DELIGHT OF EPICURES.—H. J. Goodell and Charles Proctor, San Francisco sportsmen, who have been enjoying pheasant shooting in the Willamette Valley since the season opened, were enter-tained by a few of their friends here at an oyster and game supper Monday evening, before leaving for home. They expressed themselves as highly delighted with the sport they found, and said that the pheasants and the Toke Point oysters were enough to make any one wish to have his home in Oregon. They complimented both the birds and the oysters very highly and said nothing to equal them could be produced in California. This is the line with the idea of H. C. Bowers, manager of the Portland Hotel, who says he considers Royal Anne cherries and Toke Point oysters the two most notable productions of this region at least they attract more attention from travelers than any other thing he has to offer them. He says if he could be allowed to supply game to his guests from abroad. would include the Chinese pheasants his list, but it makes him weary to think of all the pheasants, grouse and quall running wild in the state and he cannot furnish any to travelers at any price. He says the oysters are a vast improvement over the old-style little ones. They are just the right size, and for fatness and flavor he has never seen their equal. The pheasants will be in the market by and by—in a month from now and then everybody (who can get one)

First street is beginning to look up since the City & Suburban Rallway Company began operating electric cars on that thoroughfare. It is a long time since Joe and rugged mountains covered with foliage, having all the colors of the rain-bow, passing through the locks that cost Holliday's' bob-tail horse-car line with-$4,000,000 of Uncle Sam's money. Considerable has been done in the way of building improve-ments along the upper part of the street of late, and a nest row of two-story flats has been built at the corner of Harrison. If the dilapidated building at the southeast corner of First and Hall streets were fixed up so as to look reputable, it would make the street respectable at that point. Residents of Southern Portland are hoping to see the cars running further south before long.

Woman's Industrial Home. - The Woman's Industrial Home, at 3054 Third street, is endeavoring to assist unemployed women by keeping a bureau of information for women who want employment. They have at all times a list of desirable positions and aim to furnish only help that can be relied upon. The women in charge of the home have re-cently made some changes in the man-agement, having secured the services of an efficient matron and made necessary provements for the comfort and efficien of the home. Women and girls are pro vided with a comfortable home until they can secure employment. The ob-ject of the home is to assist unprotected en and girls. The home also provides instruction in domestic economy. This feature of the work bids fair to be of general interest to those desiring capa-ble domestic help. Another interesting feature will be a free sewing school, where all kinds of sewing will be taught.

WILLIAM T. GARDNER'S LECTURE.-This evening at the chapel of the Unitarian Church, 8 o'clock. There is no admission fee. Mr. Gardner's paper is of the nature of a report to the public as a delegate from our state to the National conference of charities and corrections, lately held in Washington City. His topics are: "Juvenile Reformatories," "Polities in Charitable Institutions," "Needy Families in Their Homes," which will touch on the usefulness of the friendly visitors, "The New York Plan in Caring for De-pendent Children," together with the plans of other states, "What Should be pinns of other states. What should be Done With Defective Children of Our State"? "A Word in Favor of a State Conference of Charities or a Conference of the Northwest." At the close of the lecture an opportunity will be given for

WHY HE FIRED.-Valentine Hinkel was before Municipal Judge Cameron yester-day, accused of discharging a revolver Tuesday on Jefferson street near Eighteenth, at W. R. Riley and E. Henderson. A. Walter Wolf, for the defense, argued that Hinkel found the complainants, who are carpenters, in the act of opening the door of one of his houses, and Hinkel snatched the key. The complainants chased him, and fearing bodily harm, Hinkel went into his home, got a revolver and fired above the men's heads. The case was continued, for the evidence of witnesses.

POULTRY PREMIUM LIST .- At a meeting of the executive committee of the Ore gon State Poultry Association last night rules governing the coming show were adopted and the premium list placed in the hands of the printer, to be rushed through as rapidly as possible. It is the intention to have this list out earlier than ever this year, so as to avoid the com-plaint sometimes made that there is not enough time from the issuance of the list to get the birds in shape before the show. This list will be in their hands at least two months before the show.

No Case Against Michels.-Frank Michels, the real estate dealer on First street, has been cleared in the Municipal Court from the charge of larceny by em-bezzlement, made against him by Paul Emil Schmidt. The complaint recited a Emil Schmidt. The complaint recited a peculiar money transaction regarding the collection of a judgment, but after hear-person he peers from defective eyesight. collection of a judgment, but after hearing Michel's satisfactory explanation that ness. The latter and Hill came to blows, and they clinched, while Houghton said:

"Rush him, Jack." Hill tried to gouge out Eaton's eyes. In defense, Hill testified that Eaton and he had a fight in which witness got the worst of it. "Eaton punched me good," went on Hill. "I came off second best. He began the fight, At first I thought he was a friend of mine named Guy Waters and I merely Clark Exposition in 1905.

"The greatest objections have been raised on account of the failure of the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition to pay financially. Now, aside from the wide range of advertising that this almost unknown region will receive through the Lewis and Clark Centennial, aside from the great commercial benefits to the entire Pacific Northwest, aside from the more important fact that we need the more important fact that we need the whole wide world for a market for our products, aside from what the fair would mean for Portland—leaving all that out, I want to say that the Buffalo Exposition must be compared with the present tion must be compared with the present centennial under consideration from an entirely different standpoint. The Exposition at Buffalo, although Pan-American in name, was a local affair, gotten up for commercial purposes. The State of New York and the United States were in no manner interested in it. Still, in order to help the project, New York appropriated $300,000 and Congress made an appropriation of $500,000 for a Government building and the installation of an exhibit.

"In the case of the Lewis and Clark "In the case of the Lewis and Chik Exposition, the people of the entire Ore-gon territory are interested in commen-orating one of the greatest events in its history. This celebration they are deter-mined to have, and it is too late now to draw back. Commissioners have been ap-pointed from various states, and these men of sound and sober judgment evi-dently considered that the Exposition dently considered that the Exposition could be made a success before accepting their positions. As to the scope and management of the Exposition, this can safely be left to the commissioners and the board of directors, with every confidence in their ability to safeguard the interests of the stockholders and bond-

"As far as the failure of the Buffalo Exposition is concerned, this could have been foretold months in advance. From what information I have gained from those who have visited the Pan-Ameri-can Exposition, I feel that there can be no comparison made that will fit the case in point, unless we do as the pro-moters did in Buffalo. My understanding is that practically no work was done on the ground or buildings until within a year of the opening. The matter was put off until so late that it was neces-sary to pay from two to 10 times as much for labor as would have been paid if the work had been begin earlier. Labor work had been begun earlier. Labor strikes followed, which caused expense and delays. Overtime, Sunday labor and delays from injunctions cost the Expo-sition management lots of money. The rush work was exceedingly expensive. A portion of the ground selected was swampy and had to be tiled, drained, bricked, floored and cemented. The work on the site alone cost more money than the citizens of Multnomah County will be asked to give for the whole Exposition.

Mark that.

"Again, the weather made successful work impossible. The ground was frozen deep on opening day, and the weather was so severe that few cared to attend until the first month had passed. Then, at the season when the general public wanted to attend, it was as hot as a furnace, and few people cared to pay admission fees and get into a bake oven.

"In the pleasantest month of all the tragedy at the Temple of Music threw a block pall not slone over the Buffalo a black pall, not slone over the Buffalo Exposition, but over the entire country, with the result that thousands of vis-itors who had made all their arrangements to visit Buffalo remained at home, "Yet the attendance has been quite large, and I feel that the reason the company failed to take in money enough to return the subscriptions of the stockholders was that the expenses were too great. And right here let me state my firm conviction that Oregon can for $100,000 make a bigger, grander and bet-ter display than can be made at Buffalo for $500,000. For $25,000 Oregon can, if the money is used economically, make a better agricultural display than cost the exhibitors at Buffalo $1,000,000, Another thing must be taken into consideration: While the paid admissions to the Buffalo fair have not been sufficient to pay a return to the stockholders, yet the results to the City of Buffalo and the immediate vicinity have been far greater for instance. Every man who was in business within a radius of 50 miles of Buffalo will certainly say that he has profited by the fair. The transportation companies have done an immense busi-"I am glad that Messers. Watson and Wittenberg have expressed their epin-ions freely. This will have a tendency to the safeguarding of the interests of all concerned, including the stockholders, and also to the upholding of the pride of the state. It will have a tendency to make the directors very careful; it would not do to have an exposition in this city and state and Northwest that would not be a credit to this part of the country.

"Where is the money to come from?
Let me tell you where some of the money Let me tell you where some of the money is coming from. Will the people of Oregon pay for the Japanese village, the Corean village, the Flitpino or Hawaiian exhibits, the Chinese street or the display of Indian and Siberian and other Oriental products? Will Oregon or the Lewis and Clark Centennial management pay for a building from our neighboring State of Washington? Of course not. Washington is likely to make Oregon than one would at first imagine. There have been greater attractions on the outside. People have been drawn to Buffalo by the Exposition, but have put in their time gasing at other sights, Niagara ashamed of itself when it comes to the erection of a state building at the fair. And if anyone thinks that California is not going to be represented, they can talk, but that's all it will amount to. "California also has an eye to the Ori ental trade, and does not intend to let anyone take it away from her. California will come in to the Exposition with a strong exhibit. Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Colorado, Wy-oming and Montana, in fact all oming and Montana, in fact all the Western States, will undoubtedly find it to their interest to be represented with creditable buildings and exhibits. British Columbia has indorsed the pro-ject and will no doubt have a fine rep-resentation. If we have nothing else than the exhibits and buildings from the Western States and the Orient, we will have something more novel than has ever before been seen at any exposition. A prominent feature at many of the expositions, and the greatest prizewinners, has been the exhibits from the Western States. How much better displays can be made when we have everything right here at hand? "The people will come. They want to see this great country, where these great products have been raised. They will want to spend a Summer in the West, where the Summers are cool and pleasant. It seems to me that the directors can safely count upon enough admissions, together with the concessions, etc., to pay back the stockholders and bond-holders dollar for dollar. As for raising the same amount of money for advertising the state in other ways, there is no other way that would be so effective or that would cost less in proportion to its effectiveness, and there is no other way of raising an equal amount of money or one-quarter of the amount."

Run in this foremon, at 251 Washington street, see for yourself and you will find that you can save enough money in the purchase of a good plano to fairly educate the whole family in music.

There are several styles of Steinways in stock, and it doesn't take much more than $400 to get one now. We have quite an assortment of Estey planos. No need of paying much more than half the former prices asked for a fine Estey now. They are new instruments, accompanied by the respective factory guarantees.

Then we have some Starr planos. The Starrs have also fallen.

Then come the Emerson planos. Emerson planos are good planos. Soule Bros. & Johnston's prices on Emersons ranged from $40 to $500-an average of, say, $450. It is said that they sold two or three for that figure. This morning we offer the best Emersons in this stock for $237; others for $218-and some that are said to be Emersons, and probably are-well, we'll sell these so-called Emersons for what they are worth, for we have nearly a carload of them; $185 and $196 will secure choice of several different cases.

Several Richmond planos in fancy walnut and oak cases for about half the former prices asked for them.

Remember, we have the factory warranties for every instrument in stock. We will deliver planos at sale prices to any part of the city, and give our regular one year's tuning agreement with every instrument sold.

During this closing-out sale of the Soule Bros. & Johnston stock we are also offering a number of Weber, Chickering, Kimball, Decker, Vose, Wheelock and others at "cut prices."
