Human Artery Bank Latest Of Lifesavers

By Alton L. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, May 19 -(AP)- A new human artery bank, supplying another magical spare part to save lives or limbs, was disclosed here. Its treasure now is seven pieces of arteries, totalling 21 inches.

This kind of bank ushers in a new era of surgery, a committee of surgeons declared.

The spares can replace damaged, defective or diseased arteries in living humans. They also promise to make possible bold new cancer operations that can't be done now because arteries are affected and would have to be removed.

This bank is the second of its kind. The first is in Boston, the creation of Dr. Robert E. Gross, professor of child surgery at Harvard University Medical school. In two years he has made 24 artery grafts. The longest spare he used was three inches.

New York's bank is citywide, involving 14 hospitals. It is the first central bank of its kind in this country, and probably in the world.

It was predicted that blood vessel banks would spread to other cities.

The arteries are taken soon after death from young persons who had no artery diseases or defects. Permission is granted by the donor before death, or is given by relatives.

The arteries are kept living in a bath of nutrient fluids, but by quick-freezing it may be possible to bank arteries for months or even years. In animal experiments, arteries have been grafted successfully after being kept frozen for eight months.

Passerby Helps Police to Nab Jewel Thieves

PORTLAND, May 19 -(AP)- A suspicious and persistent passerby made possible the recovery of $12,000 worth of jewels today, just ten minutes after they had been stolen.

Fred Harding saw three men breaking into a small east side jewelry store early this morning. There was a car in front.

He jotted down the license number and ran to a nearby tavern to phone police. But the tavern proprietor, just closing, refused to let him in.

Harding started hunting another phone when a police car happened by. He hailed it. A radio alert went out.

Shortly afterward police caught up with the suspected car—which had been driven off while Harding was trying to telephone. It was on a bridge, and a jewelry-filled suitcase was inside.

The car's three occupants were charged with burglary. They were Roland Turner Pruitt, 40, Longview; Kenneth A. Swicker, 22, Longview; and Lawrence L. Weddel, 21, Kelso.

UO Launches Inquiry into Secret Society

EUGENE, May 19 -(AP)- University of Oregon officials were investigating today that Theta Nu Epsilon, a banned secret society, is operating on the campus.

Some students blamed TNE for the uproar that broke out on a street near the campus last night and resulted in both firemen and policemen being called out.

Arthur Johnson, president of the student body, today gave officials a notarized list of students reported to be members of the forbidden society.

TNE, whose existence goes back to the 19th century, was once an active political and social organization on scores of college campuses, but in recent decads has generally been banned. It traditionally draws men from the various fraternities.

Seabee Unit Wins Plaudits

Salem's Seabee reserve company 13-9, commanded by Lt. Don Fisher, was lauded Friday by Lt. (j.g.) D. P. Whyte, Seattle, assistant Seabee reserve program officer for 13th naval district, for having sent more men on training duty this fiscal year than any other unit in the northwest.

The Seabees were informed, however, that their reserve outfits would be reduced from 48 to 24 pay drills per year, beginning July 1. This, said Whyte, is in conformity with cuts for all specialist groups whose members are already trained and whose military and civilian tasks are comparable. The Salem unit will continue weekly drills, half of them without pay, following the summer months.

Secretary to Senator to Edit UO Student Paper

EUGENE, May 19 -(AP)- Anita Holmes, Coeur D'Alene, was chosen editor of the University of Oregon newspaper today, even though she isn't a student right now.

She applied by mail from Washington, D.C., where she is working as secretary to Idaho's Senator Dworshak. She plans to return to the university in the fall.

State Traffic Toll Halved in Oregon During 5 Years

Oregon's traffic death rate has been cut almost in half in the past five years, and that means a saving of 742 lives in that period, Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry estimated Friday.

He said that last year Oregon's traffic death rate was 6.4 deaths per 100,000,000 miles of travel. In 1945 the rate was 11.8.

He said the reduction was caused by better driving habits.

Brakes Slip, Child Drowns

PORTLAND, May 19 -(AP)- A parked automobile's brakes slipped today, and the car carried a 2-year-old girl to her death in Wauna Lake, Wash.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Eaton, were unloading the car on the lake shore, near North Bonneville. The daughter, Carol Ann, was inside, when the car began to roll downhill. It splashed into the lake, and the girl's body was not recovered for several hours.

Eaton, a department of agriculture official at Portland, formerly lived in Pendleton.
