World-Wide Crusade for Knowledge Starts Today

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP) — Sunday is New Year's Eve of the greatest crusade for knowledge in world history.

For at 7 p.m. EST tomorrow, scientists of 61 nations—democracy and dictatorship alike—officially launch the International year as the clock strikes midnight universal time, near Greenwich England. The "year" runs 18 months from July 1 through Dec 31 1958.

It sets some scientists to feeling the pulse of earthquakes in hope of learning how to predict them. It sends others searching for new knowledge of weather the oceans, cosmic rays, gigantic storms on the sun, magnetism and glaciers. Americans and Russians plan to shoot up little man-made moons, sampling the mysteries of space.

'Great Crusade'

With 10,000 scientists and amateur observers at work and thousands of sailors and airmen giving support IGY "represents a greater total effort than the crusades," estimates Dr John A. Simpson University of Chicago physicist.

The results—shared freely and fully among all nations—could bring great boons to mankind—perhaps new sources of energy, control of weather, or yet-undreamed of benefits.

Already IGY in preparatory studies has turned up dividends.

One is proof of great, curious curtains of magnetism existing many millions of miles out in space. In its journeying our earth runs through these magnetized clouds of gas, and they are one source of magnetic storms and radio troubles of earth.

Magnetic Bottle

They form a huge magnetic bottle around the solar system. Dr Simpson told American scientists ending a three-day review here of their final plans for IGY.

Close to earth, some scientists will check what is happening to us from our vast outpouring of carbon dioxide from fuels burned in factories, homes, car and train. Carbon dioxide and water vapor create a greenhouse warming effect; without them our weather would be much colder.

Digging into snow and ice, scientists will check upon radioactive fall-out, both natural and from H-bombs. Tritium or triple weight hydrogen is formed naturally in the air it is also produced by H-bombs.

How much tritium there is in snow indicates the age of the snow how long ago it fell, explained Dr Henri Bader of the U. S. Army snow, ice and permafrost research establishment, Wilmette Ill.

Spain Given $20 Million

MADRID, June 29 (AP) — Spain's economy received a 20-million-dollar shot in the arm from the United States today.

The money was made available in the form of economic aid under the defense support program. It brought to 70 million dollars the total of such aid provided during the fiscal year ending tomorrow.

The new grant-in-aid was in answer to an appeal for 25 million dollars made last December. It was provided after close scrutiny of Spain's economy by the U. S. Embassy and U. S. economic mission to Spain.

Some members of the American team opposed the additional grant until Spain puts her financial house in order.

A statement from the U. S. Embassy said the extra aid will help the Spanish government "reduce inflationary pressures which had become pronounced during the last year."

Faith Switch Brings Suit

MILWAUKEE, June 29—The former Mary Lucille Werner and Leland William Thomas Cummings Jr. posed in the home of the bride's father, Arnold J. Werner, following their wedding today in St. Mathew's Lutheran Church. The groom's father, Leland William Thomas Cummings Sr., Wyncote, Pa., has filed a $500,000 damage suit charging Werner induced his son to give up his Roman Catholic faith. Two Ignore Half-Million Dollar Suit, Repeat Vows

MILWAUKEE, June 29 (AP) — Ignoring a $500,000 damage suit centering on religion the daughter of a Milwaukee industrialist and the son of an Eastern family were married today as a crowd of curious by standers stood outside the church.

Mary Lucille Werner and Leland William Thomas Cummings Jr., both 21, were wed in an afternoon ceremony at St. Mathew's Lutheran church in suburban Wauwatosa. Afterwards the 156 guests attended a reception at the estate of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs Arnold J. Werner.

Not among the guests were the groom's parents, Mr and Mrs. Leland William Thomas Cummings Sr. of fashionable Wyncote, Pa., a Philadelphia suburb.

The senior Cummings had filed the damage suit charging among other things that the Werners induced their son to give up his Roman Catholic faith.

Young Cummings said he was reared in the Roman Catholic faith, but was no longer a member of the Church.

The bride said the suit "borders on religious persecution. We feel that what we ask is not too much—to marry each other, to worship God as we choose and to live together in peace."

Cummings is a chemical engineer. The son described his parents as "fairly socially prominent."

Werner has called the charges "false and unfounded."

The accident, according to police, involved Dale LaBlond, 27, of Martinez, Calif. in the car and Ralph T. Lyons, 46, Portland, in the truck. Extent of Lyons' and La Blond's injuries was undetermined early Sunday. Both were apparently alone in their vehicles.

Senator Asks Court Verdict Sidestepped

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) urged last congressional footwork today on legislation to protect FBI files against a Supreme Court decision which, he said, "makes life 100 per cent easier for traitors and subversives."

Fast footwork is just what Congress had in mind, to meet what Atty Gen. Brownell has called a "grave emergency" in law enforcement.

Congress is working on legislation to restrict the kind of information the FBI and other government investigating agencies can be required to produce in criminal trials. The aim is to rush it through before a filibuster on civil rights legislation ties up the Senate.

Under a gentlemen's agreement, the civil rights bill will be held off the floor until July 8. That's the deadline.

But there has been swift action already by Senate and House Judiciary subcommittees in approving bills aimed at a June 3 Supreme Court decision holding that a defendant is entitled to examine FBI reports if there is anything in them from a government witness in the case.

Willamette Dam Contract Given

PORTLAND, June 29 (AP) — The earth-fill Hills Creek Dam on the upper Willamette River will be built by a combination of Iowa and Texas companies.

Army Engineers announced award of the job today to the Green Construction Co. of Des Moines and the Tacon Corp. of Dallas on their joint bid of $30,372,366.

The dam, allied with the Lookout Point project, is southeast of Oakridge on the middle fork of the Willamette.

It will be 1,920 feet long and 335 feet high. A flood control and power generating dam, it will produce 30,000 kilowatts of energy.

The entire project will cost 34½ million dollars.

Solon Irate Over Sale of Armored Trucks To France by Blacklisted U. S. Contractor

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today a blacklisted government contractor sold 350 reconditioned M8 armored combat vehicles to France last year for use against Algerian rebels.

The State and Defense Departments let it happen, he said, and his Senate investigations subcommittee plans full scale public hearings to demand an explanation from top officials.

McClellan said the hearings also will explore what he termed "an exorbitant profit" to the contractor, United Auto Parts Co. of Kansas City, Mo., and a Texas affiliate, on the 1956 deal.

He said the subcommittee also will seek to learn why the government's General Services Administration sold a surplus armor plate plant at Gary, Ind., in July 1956 to one of United's blacklisted affiliates for $3,280,000.

McClellan said the subcommittee is holding fire on the hearings until after trial of a suit in which the Justice Department seeks $1,172,741.50 damages from United Auto and some of its officers in connection with sale of the armored cars to France.

Subcommittee sources said the vehicles are similar to 60 others the United States itself sold last November to France, and which wound up in Algeria in a transaction that stirred controversy both here and abroad. The M8 is a powerful truck-like vehicle, sheathed with armor and capped by a turret which mounts a light cannon.

McClellan said United and an affiliate, the Texarkana Truck Parts Co. of Texarkana, Tex., bought 279 of the surplus, scrapped vehicles for $275 apiece from the Red River Arsenal in Texarkana in 1954. He said the company patched them up, and sold them to France in the spring of 1956 for $2,675 each. He said United and the Texas firm thus ran an investment of about $140,000 into a sales price of $1,286,250. He did not estimate the profit, but called it "exorbitant."

WOODBURN, June 29—The body of Charles N. Dresen, killed this afternoon in a tractor accident in his filbert grove here, will be sent to Byron, Minn., for funeral services and interment, according to a brother in Canby.

Dresen was born in Earling, Iowa, on Oct. 28, 1892, one of a family of six brothers and five sisters. As a small child he came with his family to Nebraska, where he lived until early manhood. He moved for a brief time to Byron, Minn., coming from there to Woodburn. He owned his own home here since 1943, as well as a 12-acre orchard.

Dresen's first wife, Mary Beacom, died in 1923. He married Louise Peterson in 1936 and she died in 1947. His only son, John Dresen, who was associated with the Oregon Journal, died four years ago.

Dresen served in the U. S. Army in France during World War I and belonged to the American Legion.

The accident Saturday was first discovered by a neighbor, Ramey Avin, at about 4 p.m., according to the authorities. Avin noticed that the tractor had been stationary for about an hour though the motor was going. He walked into the grove and found Dresen dead.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs Vivian Thorn, Kasson, Minn.; a brother, S. W. Dresen of Canby; four sisters, Mrs Cecilia Wurdinger of Mt Angel, Mrs Elizabeth Browning of Portland, Mrs Martha Larson of Windham, Mont. and Mrs Gertrude Sellon of Missoula, Mont.; and six grandchildren.

The Ringo-Cornwell Funeral Home is making initial arrangements.

Judge Frank Lonergan will pronounce sentence Monday at 2 p.m.

Mighty Air Power Show Pays Tribute to Twining

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force put on its mightiest show of force today.

It sent more than 270 war planes, including B52 H-bombers, into an aerial parade for its departing chief of staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining. He is stepping up to chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The event, at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., attracted diplomats of many nations, mostly friendly, some not so friendly.

Thundering bombers and screaming fighters cast swiftly passing shadows of their wings across the upturned face of a three-star Soviet general from the Russian embassy.

In war, the 34 B52 Boeing heavy bombers and the 96 B47 mediums which streaked past at low altitudes could have carried in their bomb bays nuclear energy equal to more than a billion tons of conventional explosives.

The planes of the Strategic Air Command showed, too, how they could reach far-distance targets (like Russia's heartland). One of the big B52's sailed low over the observers, drawing fuel from an accompanying KC135 tanker plane as it flew—to augment its standard 6,000 mile range. Three jet fighters, whose fuel hunger normally limits their range, replenished from another tanker plane.

The concentration of jet bomber power here was greater than any yet reported for Russia's annual May Day air show over Moscow.

In bombing capability, it surpassed by thousands of times any previous concentration in the United States. However, there have been more aircraft on a few occasions, including an aerial flyover of New York City a decade ago by about 300 of the old, wartime B29 bombers.

Man Reports Assault, Theft

A Salem man, 36, said he was beaten by two men and robbed of $28 Saturday night on a lonely road west of Salem, police reported.

The victim, Mike Horstman of 446 N Union St., an employe of Western Paper Converting Co., said he met the two men and three girls on South Commercial Street and they invited him for a ride.

He related that he and the five rode to a gravel road just west of West Salem, where the men suggested emerging for a rest stop. Near the car, he said, two of the men suddenly pummeled him with their fists, leaving him dizzy, and took his wallet.

The men removed about $28 but for some reason left $3, and gave him back his wallet, Horstman said.

Horstman bore a bump on his right temple, a sore neck, and a bruised left arm, but needed no medical attention. State Police were investigating late last night.
