WORK ON CENTRAL ELECTRIC STATION -The work so far done on the extension of the Portland General Electric Com-pany's central station, at the corner of Alder and Seventh streets, is a complete puzzle to the many passers who stop to look over it. First, an excavation was started, and was about two-thirds completed, the remaining third being left an untouched block of earth. Around both the Alder and Seventh-street sides of the lot the excavation was completed for a busement under the sidewalk, and this space inclosed by walls all right. An ex-cavation has been made across the lot inside the basement wall, and in this a collection of boxes has been built across one end, and these are apparently being filled with concrete, while three electric light poles have been put up in the ex-cavation near the basement wall, and it looks to the ordinary citizen as if the company's wires are to be strung under the roof of the building. When people stop to make inquiries, they are told that everything about the place is all right. The reason given for not completing the whole excavation is that so much space was not needed. The remainder of the earth will be excavated then it becomes necessary to put in more machinery. The tier of boxes being filled with concrete are moulds for foundations for a number of rotary transformers. As for the elec-tric light poles in the excavation, they are given to understand that the men in charge of the construction of the build-ing know what they are doing, if outsiders do not, and that they are having things done just as they want them done, and no profane or inquisitive outsider need to take any worry to himself about WITH BEATING CHILD. CHARGED Charged with assaulting his 2-months-old baby, W. H. Taylor, employed by the North Pacific Terminal Company, and living at 28 North Fifth street, was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Haw-ley, on the complaint of Superintendent Gardner, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid So-The case was called at the afternoon hearing before Municipal Judge Hogue, and Taylor, who was not present, was represented by Lawyer Petrain, who asked that Taylor might be released on reasonable ball for a hearing today. Ball was placed at $300. The witnesses in the

are to support the roof trusses, timbers 60 feet in length, while they are being put up. In short, the anxious inquirers case will testify that Taylor, who is a not-tempered man, got angry because his baby cried, and that he struck the child, A physician was called to at-the baby, and he stated that clack marks on the baby were the result of a beating. On the other hand, Taylor maintains his right to chastise his child if, in his opinion, the child requires it, and says that when he struck the child be was working with blackberry jam, and that the jam stained the child's body. Taylor's friends say that Mrs. Taylor states that the child is not injured, and that she is not angry at her husband for

DIFFICULTIES BESSET WOULD-BE BEN-EDICT.—Marriage is sometimes beset with difficulties, a fact which John Wilding discovered yesterday, while making preparations to faunch himself on the life voyage of domestic bliss. The young man appeared at the County Clerk's office for a license, but forgot to bring the neces; sary witness with him. He would have had to have gone a long distance to have procured a witness, when, luckly, he discovered an acquaintance in one of the deputies in the office, who signed the required affidavit for him. Then Wilding proceeded to relate his experiences, say-ing it was a huge joke. He said he had been all over town to find a minister to perform the ceremony, but found they were all away on vacations. The clerk consoled him by telling him if he failed to find a preacher, he could get a Judge to marry him, and the bridegroom answered that that was what he might

REMARKY AFTER A DIVORCE.-A happy reunion has just occurred in this city in the remarriage of Peter N. Worsley and Amanda R. Worsley, after a separation continuing for eight years. They were joined together in marriage in San Fran-cisco in 1883, and in September, 1894, Mrs. Worsley sued her husband for a divorce, which was granted by Judge Stearns, on December 24, of the same year. She rande no charge against Worsley, except that he had deserted her about a year previous. The parties both continued to reside in Portland, and neither seemed to wish to declare the old love off for a new. and at last have decided to begin where they left off, as if nothing had occurred to sever their wedded life. Worsley, during his stay in Portland, has engaged in the boot and shoe business, and his wife is attractive and accomplished. INJURY TO MRS. HINES.-A dispatch printed in yesterday's Oregonian from Ilwaco, stated that Miss Edith Mor-ris, of Portland, accidentally shot herself Monday at Centerville, North Beach. It should have said that Miss Morris accishould have said that Miss Morris acci-dentally shot her sister, Mrs. N. J. Himes, who lives in the Goodnough build-ing. Miss Morris and Mrs. Himes, who have been at the beach for the past four weeks, are crack sulpe shooters, and on Saturday last the two bagged no less than 250 or 125 apiece. While preparing for a shooting expedition on Monday, Miss Morris' gun went off accidentally, and the shot entered Mrs. Himes' right knee, causing a very painful injury. The knee, causing a very painful injury. The injured woman was brought to Portland on Monday night's train.

KICK AT BICTCLE PATH .- Property-own ers in sections of the city where bicycle ers in sections of the city where bicycle paths siong the side of a street are not uncommon probably are informed as to the law and the rights of the property-owners and the city in regard to locating such paths, and so make no fuss about them. Some of the residents along southern Fourth street are not at all pleased with having a bloycle path built along their cash, and some are very indignant, and are asking by what inw or right they are shut off from the street, or, as some put it, the use of their property is confected. They are told that they is confiscated. They are told that they must not pile their Winter's supply of firewood on the bicycle path, nor, in receiving wood or supplies of any kind, must they allow a wagon to be driven or backed across the bicycle path, and that if they do so they will be fixed. that if they do so, they will be fined. They admit that the path is a convenience to bicyclists, but what is going to happen when a family wishes to cross the street or to get in the street to take a carriage. There is certain to be some one scorching down the path or up the path, and those who attempt to cross the path are quite certain to be knocked lown or run over, with no recourse, as the blcyclists have the right of way on the path. One highly indignant resident on Fourth street says the path should have been located on the railroad right of way, between the rails. This would have left both sidewalks clear, and the bicyclists could look out for themselves and not let the trains catch them. The people in Fourth street will doubtless get used to the path in time, as people on other streets have to their paths, and it will be found that there might be worse things on the street, and all will be sat-LOVE-SICK MAID ATTEMPTS SUICIDE .- A ve-sick maiden named Mabel Allen, and who said that she was a waitress in a Third-street hotel, tried to swallow car bolic acid at the Oak-street wharf Tues day night, because her sweetheart had deserted her for another, but she was pre-vented from swallowing the poison in the nick of time by a watchman of the Co nick of time by a watchman of the Co-lumbia & Willamette Towing Company. The matter was reported to the police yesterday by Special Officer Childress, and it is now supposed that the girl, to escape possible detection, gave a "fake" name and address. About 8 o'clock Tuesday night, two well-dressed girls entered a Third-street drug store, and one of them asked for a bottle of carbolic acid for asked for a bottle of carbolic acid for washing purposes, giving the name of Mabel Alien. The poison was given her. About one half hour after this a girl whose appearance corresponds with that of Mabel Alien, who visited the drug store, was found on Oak-street wharf in the act of drinking the contents of a bot-tle of carbolic acid. Fortunately, the watchman came up just in time to arrest her hand, and demanded an explanation. The girl was excited, and incoherently told the watchman that she was disap-pointed in love, that her sweetheart had left her for another, and that she did not care to live longer. She asserted that she was a waltress in a Third-street hotel, and implored the watchman to allow her to go. This the watchman did, after giv-ing her some sound advice about there be-ing others, etc. Inquiry at the hotel mentioned by the girl elicited the fact that there is no Mabel Allen employed there. In fact, the other table maids were all in a romantic flutter when they heard the

DISCUSS ALASKAN AFFAIRS.-The com-Alaskan affairs will meet in the office of the chamber, on Washington street, this morning at II o'clock to discuss the mat-ter of the Alaskan steamship line. The members of this committee are F. A. Spencer, A. H. Devers, F. A. Jones, Louis G. Clarke, H. C. Wortman, J. L. Meler and Adolphe Wolfe. All who are interest-ed in this matter are requested to be present at the meeting, especially the merchants of the city, for it is to them that the call for the meeting is issued. The whole subject of steamer connections with the north will be thoroughly dis-cussed, and it is hoped that many business men will participate in the discus-

CAR BREAKS HORSE'S LEGS.-A gravelcar of the Portland Railway Company ran over a horse on Union avenue yester-day, at noon, breaking two legs of the of its misery by a pistol ball. The car was going south on Union avenue, run-ning at the rate of four miles per hour, when the accident occurred. The horse was attached to a buggy, which was standing near the curbstone on the west side of the street, and showed no signs of fright as the car approached. Suddenly the animal shied and stumbled direct-ly in front of the car, which could not be stopped in time to avert the accident. MORE ARRESTS TO BE MADE.-Six more warrants were issued yesterday for persons who have not yet paid their income taxes. The names of the parties, and the dates on which they paid the last taxes, are as follows: A. E. Rockey, physician, has not paid since October 1, 1900; A. C. Panton, physician, April 1, 1991; F. Bickel, storage business, July 1, 1991; D. E. Meikle, merchant, January 1, 1901; T. J. McKell and James Heatly, manufactur-ers' agents, October 1, 1901. These war-rants will be served immediately, and the City Attorney has in preparation a num-ber more that will be issued in a few

WHO WILL REMOVE CIRCUS POSTERS!-A county official yesterday asked: is going to pull down the old Ringling circus posters, now that the circus has gone? They are on every building all over the city, and are many of them so high up as to be out of reach, unless you get a ladder," he continued. A bystander suggested that the Civic Improvement League can now remove them, or that the city authorities should have a man for the purpose

ARRESTSIO ON DURGLARY CHARGE.—E. Kelley, 16 years old, was arrested yester-day by Special Officer Hawley, on a warrant issued by Municipal Judge Hogue, charged with attempted burglary on the complaint of C. Levy, who keeps a second-hand goods store.

BLANKETS FOR COUNTY JAIL.—Sheriff Storey, who says he believes in patron-izing home industry, resterday ordered a bale of biankets from the woolen mills at Sellwood. The blankets are required for use in the County Jail during the coming Winter.

CHARGED WITH LARCENT.—George Sny-der was arrested last night at Fifth and Davis streets by Detectives Ford and Cordsno, charged with larceny by balles, on the complaint of George Staise.

Moon Riess Brining Moust Hood.—The rising of the moon Tuesday evening from directly behind the summit of Mount Hood, as seen by the people of a district between Third street and the foot of the hills, on both sides of Sherman street for some distance, was a most wonderful and beautiful exhibition of a rather common affair, which those who witnessed have not done talking about, and which, if it could be reproduced in the shape of a moving picture for continuous exhibia moving picture for continuous exhibition, would form a great attraction. The fact that the phenomenon was a regular continuous exhibition of a moving picture renders it very difficult to describe with pen or pencil. The moon rose just as the fire department and most of the population of the section mentioned were answering to a fire alarm, the wonder-ful part of the rising lasting from about 7:80 to 7:45 P. M. It was not so dark but that the summit of Mount Hood was dimly visible. The first sight of the moon was when the north edge projected be-yond the shoulder of the mountain and looked like the edge of the mountain touched by moonlight. Then the moon rose gradually, till it emerged above the exact summit, and it looked as if a sec-tion had been out out of the moon we by two physicians. Driscoli has poor eye-sight, and is partly deaf. He is spoken of as an inoffensive man, who is not tion had been cut out of the moon, so that it fitted down on the summit, the apex of which reached the center of the moon. It seemed to stand there for a minute or so, and then moved up and away slowly, keeping up a connection with the summit a short time, and forming several new phases of the remark-able picture. All have noticed the apparent enlargement of the moon, and sun as well, when rising above the horizon, though few know how this is caused, but the moon on this occasion appeared considerably larger than usual. As there were many people on the streets at the time looking for the fire which had caused the alarm, many must have noticed the moon's performance.

PORTLAND MOSQUITOES NOT VOICELESS.

-Mention was made a few days ago of a voiceless mosquito, which is said to have just been discovered or invented by some one, but why voiceless is not stated, or whether this is supposed to improve the insect or not. There is a very extensive, healthy and vigorous army of some Fall variety of insects foraging in Portland and growing fat on the blood of the in-habitants. They avoid the hot sunshine as much as possible, and operate prin-cipally on persons sitting out on porch or lawn in the evening to eatch the cool air. They are not entirely voiceless, but are of quiet habits, and are furnished with a better and larger class of blood extracting instruments than the common mosquito, and they extract the desired amount of blood in a very short time, often getting through with the operation before their victim is aware that he is being "used," but the poison they leave in the inccisions they make is so acrid, violent and lasting in its effect that they do not forget the attending mosquito for several hours. If any one is engaged in tinkering with the instruments of mosquitoes, he will better leave the voice alone and true leaves the street that slone, and try to lessen the size of their poison sack, their boring machines and suction pumps, and try to develop a sort of toothless insect, devold of an unslakof toothiess insect, devoid of an unstak-able thirst for human gore. It might be well to improve the voice and let the thing become proud of its singing, so that it will like to listen to itself, and will give up less of its time to blood-

ROWING CLUB'S HIGH JINKS .-- The Portland Rowing Club held "high finks" last night. About 8 o'clock a string of barges with the club's boats in tow left the boathouse at the east approach of Morrison-street bridge and proceeded up the river. The procession went around the point of Ross Island and landed on the inside. Here a big bonfire was built and the revelers indulged in games and contests of many kinds. Plenty of refreshments were taken along, and there was no dearth of amusement and good cheer. Among the various amusements were a tug-of-war and a watermelon-eating cotug-of-war and a watermeion-eating con-test. The latter contest, owing to the fact that there were but eight watermei-ons, developed unexpected features. The cool wind from the river dampened the ardor of many, and they returned early in the evening. Later Mr. J. C. Ains-worth's launch Saltair went up and towed the weary ones back home. There was some discussion of the proposition to move the club's headquarters up the move the club's headquarters up the river beyond Inman & Poulsen's mill. It has been decided that the club will have to move, but definite action has not been

JUDGE HOGUE TO REGARD DECISION .- In of Judge Sears that the Municipal Judge has no right to suspend sentence or exercise the pardoning power, Municipal Judge Hogue said: "The plan had the approval of the Chief of Police, and my aim was to rid the city of objectionable characters by asking them to leave here, on condition that their sentences were in the meantime suspended. Now that Judge Sears has made this ruling, of course, there will be no more suspension of sentences in this court. I believe, how-ever, that it is within the jurisdiction of this court to take certain cases under advisement. An offender who has been allowed to go can be brought in and sentence imposed, if in the opinion of the authorities he is not behaving as he ought."

HACKDRIVER McCROSKEY ARRESTED. Fred McCroskey, the well-known hack-driver, whose sister was recently mur-dered by her husband. A. L. Belding, on Flanders street, was arrested last night by Policeman Welch, at the Union Depot, charged with refusing to move on when ordered to do so. McCroskey was released for a hearing today on his deposit-ing $10 ball.

W. H. BARRY FOR GRAND MARSHAL—William H. Barry, of the Multnomen Typographical Union, was last evening elected grand marshal of the Labor Day parade, which promises to eclipse all pr vious affairs of the kind in the North-west. SUMMER COMPLAINT. Proper Food Will Prevent It,

When the bowels go wrong in adults or children, quit all food but Grape-Nuts and a fittle cream or milk. The experience of one woman will be read with interest by many mothers who pass anxious days over little ones and become alarmed because the food does not agree with baby and he dally wastes away.

Mrs. W. H. Mennens of Little Falls, Minn., writes, "I want to tell you the good Grape-Nuts Food has done for my baby boy. When he was 10 months old he was taken with summer complaint and I could not find any prepared food that agreed with him. I was giving him doctor's medicine all the time, but he continued to lose in weight until he only weighed 15 lbs., having weighed 12 lbs. before he was taken sick. Finally the doctor told me that unless I could get some real nourishing food for him he could not live many days and he advised me to get Grape-Nuts Food, which I did and in five days he gained 4 ounces and in five weeks he weighed just 20 lbs.

—In a dispute over their turn to work at a grain chute at one of the warehouses at the river front yesterday, Timothy Driscoll and Emil Hansen, the latter residing at $10 Loring street, got into a fist fight, and the matter ended in Driscoll stabbling Hansen in the stomach. Driscoll was arrested by Detectives Kerrigan and Snow. It appears that Hansen would not take his turn at the chute when asked to do so, and surprise was expressed, as Hansen is one of the tallest and strong-ent man in the crowd, and Driscoll said: "Come on, Hansen; it's your turn." Han-sen declined, and it is stated that he struck the first blow at Driscoil, and the two men clinched. Hansen easily outclassed Driscoll, and before the two men could be separated, Driscoll had drawn his pocketknife and stabbed his antagonist in the stomach, inflicting a serious, but not fatal, wound. Hansen was re-moved to his home, and was cared for

The blaze was very brilliant for a while, and excited some attention along the river front. The building has been unoccupied for some time, and no reason can be assigned for the fire. A boatman on the river averred that it was due to incendiaries, who had a gruden against the owner. grudge against the owner.
