Cotton Report Lowers Prices On Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 —(AP)— Grains showed the inter-relationship between various commodity markets today when prices sank following an agriculture department cotton crop forecast. The department estimated a larger harvest than had been expected.

Lard and soybeans were the first to feel the effects of this forecast, and with some logical reason. Larger cotton crop will mean more cottonseed oil, thus increasing fats and oils supplies. Soybean oil and lard are, in part, competitors with cottonseed oil.

Once the selling had started it pread throughout all pits. Losses ran to more than 3 cents in corn. Closing prices were at the day's lows.

Wheat ended 2 to 2½ lower, September $2.22⅛-$2.22, corn was 1¾-3⅜ lower, September $1.61⅜-$1.62, oats were ⅝-⅞ lower, September 72½-⅝, rye was 2 to 2½ lower, December $1.69,and soybeans were 9½-9¾ lower, November $2.64.

In lard losses ran from 70 to 90 cents a hundred pounds, September $20.05-$20.10. Lard, as well as all grains and soybeans, managed to hold above seasonal lows.

Boycott Hurts Meat Trading

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 9 —(AP) Trading turned dull on the livestock market here today and packers blamed the housewives' boycott of meat.

Bid prices were around $1 lower than last week. Most packers said they would wait for the market to settle before buying. They said the boycott had hurt business.

The boycott was organized here last week with chain telephone calls spreading the word. The announced aim was a 33 per cent cut in beef prices and no more than 60 cents a pound for any meat.
