

DEBRASKI UNABLE TO MANAGE HIS BALLOON WITH RUDDER—CONSTRUCTOR EXPLAINS ACCIDENT BY WEAK CONSTRUCTION OF CAR.

French Aeronaut and Companion Dashed to Pieces.

WIRE ROPES SUDDENLY BREAK

Debraski is Unable to Manage His Balloon With Rudder—Constructor Explains Accident by Weak Construction of Car.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Debraski, the aeronaut, and a companion were killed by falling from a dirigible balloon today. The balloon started from the aerodrome at Valenciennes, a suburb of this city, at 7:55 A. M., on a trial trip. After preliminary maneuvers with a rope attached, Debraski released the balloon and proceeded southward at a height of 300 or 400 feet. The propellers of the machine appeared to work well; the rudder, however, was not quite successful.

When the balloon arrived over St. Denis, the aeronauts, with the workmen in the field, asked the direction to Pantin. De Braski and Morin were seen moving about the car. Suddenly one of the wire ropes broke and another gave way, and the car, which was suspended, crashed to the ground, burying the aeronauts beneath it. They were crushed, their legs were broken and their faces were bloody, but not seriously injured. The bodies were taken to St. Denis. Debraski was ready to ascend early last week, but postponed the attempt on account of the windy weather. The balloon, which the constructor had improved on his original design, its size being increased, as it was found inadequate to carry the weight intended, and this entailed lengthening the car, rearranging the ropes, and making other changes. It was in the form of a cylinder ending in a cone 35 feet long in front and 12 feet long behind, the same length as the Santos-Dumont airship, which won the Deutsch prize, although its volume was larger, because the length of the cylindrical part was longer.

Description of the Balloon.

The balloon proper contained 220 cubic feet. The frame was 70 feet long and was made of steel tubes. It carried a car 16 feet long, suspended below the envelope of the balloon which guided it against risk of fire from the 15-horse-power petrol motor. The frame weighed 200 pounds. The airship was propelled by a screw 12 feet in diameter, and a rudder, 12 feet in diameter, 10 square yards. A notable feature was a sail apparatus consisting of wings made of light canvas, 25 feet long and five feet wide, fixed to the right and left of the envelope, which were intended to enable the airship to sail about or descend slowly in case the motor stopped.

On the morning of the trial of horror through Paris, following the disaster to the Brazilian aeronaut, Severo, who was killed May 13 last, and whose balloon started from the same shed. The principle of the airship had been warmly discussed, and its ascent was awaited with the keenest interest. A number of aeronauts, friends of De Braski and the latter's wife, were present at the start. The trial was a success, for the airship should demonstrate the success of his invention, witnessed his departure with much emotion, and especially as the conversation of the spectators turned on the fatal ending of the experiment. De Braski first tried the ascension screw, situated below the car, and the airship, held by ropes, rose easily and maintained its equilibrium with the aid of a few minutes, and said he would maneuver over the drilling grounds. A whistle was blown and the ropes released, the propelling screw behind was set in the propelling direction, when a sharp gust of wind sprang up, and the airship swayed to the northwest, instead of to the northeast. Crossing the main boulevards, the craft executed a number of evolutions, but continued northward with the wind, eventually disappearing over the great white basilica of the Church of the Sacred Heart and the top of the hill of Mont Matre. The aeronaut's wife and her friends waited at the aerodrome until 10 o'clock, and grew anxious at the prolonged absence. When the balloon was perceived at an immense height, this increased the great anxiety, for it was known that the balloon was intended to rise to such a point. It was, however, merely the inflated envelope which drifted back across Paris after the accident had relieved it of the weight of the car. A few minutes later a telegram arrived with the news of the disaster.

An eyewitness gave the following account of the accident:

"I was standing in the steps of my building when I heard a voice calling. I looked up and saw an airship 100 yards in the air. Morin was leaning out of the car, and asked through a megaphone where was suitable spot to ascend. I indicated a place in the neighborhood, and the airship proceeded in the direction I had indicated. A few moments later I saw the balloon turn sharply, and at the same moment I heard a noise like the tearing of a cloth. The piano wires attached to the front of the car to the balloon had broken. Other wires followed suit, the car became detached, and it fell to the ground, 200 yards distant. The balloon itself hurried up in the air and disappeared. I hurried to the spot and found De Braski dead and terribly bruised. Morin was lying under the remainder of the car. He lived but a few moments."

De Braski was a Hungarian Baron, 36 years old, rich and clever, and had been in the diplomatic service. He made his first ascension in 1901. Morin was his engineer. He leaves a widow and three children.

La Chambre, the constructor of the airship, says he had no confidence in the mechanical part of the airship, but says the balloon had perfect stability and constituted real progress, inasmuch as there was no need of a rudder. The defects were that the car was too light, and the motor and guiding screws too weak.

TURKEY DENIES IT.

No Negotiations on Foot to Favor Russia in Dardanelles.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Porte, through the Turkish Ambassador in London, denies the report, cabled from Paris to the London Standard Saturday, that, according to rumors current in the French capital, private negotiations were proceeding between Russia and Turkey which, if successful, would result in an agreement to close the Dardanelles to all but Russian warships. The government of Turkey declares that no negotiations are on foot with the object of opening the Dardanelles to Russian warships.

NORWEGIAN LEGISLATORS IN SESSION.

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 13.—Premier Blehr formally opened the Storting today, reading the speech from the throne. There was nothing of interest in the speech, with the exception of announcements of the appointment of a commission to reorganize the army and of the opening of fresh negotiations to settle the Swedish-Norwegian Consular representation in accordance with the report of the committee, which, as announced March 29, decided in favor of a separate Consular service, thus removing the principal cause of friction between Norway and Sweden.

COURT POET'S SUB TO THE BOERS.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Herr von Willdenbruch, who is called the court poet, owing to Emperor William's special favor, had been active with the committee preparing for the Kaiser's reception here, and was going to deliver the welcoming oration, but since the Generals have forfeited official countenance Willdenbruch suddenly announced that he was going on a trip to the Tyrol for his health, and issued an address to the Berlin public, asking them not to wave their hats, but to give money to the Boers.

Belgian Miners Go on Strike.

MONS, Belgium, Oct. 13.—The miners of three pits in the Grand Hornu colliery went on strike today. The movement threatens to spread through the whole district. An increase of wages is demanded by the miners, on the ground that the price of coal has risen in consequence of the strikes in the United States and France.

PROMINENT SURGEON DEAD

Dr. William B. Whitehead Passes Away at His Home in Denver.

DENVER, Oct. 13.—Dr. William Riddick Whitehead, one of the most distinguished physicians and surgeons in the West, died of heart disease this evening at his home in this city. He was 70 years of age, a native of Virginia. He was a graduate of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, and of the School of Medicine in Paris. He served as a surgeon in the Crimean War, and was made a Knight of the Imperial Order of St. Stanislaus by the Czar, in recognition of his services. He served in the Confederacy. He was captured at Gettysburg, but escaped from Fort Mifflin and made his way to the South by way of Canada, Bermuda and a blockade-runner.

Dr. Whitehead was the author of many works on medicine and surgery. He established the medical departments of the Denver University and the University of Colorado. He left a wife, two sons, Charles B. and Frank Whitehead, of Denver, and a daughter, the wife of Captain A. H. Whitehead, of the regular Army, now stationed at Ft. Platt, N. Y. Mrs. Whitehead is now visiting her daughter at Plattsburg.

TURKEY PROTESTS TO POWERS.

Bulgaria is Charged With Sheltering Macedonians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—The Porte has sent a circular to the powers complaining that Bulgaria is inadequately guarding her frontier, that she is permitting Macedonian bands to cross, and that the remnants of these bands, after being dispersed by the Turkish troops, recross the frontier and find shelter in Bulgarian territory. The Turkish Government also complains that a revolutionary banner was recently consecrated in the Bulgarian monastery at Rio, and that commands to revolutionary bands have been appointed to Bulgarian reserve officers. Turkish reinforcements have been sent to Remir-Hissar, Roumelia, to strengthen the frontier borders.

FINNISH PEOPLE WILL PROTEST.

Delays Desired in Official Introduction of Russian Language.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 13.—Several members of the Finnish Court of Appeals have been removed because they opposed the application of the new obligatory prescription law in their jurisdiction. The members of the Diet representing the rural population are preparing to present to the authorities at St. Petersburg, through the Land Marshals, who is the president of the Diet, a petition in behalf of the entire Finnish people for the limitation of the imperial manifesto relating to Finnish laws, and also for the postponement or modification of the introduction of the Russian language in official procedure.

AGRICULTURAL DISTURBANCE IN SICILY PROVES SERIOUS.

ROME, Oct. 13.—An agricultural strike has broken out in the district of Syracuse, Sicily. Carbiniers who were sent to preserve order were received at Calatrata with volleys of stones. They fired their revolvers in the air, but they failed to overawe the rioters, who dragged one of the soldiers into a house and killed him. The carbiniers then endeavored to retreat to their barracks to procure their rifles, but they were so closely pressed by the mob that they were compelled to fire their revolvers in self-defense, with the result that two peasants were killed and others wounded.

Macedonian Uprising More Serious.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Volo, Greece, says that 22 villages in Macedonia are in complete revolt and that half a battalion of Turkish troops have been annihilated by insurgents in the Krcena gelle. This news, continues the dispatch, emanates from sources which have hitherto minimized the trouble. The situation, consequently, appears to have suddenly grown worse.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family in the Autumn Season.

After the labors and toils of the Summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early Autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble in some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the hard fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

To the thousands of rundown, sickly and half-dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood, which causes rheumatism; it feeds the nerves, which are diseased; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in Autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe Winter.

CATARRH OF HEAD AND THROAT

The head and throat become diseased from neglected colds, causing Catarrh when the condition of the blood predisposes to this condition. "Is your hearing falling?" "Do your ears discharge?" "Do your ears itch and burn?" "Are the ears dry and scaly?" "Have you pain behind the ears?" "Is there throbbing in the ears?" "Do your ears hum or buzz?" "Do you have a ringing in the ears?" "Are there crackling sounds heard?" "Do you have a feeling of fullness?" "Do you have earache occasionally?" "Do you have a feeling of heat?" "Do your ears burn?" "Do you constantly hear noises in the ears?" "Do you hear better some days than others?" "Do the noises in your ears keep you awake?" "When you blow your nose do the ears crack?" "Is bearing worse when you have a cold?" "Is roaring like a waterfall in the head?"

CATARRH OF STOMACH

This condition may result from several causes, but the usual cause is catarrh, the mucus dropping down into the throat and being swallowed.

CATARRH OF BRONCHIAL TUBES

This condition often results from catarrh extending from the head and throat, and is left unchecked, extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes, and in time attacks the lungs. "Have you a cough?" "Are you losing flesh?" "Is there pain in the chest?" "Have you pain in the side?" "Do you have cold sweats?" "Is your appetite variable?" "Have you stitches in the side?" "Do you cough until you gag?" "Are you low-spirited at times?" "Do you raise frothy mucus?" "Do you cough on going to bed?" "Do you cough in your sleep?" "Is your cough short and hacking?" "Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?" "Have you a disgust for fatty foods?" "Is there tickling behind the palate?" "Do you have a feeling of heat?" "Do you feel you are growing weaker?" "Is there a burning pain in the throat?" "Do you cough worse at night?" "Do you have to sit up at night to get breath?"

SYMPTOMS OF EAR TROUBLES

Deafness and ear troubles result from catarrh passing along the Eustachian tube that leads from the throat to the ear.
