Veterans to Be Asked Plans For Education

The problem worrying most of the nation's institutions of learning is how many of the veterans who have been issued certificates of eligibility for education intend to use them in the near future.

In an attempt to solve this problem, the Veterans Administration will mail out questionnaires this week to the more than 2000 returned servicemen and women who have unused certificates. Results are expected to be available to institutions by the middle of August.

The Northwest branch of the administration has expanded the national survey to provide estimates of the number of veterans who expect to attend various educational institutions in the northwest and the number of veterans interested in on-the-job-training and apprenticeship programs.

Information will also include expected courses, starting time and duration of training and the veteran's marital status.

Centennial Of Christian Church Opens

The Christian churches of Oregon will celebrate their 100 years of Oregon history at the Centennial convention which will convene at the Turner Camp Grounds on Monday, June 24. This convention will climax five years of definite planning to achieve certain centennial goals, chief of which was the winning of 10,000 new church members, raising of a fund of $50,000 to expand the work of the churches in this state.

The guest speaker for the sessions which begin Monday night is the Rev. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church of Dallas, Tex. The Rev. Mr. Wells has completed his 24th year as pastor of that large city church, which now ranks first in missionary giving among the Christian churches in America and is a forceful and dynamic speaker. The Rev. and Mrs. Goulter, former missionaries in China, will also be guests at the convention. Goulter was for four years a Japanese prisoner of war and when released last August he remained in China for some time, helping in a survey of the mission station. Only a month ago he returned to the states, and this is the first convention of Disciples of Christ which he will address. The Rev. Vernon Newland, a missionary from Tibet, whil also be among the guest speakers.

An adult conference, consisting of morning classes, makes up a part of the agenda for each day. One of the highlights of the week will be a pageant, prepared by Ross J. Griffeth, president of Northwest Christian college in Eugene. It will depict the 100 years of history of the Disciples of Christ in Oregon, beginning with 13 members, and now comprising a church membership of more than 30,000.

The First Christian church of Salem, which ranks second in size in Oregon, has cancelled all meetings during the week in order that members may attend the convention at Turner. A guest minister will preach Sunday morning in the local pulpit, the Rev. Walter Myers of Beaverton. His subject will be "And This Grace Also." In the evening, the Rev. Dudley Strain will preach on the subject "On Going Ahead", which will follow an impressive installation service for officers of the Women's Council.
