only to be knocked down by electric shock resulting when the stream of water contacted live wires.

The fire was put out with a chemical extinguisher brought by Lloyd A. Lee, a neighbor, a few minutes after city firemen arrived. The loss was believed to be slight.

Sustained Timber Yield Plan for Grant Lands Eyed

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Delegates to the meeting of the Oregon and California land grant counties voted in favor of a plan calling for the retention of the lands by the department of the interior, classification of lands for usage and subsequent sustained yield operations. The Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association previously asked that the lands be taken over by the federal government and included in the national forest areas.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Christina Mucelli, secretary-treasurer of the Oregon Turkey Growers, Inc., said today the cooperative, including approximately 700 western Oregon turkey growers, received $203,309.50 for turkeys shipped to Thanksgiving and Christmas markets in 1935. Wright, in taking over his office as president of the Astoria chamber of commerce for 1936, declared that natural resources of the area and the fact that Astoria's tax situation has been cleared up paved the way for an outstanding year of progress and development. Wright has been prominent in American Legion activities throughout the state.

Deny Morgenthau Will Resign Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Rumors that Secretary Morgenthau might resign brought a White House denial today — but President Roosevelt's chief financial assistant declined to comment.

Mr. Morgenthau told his press conference he was devoting all his attention to problems looming before the treasury, which include the possibility that $11,500,000,000 in financing operations will be required in the next 17 months.

While Morgenthau was publicly silent on reports he would step out, his friends said emphatically he had no intention of doing so—at least in the near future.

Stephen T. Early, the president's press secretary, branded the latest report — that Morgenthau would be replaced by Jesse H. Jones, reconstruction corporation chairman—"ill-founded."

Hamilton Fish Is Hissed by Crowd

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP)—Rep. Hamilton Fish whose strong defensive speeches have brought ovations from many a D.A.R. congress was hissed tonight by cause and cure of war convention delegates.

"There will be war despite what we do," Fish was saying when a hiss from his peace advocate hearers became so loud and insistent he stopped. Then he raised his voice.

"I will go further and say there will be war for thousands of years—until you and I become angels!" Fish shouted at the top of his voice. More hisses.

Lady Astor and Carrie Chapman Catt, peace crusaders of England and the United States, today discussed over trans-Atlantic telephone the threat of another European war.

The 750 delegates listened in.

Own Song Played As Kipling Buried

LONDON, Jan. 23—(AP)—The majestic strains of Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional" struck the only note of pomp and splendor when the ashes of the great poet were laid among Britain's immortal writers today in the poet's corner of Westminster Abbey.

A marble urn containing his ashes was lowered into a small purple-lined cavity between the graves of Charles Dickens and Thomas Hardy.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, a cousin of the poet, and a host of celebrities, including representatives of King Edward and the Duke of York, stood behind the weeping Mrs. Kipling during the services.

Kipling was the third person in this century to be buried in the poet's corner. The others were Thomas Hardy and Sir Henry Irving.

48 Little AAA's Farm Bill's Basis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—New taxes to finance continued federal payments to farmers were definitely projected today as a fresh congressional storm sent the administration's AAA substitute bill to drydock for repairs.

Sharply conflicting reports over what happened at a secret meeting of Secretary Wallace with a senate agriculture sub-committee left in doubt the extent to which the bill—introduced only yesterday—will be amended.

Everyone agreed, however, that there would be immediate changes, including one suggested by Wallace to provide that subsidies after two years would be granted only to states which cooperate in a permanent program not yet worked out, but based on the idea of "Little AA's" in the 48 states.
