AMUSEMENTS.
MARQUAM GRAND THEATRE-Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, J. H. Stoddard in "The Bonnie Brier Bush."

FIRST ARION SOCIETY CONCERT-The first concert of the present season of the Arion Society, under the direction of Louis Dammasch, took place before a large audience in Arion hall last night.

THE BAKER THEATRE-Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, Nell Stock Company in "Friends."

CONVICTS' THEATRE-Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, "The Convict's Daughter."

Mr. Wynate as John Paden achieved one of his best successes since coming to Portland. Howard Russell is quite at home in the character of Adrian Karje, a young and ambitious musician, and he is winning great praise for his work.

"Friends" continues to draw crowded houses, and the advance sale indicates large business for the remainder of the week.

"The Wife" to Open at the Baker. What will probably rank as one of the most pronounced successes of the present dramatic season is the beautiful drama from the pen of David Belasco and Harry M. Miller, "The Wife," as presented by the incomparable Nell Stock Company.

Mr. Frohman plays an extended engagement throughout the United States with his Lyceum Company, among whom were George Cayvan, Herbert Keiley, Effie Shannon, J. Le Roy, Nelson Wheatcroft and Bessie Tyne, all of which have been at the head of their own company since.

Charles Wynate will have an excellent opportunity as John Rutherford, a United States Senator. Miss Countess will be at her best as Helen Truman, daughter of Elias Truman (Fred Mower), a member of the Produce Exchange.

Matthew Culver, a newspaper man, who manages to get everybody in trouble; Howard Russell as Jack Dexter, and Elsie Esmond as Kittle Ives, will furnish foundation of bright comedy, and Miss Gleason as Mrs. Bellamy Ives will have a character to which she is well suited.

The entire company will be exceptionally well cast, and Mr. Morris promises one of the best productions ever seen at popular prices in this city. "The Wife" will be given the first presentation Sunday afternoon at the Baker Theatre, and will run all next week.

DINNER IN HONOR OF CONSUL MILLER.-An informal dinner will be given at Hotel Portland tomorrow night in honor of H. B. Miller, by the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade and Manufacturers' Association.

DEMONSTRATION AT COOKING SCHOOL.-The first demonstration lecture of the season was given by Miss Voorhies yesterday afternoon at the School of Domestic Science. Three delicious dishes, a pure of spinach, "meatloaf" or baked meat loaf and a salad of cabbage and lettuce, with a French dressing, were made and served to the class, most of whom were enthusiastic young housekeepers.

FALLS ON LEAVING STREET-CAR-In her haste to alight from a Washington-street car at Sixth street, about 4:30 P. M. yesterday, Miss Estelle Hurley, an employe of Watson's restaurant, in the hands of H. B. Miller, by the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade and Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Garvan is an accomplished scholar, speaks the French, Spanish and Latin languages fluently, and is equipped in the lines of literary and commercial instruction. He will assist in the tuition of various branches in the university.

HARRIS AND HAMMOND BOUND OVER.-William Harris, the baseball player, and George Hammond, were before Judge Hogue yesterday charged with the larceny of two pairs of pants from the store of the Salem Woolen Mills Company, Third street. Through their lawyer, they waived examination and were each held in $500 bail for the grand jury.

FINED FOR NOT HAVING LICENSES.-C. B. Hand, R. Hochell, Jacob Blum, J. J. Kaddery and M. J. Gill were each fined $5 yesterday by Judge Hogue, charged with carrying on their business without having obtained a city license. The necessary licenses have now been taken out.

HANGMAN'S ROPE BROKE. Spectators Saw an Omen in It, and the Condemned Man Escaped. Denver Post.

"Although I never saw but one hanging, I witnessed a sight that even professional hangmen have not seen," said A. A. Albrecht, of Columbus, Miss., who is at the St. James. "It was at my home. A young Mississippian named Purdy had been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang. The evidence was wholly circumstantial, and before he was accused of that crime the young man had borne an excellent reputation. He was also connected by marriage with some of the best people in the state.

"Nevertheless, he was sentenced to hang, and the Governor would not reprieve him. There were two factions in the community, one believing him guilty and the other considering him innocent. The latter talked of rescue, but it was all talk.

"The scaffold was not inclosed, and when young Purdy ascended the gallows he walked erect and fearless. He denied his guilt, and all who saw him were compelled to admit his bearing was that of an innocent man. The black cap was pulled over his face, the Sheriff pulled a lever, and the next we saw was a man getting up from the ground, snatching the black cap from his head and declaring dramatically: 'God has proved my innocence.'

"The rope had broken. That was enough. Former enemies turned into adherents, and before the Sheriff could again take his prisoner to the gallows and get another rope he was in the center of a crowd of thousands of people, all of whom were swearing there were not Sber-

CAREY ACT A BLUNDER?

"NO, IT'S THE BEST CONGRESS EVER PASSED," SAYS C. M. IDLEMAN.

Attorney for Oregon Development Company Defends Project Which Seeks to Invest $700,000.

"The Carey act a blunder? No, sir; it's the best irrigation act Congress ever made. Yes, sir; the very best, and don't you forget it."

"This is what C. M. Idleman said yesterday before the attorney for the Oregon Development Company, which is seeking to invest $700,000 in the Deschutes country in reclaiming arid land.

"The Carey act does not give land to the possession of any company. How, then, are we landgrabbers? It gives merely a lien on the land for the cost of reclamation. How, then, are we grafters? It is open to reason that this is a fair condition to my proposal.

"Of course, Walker Basin, in Deschutes valley, is the best country in Oregon for irrigation. That's why we're here. But it's no reason why we're grafters. If our company stands ready to invest $700,000 toward the reclamation of Walker Basin, should not the Government permit us to go ahead, thereby giving its own money for other parts of the state. Are there no arid lands in Harney, Malheur, Baker, Umatilla, Lake and other counties, where private irrigation enterprise has not entered, and where the Government money is needed?

"To interfere with private enterprise is against the spirit of Americanism. For a Government to do so is in the nature of paternalism. It breeds dependents. It precludes emulation and competition, the elements of American progressiveness. The National irrigation law does not mean to throttle private enterprise. It is in no way in conflict with the Carey act, except in so far as certain persons would make it so. The Carey act is for private projects.

"The National law is for Government projects—projects that could not be carried out by private capital.

"We have expended thousands of dollars already, and are willing to spend more if public sentiment in the state will let us. But we cannot encounter a hostile public sentiment. The men back of this enterprise will rather pull out and go to a place where their interests are not so involved. At this time we are in a position to deny us this, possibly those who have axes to grind or sheep to fatten on the public domain.

"It has been said that our company has no capital and that our engineers have no ability. 'But will anybody say that Henry Doerr, of Minneapolis, is a man without capital, or that Moses Stark and Charles Lian, of that same city, are land-grabbers, whose only object is to delay reclamation of Walker Basin?'

"Does anybody say that Major Alfred F. Sears, Sr., four months ago, with Walker Basin with two corps of engineers, in running 50 miles of main canal, taking levels and measuring supply of water, is an unskilled engineer?

"Does anybody say that the Oregon Development Company, after keeping engineers in the field for months, expending many thousands of dollars, submitting its plans, specifications and maps to the State Land Board, and obtaining a contract for the outlay of $700,000, is a crowd of adventurers or land-grabbers?'

"Does anybody say that the state is defrauded after the Land Board gave the matter five or six months' deliberation? The Attorney-General and Hon. George H. Williams were advisers before the board executed the contract. They demanded the change of $2 1/2 per acre a fair one for reclaiming the land. So did Major Sears, the state's own engineer, and Mr. Dillman, whom the board later sent out at our expense to verify what Major Sears had done.

"Does anybody say my company is a grafter, because it has desired to begin work for many months and is still held back by delay in Washington in the execution of the contract? Is it a land-grabber because it has been retarded by persons who have vainly tried to graft from it?'

"Is it not time that grafters, who have axes to grind or sheep to fatten on the public domain, should cease to hold up a company that has been ready to begin work for months? Ours is a bona fide corporation, organized under the laws of Oregon. Its capital is all subscribed by investors outside the state, except that small part necessary for the organization of the company.

"A word to persons who think the Carey act is a land-grabbers' law: Under that act, not one acre of land can be acquired by a corporation. Under the contract in pursuance of that law, the cost of furnishing water per year per acre, 75 cents, is one-third less than in almost any other state in which similar contracts have been let."

Edison Phonographs

Are as popular as ever. As an entertainer at home they are unequalled.

Every pleasure that sound can give is condensed on its cylinders, and the privilege of "boxing" your own—and your friend's voices for future use is a never-fading source of enjoyment.

Its variety is inexhaustible, for as long as human genius keeps on producing new music, new recitations, new instruments, the phonograph goes on making permanent the otherwise fleeting pleasure.

The charm of the enjoyment depends on the clearness and accuracy of the reproduction, and for this reason the Edison phonograph gives greater satisfaction than any other device sold for this purpose.

With the new reproducer and new molded records, the phonograph is perfect. For sale by
