Odd Angles On Day's News

ORANGE, NJ—(AP)— "Send an ambulance quickly. Something terrible has happened to my husband."

The telephone operator who received this call at Orange Memorial hospital swung into action, an interne hopped into the ambulance and the chauffeur whisked him to the address given.

"My husband can't—or won't—talk to me," wailed the woman.

Diagnosis by one disgusted interne: The husband wished to sleep.

BUTTE, Mont.—(AP)—Headquarters notified a police car by radio: "Go to the corner of Placer and Aluminum streets. Kids are throwing rocks at an arc light."

Two minutes later the police car radioed this reply:

"There are no kids at Placer and Aluminum." The voice paused, and added, "there's no light now either."

ALTON, Ill.—(AP)—A soldier home on furlough went on a ration binge.

His board allotted him 16 points for the week.

He passed up fancy canned goods and blew it all on two bottles of catsup.
