HELENA, Mont., Aug. 31.—(Special.)

Little Engle distinguished himself today and shut Helena out, score 2 to 0. Wiggs also pitched masterly ball and held Portland down to seven hits, two of which were singles, while still another was due to Schmeer's stumbling just as he got under Van Buren's pop-up fly in the first inning. But Engle was an enigma and when the moment came they were not forthcoming. It was one of the fastest games ever played on the local grounds, and fairly abounded in sensational plays.

HITS OFF THE DIAMOND

RACE FOR LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP TAKES ON INTEREST.

Butte Leads Seattle—Home Nine May Pull Up.

The "dope book" in the Pacific Northwest baseball has been rather used up by this series, and it is about time to commence on a new one. Helena and Butte have the turns played the part of the bears and hammered down the Seattle stock, much to the advantage of the Miners. When Helena started Seattle on the job again, the Miners thought they would have a pinch when the Webfoots invaded their home. But then again the "dope book" failed and the Portland boys already have the series and a good chance to get an extra game.

THINKS ACTION UNJUST.

"Sportsman" Considers That Game Warden Quimby Went Too Far. PORTLAND, Aug. 31.—(To the Editor.)—Some weeks ago Game Warden Quimby caused the arrest of a prominent citizen of Portland for having in his possession prairie chickens. The defendant, Mr. Quimby, learned of this and defendant having had in his possession some prairie chickens, he (the defendant) at the time being in Multnomah County, was arrested by the sheriff of that county, and taken to the jail there. The law permits them to be killed there, was not considered. The law opens the season in different places at different times. It was not lawful to kill, or to have in one's possession, in Multnomah County, prairie chickens at that particular time. Hence this citizen, who had some prairie chickens in his possession, was arrested, and a day's legitimate sport, and who was bringing home some of the game lawfully taken in an adjoining county, for the use and enjoyment of his family, was subjected to the humiliation of arrest and trial in a criminal court because the letter of a law had been violated.

J., Aug. 31.—Labor day will be a big day for the City of Portland, where pot-hunters are daily engaged in shooting, out of season, the few Chinese pheasants which venture to come to near civilization, and to the hunters at all the points of the country, and the ambition for the ability to get into the field of legitimate sportsman.

KEPT ONE TROUT FOR HIMSELF.

Russ Chamberlain Gets Rid of 50 in the City Hall. Just one large trout and a fish speckled trout was caught by Russ Chamberlain entered for clearance at the City Hall Saturday, and just about 50 people wanted one of the family that fell victims to the voracious appetite of the fish. All of them did not get all they wanted, but Mr. Chamberlain remembered each, and in the want of more a single brook beauty was looked upon as a prize which each city officer would like to have. He was able to convey it home. Mr. Chamberlain reserved one for himself, and he was sorry he did, for he was compelled to answer a whole lot of questions as to how he had caught it. He had caught it, he said, caught just what was in the basket. He had fished for them near Skamokawa, and he had found the streams well filled. No, he had not caught a long one. He had caught that; and everybody took his word for it, he was too much of an angler to go over a mark. He did admit that he had landed trout until he had got tired of fishing and thought it time to return home.

Contracted Disorders

The progress in the study of chronic contracted disorders during the last few years has completely modified the treatment of these very frequent diseases. There is no chronic disease so widespread, and its tenacity and resistance to all forms of treatment are nature's universal known. More than five years ago we described the method of dilatation, which we have always since employed, and which has been gradually adopted by the profession. We have added few modifications since that time, but the method has proven its own worth in the hands of others, and the results are incontrovertible. Dilatations by special dilator, irrigation and frequent injections of the capsaic with the electric heat Brandt's cure, which has been undertaken that is not surely indigent, give indisputable successful results.
