IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON.

Thursday, September 19, Set Aside as a Day of Mourning and Prayer—An Address to All Citizens.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 16.—Governor John R. Rogers has issued the following proclamation, setting aside Thursday, September 19, the day of President McKinley's funeral, as a day of mourning and prayer:

"State of Washington, Executive Department, Olympia.

"William McKinley, 25th President of the United States, has been slain by an assassin. Kind, lovable, correct in deportment, an honorable man in all the relations of life—and for these reasons to be mourned—the assault made upon him was chiefly directed and delivered, not against McKinley the man, but against the President as representing constituted authority. It was intended as a blow at any and every form of government administered among men, and for this reason, among others, becomes a matter of intense and personal interest to every true American and lover of his country.

"Our form of government stands in no danger. It is enshrined in the hearts of our countrymen, and will by them be unfalteringly protected and preserved. Our people have now a solemn duty to perform. On Thursday, September 19, the day of President McKinley's funeral, let all good citizens gather in public assemblages, in their respective towns, and testify by their presence and assistance their sympathy for the living, their sorrow for the dead. Upon this day it is advised and requested that all, refraining from their usual vocations, devote the day to memorial and patriotic services and a reconsecration of themselves and their children to the duties incumbent upon them all in the preservation and perpetuation of our present democratic form of government.

"In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state to be hereunto affixed.

"Done at Olympia, this 16th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and one, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-sixth.

"JOHN R. ROGERS, Governor.
"SAMUEL H. NICHOLS,
"Secretary of State."

ADOPTED RESOLUTIONS.

Condemning Anarchists and Advising Their Eradication.

DALLAS, Or., Sept. 16.—Last night union memorial services were held at Dallas in honor of the late President. The Methodist Episcopal Church was packed with people to the doors. The Rev. Mr. Goodfriend, of the Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon. The decorations consisted of American flags in profusion surrounding the portrait of the dead President, wreathed in ivy. Profound sorrow was manifested. A motion was carried that memorial services be held on Thursday, in compliance with President Roosevelt's and Governor Geer's proclamations. The following resolutions were read by Professor Metzker, of Dallas College, and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, our beloved President William McKinley has been removed from the circles of home, kindred and friendship, and from the highest place of honor, authority and trust within the gift of this great Nation; and this by the cruel hand of an assassin from the ranks of anarchy; therefore, we, the citizens of Dallas, Or., do adopt the following resolutions:

"First—We sincerely sympathize with the bereaved family and friends of the late President, commending to them and to the sorrow-stricken people of our Nation the resignation of his dying words: 'It is God's way; his will be done.'

Second—We deplore the fact that within the brief period of an average lifetime, three of our Presidents have become martyrs, and since anarchists have had their full share in this dark record, we believe our Nation fully justified in adopting radical measures for the complete suppression of this sect.

"Third—We earnestly pray that the God of Nations may guide those to whose hands are committed unexpectedly the affairs of this Government."

PROMINENT MEN WILL SPEAK.

All Clackamas County Will Take Part in the Exercises.

OREGON CITY, Sept. 16.—Arrangements are in making for memorial services Thursday. The whole county will participate in the exercises. The programme committee, consisting of Superintendent J. C. Zinser, Mayor G. B. Dimick and the Rev. A. J. Montgomery, are preparing a programme. The services will be held in the Courthouse at 2 P. M. All the ministers of the city have been invited to take part, and among the prominent persons who will make addresses are: Representative Gilbert L. Hedges, State Senators Brownell and Porter, Judge Galloway, Hon. H. E. Cross, Colonel Robert A. Miller, the Hon. C. B. Moores, Representative A. S. Dresser, Attorneys W. S. U'Ren, Charles H. Dye and the Hon. Gordon E. Hayes, County Judge T. F. Ryan will preside. Miss Imogen Harding, Mrs. L. L. Porter and Mr. George T. Howard have charge of the musical programme.

SERVICES AT OLYMPIA.

Exercises Will Be Formal—State Officers Will Take Part.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 16.—The McKinley memorial services to be held in this city Thursday will be elaborate and formal, from the fact that Olympia is the capital of the state and that the Governor, members of the Supreme Court and other state officials will take part in the exercises. At a meeting of the citizens' committee held yesterday afternoon various committees were appointed to arrange the programme. In a general way there will be services in all the churches of the city at 10:30 in the forenoon, and the public exercises will be held in the open air, weather permitting, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, from the main entrance of the Capitol. Bishop Mallalieu, who will be in the city to preside over the Puget Sound Conference at that time, will probably be one of the principal speakers. He is a dignitary in the church to which President McKinley belonged during his lifetime.

MOODY WILL NOT GO.

Notice of Funeral Arrangements Reached Him Too Late.

THE DALLES, Or., Sept. 16.—Had Representative Moody known that plans for President McKinley's funeral would permit him reach Washington or Canton in season, he would have attended the ceremonies in both cities. He received no official notice, and announcement through the press of the arrangements came too late. It is a matter of deep regret to Mr. Moody that he can not pay this last tribute to the late President, for whom he held the greatest veneration. He regrets all the more since the journey could have been made had information been obtainable here Saturday morning.

Mourning at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 16.—Many of the business houses of Vancouver are draped in mourning, and the National colors are displayed at half-mast from public buildings, and in the Barracks, for the dead President. Yesterday touching references to the life and death of the President and expressions of sympathy with the widow were made from all the pulpits in the city. Last evening special memorial service was held at Post Hall, Vancouver Barracks, by Chaplain C. C. Bateman, who spoke from the text, "And the King said unto his servants, Know ye not that there is a Prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?" II Samuel iii:38. After reviewing the early life of the dead President and calling attention to many of his admirable characteristics, Chaplain Bateman said: "William McKinley was born in the home of patriotism,and ripened in an atmosphere imbued with devoiion to American institutions. He was a soldier, ready and willing to do or die for his country. His profound confidence in human nature led him naturally to trust all men everywhere. His life was a living epistle, known and read of all men. The blow that struck him down was a blow aimed at the free institutions of our country, and will be resented as such. Presidents succeed each other, but lives such as that of William McKinley are none too common, and the world cannot part with them without irreparable loss. Assaults upon the President of the United States should be regarded as capital offenses and be punished as such."

A mass meeting was held at the Standard Theater tonight, in response to a call issued by Mayor Johnson, to make arrangements for suitable memorial services next Thursday.

Services at Newberg.

NEWBERG, Or., Sept. 16.—Under the auspices of the Ministerial Asgociation of Newberg, union memorial services in honor of the martyred President were held in the Friends' Church here yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The interior of the church was decorated with the National colors, draped in mourning. A portrait of the martyred President, draped in black, hung in the folds of a large flag over the rostrum. A little after 10:30 o'clock when the city fire bell began to toll, the members of the G. A. R. marched in a body to the church. A large audience was present. The memorial address was delivered by President H. E. McGrew. The address was a study of the strong points in the character of the fallen chief, and was a masterpiece in oratory.

Exercises on the Fair Grounds.

ASHLAND, Or., Sept. 16.—Arrangements have been made for public memorial exercises in Chautauqua Grove, Thursday, the day of the funeral of President McKinley. The fair of the Southern Oregon Agricultural Society will close on that day, and the grounds will be used for the exercises. A special musical programme befitting the solemn occasion is arranging, and the Hno. B. B. Beekman, of Portland, will deliver the panegyric of the martyred President. Special preparations are making for a large attendance.

ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 16.—In accordance with an order issued by the War Department, the firing of salutes was begun at Fort Stevens today out of respect to the memory of the late President McKinley. ARE NOT OBLIGED BY LAW

PUBLISHERS DO NOT HAVE TO EXCHANGE ALL BOOKS.

Such Texts Are Those Which Have Been Used in the Past Two Years Without Legal Sanction.

SALEM, Sept. 16.—To those who have observed public school affairs in this state for the last two years, it will readily appear that some disagreeable questions may arise upon the exchange of text-books. After the Daly text-book law was enacted in 1899, it was averred that the old text-book contracts were rendered null and void. Publishers who then held contracts, and perhaps some who did not, secured the introduction of books other than the state adoption wherever possible. Aside from the desire to sell books, there was the hope of securing an advantage when the new selection should be made. Publishers used their influences with public school principals to secure the introduction of their books in the place of the books adopted in 1895 under the state law. The question may now arise whether these books introduced without authority of law can be exchanged for books recently adopted.

The text-book law requires the publishers to take in exchange books which are in use or held for use in the public schools, and which have been heretofore adopted. As the books introduced solely upon the authority of some school principal do not come within the requirements of the law, it will seem that publishers of the new books cannot be compelled to take them in exchange.

However, the publishers who secured contracts under the Daly law have been quite liberal in their rules regarding exchanges, and they may take up these extra series of books, even though they could not be compelled to do so according to law. If any patrons of the public schools who have been induced to buy books not legally adopted should have trouble in effecting exchanges, they will have no one to blame but themselves and the principals who brought about the introduction of the books unlawfully.

The Daly law does not require the books to be introduced in the public schools until 15 months after the adoption in July last. However, as the exchange and introductory prices can not be taken advantage of after December 31 of this year, the new books will be introduced in all the schools at the opening of the present school terms.

From reports received at Salem, it is believed that supplies of new text-books have reached nearly every city, town and village in the state. A few small communities in remote sections complain that the supply is short, but this is probably due to the failure of local dealers to order a sufficient number of books. Dealers who do but a small business in text-books are likely to underestimate the quantity they will need for the first introduction, and therefore order too small a number. Of course, the distributing agents must be guided almost entirely by the estimates of the local dealers. Complaints, however, have been few.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Ackerman says that from information which reaches him, he knows that the publishers of the newly-adopted books have put forth every effort to distribute books to each city and town designated by their contracts, and to other places where supplies will be needed. The time for distribution is so limited that it could not be expected that all places would be provided for. The books were not adopted until nearly the middle of July, and after that the contracts were to be made and the books shipped out from the East. Considering the difficulties that must be met, the exchange has been provided for in a very satisfactory manner.

BUSINESS WILL SUSPEND.

Citizens Will Do Honor to the Memory of the Late President.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 16.—Mayor Bishop today issued the following proclamation regarding the observance of Thursday, September 19, in memory of President McKinley:

"In conformity with the proclamations of the President of the United States and of the Governor of the State of Oregon, decreeing that Thursday, September 19, 1901, be set apart and observed by the people of this Nation as a day of mourning and for memorial services in honor of our late martyred President, William McKinley, I, as Mayor of the City of Salem, do most urgently request that all business in this city be suspended on said day between the hours of 10:30 o'clock A. M. and 1 o'clock P. M., and that the people of this city do employ said day in such expressions and tributes of honor for the distinguished dead as to them shall seem proper. C. P. BISHOP, Mayor."

The Salem Ministerial Association will take charge of the exercises. They will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal Church. At St. Joseph's Catholic Church memorial services will be held at 10:30 A. M. The services will consist of high mass, with a sermon by the Rev. W. A. Daly, followed by the litany of the holy name of Jesus, asking a benediction upon the Nation.

HE WAS AN ANARCHIST.

When He Rejoiced in the National Calamity He Got a Drubbing.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., Sept. 16.—Patriotism was at a fever heat at the C. H. Fitchard hopyard, only two miles north of this city Saturday evening. One of the pickers who admitted himself an anarchist, began to preach his doctrine to the pickers, and rejoiced at the probable death of the late President. A number of the pickers decided that he had gone far enough, and immediately set upon him. But for the timely interference of less excitable pickers he would have fared very badly. As it was, several teeth were knocked out, and he was quite badly bruised up.

STRIKE AT SAN FRANCISCO.

No Teamsters Went to Work, and the Situation Is Unchanged.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—This was a quiet day in the strike district. More vessels than usual put to sea, and work on the docks progressed steadily. Manager Renner, of the Draymen's Association, said there was nothing new in the situation. He had heard of no teamsters returning to work, nor did he expect any to return until ample police protection was assured every man. Two assaults on nonunion men and one on a special officer were reported during the day.

Seventy-one ironworkers went to work today. Of that number 25 were added to the force at the Union Iron Works, and the remainder to the Risdon Iron Works. The men are largely from the East and embrace all lines of artisans, ranging from expert machinists to ordinary helpers.

Damaged by Fire.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 16.—The W. W. Martin residence, occupied by State Treasurer C. S. Moore, narrowly escaped destruction by fire this evening. The house is situated at Chemeketa and Twelfth streets, and is one of the best in the city. Fire caught in the attic, probably from a defective flue, and it was only by the prompt and determined efforts of the fire department that the building was saved. When the alarm was turned in smoke was pouring from the house in dense volumes. The department made a run of eight blocks, and, after heroic work, gained access to the rooms in which the fire burned. The damage to the building will be about $500. The house is valued at $20,000.

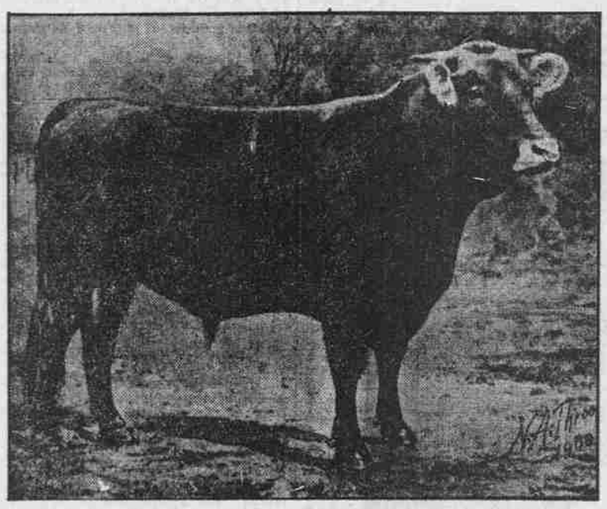
WOODBURN, Or., Sept. 16.—The citizens of Woodburn will hold a union memorial service at 2 o'clock P. M. Thursday, and all business houses will be closed. The exercises will be held in the O. N. G. Opera-House. Company D, Fourth Regiment, Oregon National Guard, and Stevens Post of the G. A. R. will participate. All ministers in the city will make addresses.

Theatrical Season Opened.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 16.—Cordray's Grand Opera-House in this city opened this evening for the coming season. "East Lynne" was the attraction, and it drew a good-sized house.

BROWN SWISS BULL



The above is a true type of the Brown Swiss cattle imported from the noted dairy districts of Switzerland. In Brown Swiss cattle we have a constitution to which a fair amount of flesh is normal, a contented but hearty disposition, an absence of worry, but a great capacity for making milk and butter fat. All we have to do is to work in accord with nature, and without sacrificing anything of profitableness for the dairy we have excellent beef. We have a strong and sturdy type of beauty, and especially that kind of beauty that shines from the reflection of coin and which exemplifies the proverb "Handsome is that handsome does." A herd of these cattle were lately imported to Oregon by F. A. French, who will have them on exhibition at the Oregon State Fair.

MILLER TELLS HIS STORY

GIVES TESTIMONY IN THE FERRIER MURDER TRIAL.

He Saw J. W. Ferrier Begin Shooting, but Not the Firing of the Shot Which Killed Holcomb.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Sept. 16.—In the Ferrier case this morning, Prosecuting Attorney David Stewart read the information charging Ferrier with the murder of B. E. Holcomb, and made his statement of the case to the jury. The first witness on the stand was W. W. Miller, one of the five men present when the shooting occurred. Miller's story was that on the morning of April 1, J. W. Ferrier and his brother, Sam Ferrier, came to his house and asked him to get R. H. Holcomb, a neighbor, to come out and settle a misunderstanding which had arisen. J. W. Ferrier was armed with a Winchester rifle. The three went to a common point near a barn belonging to Holcomb. Miller went to Holcomb's house and he returned with him. After a discussion of the troubles between the Holcombs and Ferrier, R. H. Holcomb and J. W. Ferrier shook hands and agreed that their misunderstanding had been settled. Immediately after the handshaking, B. E. Holcomb came upon the scene, armed with a rifle, which he sat down against a stump. Ferrier at the same time stepped back and cocked his own gun. He ordered B. E. Holcomb to leave, telling him that the trouble had been settled. R. H. Holcomb also told his brother that the trouble was over and advised him to go home. B. E. Holcomb started home, passing the witness, whose back was then to him. After a sufficient time for him to have gone probably 30 yards, J. W. Ferrier applied a vile name to him and told him to hurry up. At this, R. H. Holcomb remonstrated, and Ferrier drew up the gun without bringing it to his shoulder, and shot R. H. Holcomb in the right arm. The witness started to run as the shooting commenced, but fell. At the moment he fell, Ferrier fired a shot at him, but missed, and Miller escaped behind a building. He did not see the shot fired that killed B. E. Holcomb, but heard at least five shots. The direct examination of the witness occupied only about 20 minutes' time, and the cross-examination was then taken up and continued until 2 o'clock. R. H. Holcomb was then called to the witness stand, but was only examined a short time when the lawyers began an argument as to the admissibility of his statement concerning B. E. Holcomb. Argument continued the remainder of the afternoon.

The defense did not formally state its theory of the case, but it came out that it will attempt to prove that a conspiracy existed between the two Holcoms and Miller to kill Ferrier.

DEFY THE CITY.

Quaker "Doctors" Arrested Repeatedly, But Refuse to Give In.

NORTH YAKIMA, Sept. 16.—The controversy between the "Quaker" doctors and the city authorities progresses merrily. When the "doctors" came here they refused to pay the license of $25 a day for hawkers and peddlers. They offered $100 for a license for three months. Mayor Fechter refused to compromise. At their first appearance on the streets they were arrested. They went into the Federal Court next day and secured an order restraining the city from molesting them until today, when the matter will come up for argument. They returned and went to selling. They were promptly arrested then for running a show without a license. This was repeated at each performance, and each time the "doctors" were released by the Justice on bonds, and returned to business at the old stand. Last Friday they were arrested three times and taken into the Justice Court, charged with violating the state pharmacy law by selling medicines without a license. Saturday they were arrested on the same charge and taken before Superior Judge Rudkin. A large crowd had gathered at their stand in anticipation of the arrest. Something of a scene was created immediately after the serving of the warrants when their attorney jumped upon the platform, harangued the crowd upon the rights of man and the Constitution of the United States, and went on with the dispensation of Quaker remedies.

The "doctors" aver they have not had enough yet, but will carry the fight to the bitter end, and will then sue the Mayor for damages. The sentiment of the citizens seems to be with the Mayor.

AN AGED PIONEER.

Death of Jesse James Reed—He Was 90 Years Old.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 16.—Jesse James Reed died last Saturday, at the age of 90 years. He was born in Chester County, Pennsylvania, September 14, 1811. For 10 years "Uncle Jesse Reed" had been a familiar figure in Pendleton. He came West in 1832. The Western terminus of the railroad at that time was Columbia, Pa., about halfway between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. He went to California in 1849, and engaged in mining for three years, then went to Australia, and remained there six years. The father of "Uncle Jesse" was sent from England by King James, secreted in a hogshead, and lived in the vicinity of Philadelphia until he had attained the age of 106 years. The only amusement "Uncle Jesse" indulged in during the past few years was cribbage, in which game he was an expert. His death took place at the County Hospital. He was taken there several weeks ago for treatment, but died merely from the failing of his powers through old age. Mr. Reed was in the early days here a sheep man, and acquired money enough to keep him during the last years of his life, up to the very last few weeks. He was a steamboat captain on the Mississippi River many years ago, and drew a pension for service in the Mexican War. The funeral took place Sunday.

HAD LIVED LONG IN OREGON.

Robert Roberts, Well-Known on French Prairie.

WOODBURN, Or., Sept. 16.—Robert Roberts, who died at Butteville Saturday, was buried yesterday at the Gervais cemetery. His funeral was largely attended. He had resided in Oregon for nearly a quarter of a century. He was an intimate friend of Oregon's most noted living pioneer, the Hon. F. X. Matthieu. Mr. Roberts was born at St. Hilaire, Quebec, Canada, May 10, 1823, and died September 14, 1901, aged 79 years. He was married in Canada and came to Oregon in 1878. His wife and 12 children survive him: Lewis Roberts, Washington; Andrew Roberts, Placerville,Cal.; Joe, Alfred, Marcus and Frederick, Butteville, Or.; Mrs. Delwia Posier, Portland; Mrs. Melvena Taylor, Portland; Mrs. Marguerite Dennis, St. Hilaire, Canada; Miss Rose Roberts, Seattle; Miss Elsie Roberts, Butteville, and Mrs. Louisa Finzer, wife of Captain Edward W. Finzer, of Woodburn.

Mr. Roberts was a well-known figure on French Paririe for many years.

CASE OF MRS. BOTKIN.

Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus to Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The record of the case of Mrs. Cordelia Botkin, was filed today in the United States Supreme Court. She is under sentence of life imprisonment, at San Francisco, for the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning, in Delaware, three years ago, by sending to her a box of poisoned candy. The present proceeding originates in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, based upon the plea that her trial should have taken place in Delaware, where Mrs. Dunning died, and not in California. The petition was denied by the State Courts of California, and Mrs. Botkin brings the case to the Supreme Court on a writ of error.

LE ROI MINE WILL OPEN.

Company Will Employ Seven Hundred Men as Soon as It Can.

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 16.—The Le Roi mine announces that it will open during the coming week, and the company is advertising for 700 men, 400 miners at $3 50 per day and 300 men to push cars and shovel, at $2 50 per day. The five-compartment shaft of the mine is already down to a depth of 1150 feet and is under contract to be sunk to the 1500-foot level. The ore bodies are opened up by levels from the surface to the 900-foot level and the output of the mine when working will be 1000 tons daily. The new machinery now ready to run is of the most modern type and the most powerful in British Columbia. The other big mines in the camp are also preparing to start up immediately.

CLOTHING CAUGHT FIRE.

Girl in Hopyard Terribly Burned—She May Recover.

No External Symptoms.

The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement.

"We regard it a great tonic and blood purifier."—J. F. DUFF, Princeton, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new rich pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.
