Prize Is Offered For Oldest "Rig"

Jubilee week at the Fox-McDonald is a celebration that brings many brilliant features to Eugene's finest theatre. Beginning Sunday, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," the epochal jungle feature is being featured along with a program of sterling short subjects that round out a thrilling bill. The mid-week special feature brings Elissa Landi in a dramatic-romance entitled "A Passport to Hell" in which she is supported by a group of clever male stars.

Jubilee week will be climaxed by what is said to be one of the season's finest pictures that brings George Bancroft and Wynne Gibson to the Fox-McDonald screen in "Lady and Gent" a human story of life. For the special features for Saturday the management has arranged for three contests for the pioneers to include the gift of a live cow for the best dressed couple in pioneer regalia that appears on the Fox-McDonald stage at 9 o'clock Saturday evening. The cow is being furnished by Cal Young who states it is a dandy. Another contest is for the pioneer ladies and an award of $5 for the oldest pioneer dress will be granted. Saturday afternoon Manager Ray W. Jones will award to the oldest rig driven up to the Fox-McDonald, a brand new $5 bill. Arrangements will be made for hitching posts in front of the theatre and those "driving" into town on that day will find plenty hitching posts for their steeds.
