Road Financing by Taxes 'Acceptable' To Sec. Humphrey

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said Tuesday he is "perfectly willing" to accept, as second choice, a plan to pay for a vast road building program through immediate tax increases.

Humphrey testified before the the House Public Works Committee on a subcommittee proposal to hike federal gasoline taxes from 2 to 3 cents a gallon and also boost levies on trucks, diesel fuel, and truck tires and tubes.

These increases would raise more than 800 million dollars a year to help finance President Eisenhower's proposed program for 47 billion dollars in federal-state road building over the next 12 years.

Most of the increased federal funds — about 24 billion dollars — would be spent for completing a 40,000-mile network of interstate defense highways.

Special Corporation

Eisenhower proposed financing the program by creating a special government corporation which would sell 30-year bonds, technically outside the federal debt limit and outside the regular budget. The bonds would be paid off from revenue from present highway user taxes.

Humphrey said the bond plan "still offers the best method" of financing the big program but the Treasury has no objection if Congress decides to adopt the pay-as-you-build taxes favored by the subcommittee.

In fact, the Treasury executive said, the tax plan would not place an undue burden on the economy and would tend to be less inflationary than the bond plan.

"Looks Pretty Fair"

And he said the proposed schedule of tax increases "looks pretty fair to me" and would be a "pretty good spread of the taxes . . . among people who would benefit substantially from an improved highway system."

The committee, however, heard more than a dozen witnesses from farm, truck, bus, transit, tire and other industry groups protest the proposed taxes as a severe blow that could drive many firms out of business.

The committee goes into a closed session Wednesday to iron out the issue, with several key members predicting approval of the tax increases. Republicans promised a fight on the House floor for Eisenhower's bond proposal, if it is beaten in the committee.

The Senate voted 60-31 against the bond plan and adopted instead a substitute Democratic bill which provided for a five-year road building program and left financing up to the House, where all tax bills must originate.

Top Aluminum Firm, Union Open Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's No. 1 aluminum producer Tuesday opened wage negotiations with the CIO United Steelworkers on an amicable note, promising an increase and a "real effort" to establish a pay structure.

Negotiators for the union and Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa) met for two hours in the initial session. The meeting then was recessed until a date to be mutually agreed on by both sides — probably next week.

Nicholas Zonarich, union negotiator, said the steelworkers explained in detail demands for an hourly pay increase and a program to classify production workers into "well defined" pay groups.

The union will be free to strike at midnight July 31 if an agreement is not reached.

R.K. Heineman, director of industrial relations and Alcoa's head negotiator, said the company will "make a wage offer at the proper time."

HOST TO CANADIANS

PORTLAND (AP) — This city will be host this week to some 80 Canadian naval cadets. They will arrive here Wednesday aboard the ships HMCS Stettler and Sussexville.
