Mrs. Dunbar to Be Feted at Garden Tea

THE attractive gardens of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Clements on North 14th street will be the scene of a silver tea next Wednesday afternoon when the Salem Woman's club will entertain for Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Portland who was recently nominated for the presidency of the National Federation of Women's clubs. Calling hours are from 3 to 6 o'clock.

All women of Salem are invited to meet Mrs. Dunbar and special invitations have been extended to members of the following clubs, in which Mrs. Dunbar is actively interested: Parent-Teachers' association, Daughters of the American Revolution, P.E.O. sisterhood, Social Workers, State Graduate Nurses' association, League of Women Voters, W.C.T.U. and Mental Hygiene association.

Mrs. David Wright will introduce to the line which will include Mrs. Dunbar, Mrs. H. J. Clements, Mrs. A. C. McIntyre, state presidents; Mrs. C. C. Geer, president of Salem club, and Mrs. William F. Fargo.

Mrs. George R. K. Moorhead heads the committee in charge of arrangements for the tea and assisting her are Mrs. E. E. Thomas, Mrs. David Bennett Hill, Mrs. Saul Janz, Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding and Mrs. John Minto.

Funds from the silver tea will go toward the Dunbar courtesy fund. The national presidency carries with it no salary and this will help toward reimbursing the president for expenses during her term of office.

Filet Centerpiece in Rose Design

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 396

When you want to cover a great deal of space in a short time, work a pattern in filet crochet. With such an attractive design as this available, you'll wish to begin immediately. Before you know it, you'll have a charming centerpiece finished. If you use No. 20 mercerized crochet cotton as we did, the finished piece will measure about 27 by 33 inches.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 396 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address The Oregon Statesman Needlework department, Salem, Ore.

"I can serve Howard any vegetable—so long as he thinks it's from his garden!"

That little garden plot has as many virtues for a man as a bed of flowers (printed on a dark silk ground) holds for a woman. Here a crushed girdle ends with an immense flower, like those in the print. Notice how the neckline is slashed to hold the beads? Left:—still another version of the light-colored contrast jacket over a simple dark dress. This time paired with a sailor of rough straw.—Copyright 1937, Esquire Features, Inc.

Summer Herbs Liven Meals With Color

SUMMER brings ambition to liven up menus and create new dishes, and fortunately provides the means to do those very things. Mint, parsley, watercress and other herbs found in even small city gardens do a great deal to make new foods from old favorites.

Finely chopped mint leaves added to your favorite dressing gives a spring touch and when served with lamb makes a delightful flavor combination. The cushion style shoulder is a good cut for this dressing. This is the square-cut lamb shoulder which is boned, making a cavity for the mint stuffing.

Pork chops and early spring greens make a good combination. The chops are browned and partially cooked before placing them on top of the cooked greens in a casserole dish. A white sauce may be poured over them if desired, and the casserole placed in the oven for a short time in order to finish cooking and season the greens with pork chops drippings.

Sliced green onions used as a seasoning for scalloped potatoes and pork chops makes a taste-tempter worth remembering. The small green onions add a mild flavor which is delicious.

The flavor of green onions added to ham puree gives it a distinctive flavor sure to be enjoyed. These are sliced into the soup a few minutes before serving.

Rhubarb sauce is a delightful change from apple sauce as an accompaniment for roast pork. It may be served either hot or cold, with the main course, but should be sweetened with discretion. The predominance of a tart flavor enhances the flavor of the meat and makes the combination ideal.

A rhubarb relish is good with any kind of meat. This is made by cooking sliced rhubarb with an equal quantity of vinegar, enough brown sugar to sweeten, and cinnamon and cloves to season. This mixture is allowed to simmer until thickened and served while hot as a relish for the meat.

Strawberries, Rhubarb in Pie Filling

Here is a recipe for pie that combines rhubarb and strawberries to make an excellent dessert.

RHUBARB STRAWBERRY MERINGUE PIE

2 cups diced rhubarb
2 cups strawberries
½ cup hot water
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
½ inch slice of orange with rind
4 tablespoons tapioca

Simmer rhubarb, sugar, water and salt for 10 minutes, add orange and tapioca and cook in double boiler for 5 minutes or until tapioca is clear, stir frequently. Remove orange and add berries whole or sliced. Pour into baked crust, top with a meringue and brown lightly in a moderate oven.

Today's Menu

Pineapple and strawberries seasoned with mint make the salad that begins this meal.

Chinese Chews Favored Among Recipes

Professional cooks or cooking experts often have favorite recipes that are practical for home cooks to use, here is one, a sweet.

CHINESE CHEWS

¾ cup butter
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1½ cups general purpose flour
3 eggs
2¼ cups brown sugar
¾ cup cocoanut
1 cup nut meats (chopped)
Confectioners' sugar.

Cream butter, add granulated sugar and beat well. Blend in flour to form a smooth dough. Pat out in greased square or oblong pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) approximately 15 minutes.

Meantime, separate eggs and beat egg yolks until thick. Gradually add brown sugar, beating constantly. Add cocoanut and nut meats. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread over baked mixture and return to moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for approximately 25 minutes. While hot, cut in squares and dust with confectioners' sugar.—Cora K. Kusner, chief dietitian, Colorado state hospital, Pueblo, Colo.
