Local Markets Quiet Tuesday; Steels, Rails Lead Advance In Stock

BEAN AND CHERRY PRICES TAKE DROP ON LOCAL LISTINGS

Following the sunsprune changes of Tuesday, local markets were all fairly quiet Wednesday.

With local grown green beans coming in a bit more plentifully, the market price is weakening some.

Cherries are down some, too, but the season on them this year is erratic and short.

All produce—eggs, poultry, butter, butterfat, cheese, etc., remained unchanged Wednesday.

ECONOMIC REPORTS STIMULATE BUYING; MART CLOSES FIRM

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP)—Led by the Steels and Rails a slow recovery movement got under way in today's stock market.

While drought and steel labor developments were still far from cheerful, the general run of economic news stimulated buying. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Despite crop shortage prospects, western carriers responded to hopes that earnings from other sources would bridge this gap. Federal relief for the Northwestern districts was deemed a certainty and farm implements stocks got back on their feet.

Brokers said the apparently serious split in the ranks of labor may have induced a friendlier attitude toward the Steels.

THURSDAY'S BILLS

McDONALD: "Forgotten Faces" and "And Sudden Death." (Wednesday evening, same program).

HEILIG: "The Last Outlaw" and "Go-Get-Em Haines." (Wednesday evening, "Soak the Rich" and "Give Us This Night").

STATE: "Stormy" and "The Lawless Nineties." (Wednesday evening, "King of the Damned").

MAYFLOWER: "Snowed Under." (Wednesday evening, "The Story of Louis Pasteur").

REX: "San Francisco" and "The Law in Her Hands." (Wednesday show Wednesday).

The Heilig has a western film for the carriage trade starting today. Termed "The Last Outlaw" plot is not formula, and it has vigorous acting by Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, and Henry B. Walthall (P.).

The other half of the bill is by Bill Boyd, who sings and sells his way through a shilling shocker labeled "Go-Get-Em Haines," under on shipboard.

* * *

The Mayflower has the maximum of the season in "Snowed Under," a brightly acted matrimonial hash stirred up by George Brent, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell, Frank Ellis, Frank Melinch and Helen Lowell. Fun! On Tuesday only.

* * *

Perfume provides the menace in "Forgotten Faces," and the valuable claim of Herbert Marshall to it up. Gertrude Michael plays very unpleasant wife and mother in this. "And Sudden Death" is a very effective title from the Reader's Digest article, and has to do a plot around it filled with crashes. Randolph Scott is a police officer, Frances Drake is a lady who likes speed, and Brown drives while drunk.

* * *

The State is filled with bullets flesh as both "Storm" and "Lawless Nineties" flash across the screen. The former has some beautiful shots of wild-horse herds, thunderous stampede, and I. Farrell MacDonald. The latter has John Wayne, lots of shooting, and some horses.

* * *

The Rex will carry on with "San Francisco" and "The Law in Her Hands," taking on the screen the McDonald. As for the first, people seem to like this slice of life from the nineteen-hundreds.
