Tourist Business At All-Time Peak

August Figures Are Under July Total but Over '36, Announced

Oregon's tourist business, as measured by non-resident motor vehicle registrations for the first eight months of 1937, has reached an all-time peak, Secretary of State Earl Snell reported this weekend.

Although August registrations, aggregating 31,252, were somewhat under the July figure of 31,847, they exceeded August, 1936, the previous all-time high. The eight months cumulative total for this year was 116,129 as compared to 104,839 for the first eight months of 1936, a gain of 11,290.

Last Year Highest

There were 139,853 non-resident registrations during the entire year of 1936, an all-time record by a wide margin.

Snell estimated that $35,000,000 was expended by visitors in Oregon during 1936.

California, with 16,866 registrations for August and 60,896 for the first eight months of 1937, contributed the greatest number of visitors. There were 5841 Washington cars registered during August and 17,411 for the eight months period.

Virtually every state in the union, together with a large number of foreign countries, were represented in the registrations.

Rulings in Berry Case Filed Here

Judge Arlie Walker of McMinnville yesterday filed formal judgment and findings of fact in the case of the Woodburn Berry Growers association against Ray Maling, Inc., in which the growers were allowed judgment for $6274.90.

The judges' findings had previously been stated in letters to the attorneys involved in the case.

With action arising over a loganberry deal on the 1934 crop of the association the court found that the association delivered 939,921 pounds of berries for which it was paid $88,911.04. Prime cost was fixed by the court at $60,279.67; overhead at $8009.05 and shipping and selling at $14,347.42, figures which left a net return of $6274.90, the amount which the court ruled the canning company was in default.

A second cause of action, in which the association claimed damages on the basis that the cannery refused to receive certain berries picked, was overruled by the court on the grounds that the plaintiff had not shown by preponderance of evidence that the cannery had refused to accept the berries.

Jungle Denizens Must "Clean up"

Five "denizens of the jungle" who were rounded up when city police raided their quarters along the Willamette river, will be put to work today cleaning up the district, police announced last night. A number of others found in the "settlement" availed themselves of the opportunity to leave town.

One of the shacks inhabited by the men was set afire and two others were dumped into the river.

Police said this "jungle" was the habitat of habitual drunks, in contrast to one on the east side of town where men of more orderly habits made one-night stands.
