TENTH OF A MILLION DUCKS.-Sunday proved an unfavorable day for duck-hunters generally, and it is to be feared that the inmates of some of the charitable in-stitutions will be disappointed in the matter of the feast of ducks they have been expecting. A few clubs had fair shooting, but the greater number had poor luck. Sheriff Storey, Watt Monteith and a party, 15 in all, went down to Deer Island expressly to shoot for charity. The island is one of the best shooting grounds on the river, but they had the worst luck imaginable, it is said, the whole party getting only 18 ducks. Some of the hunters who could see no ducks flying were of opinion that they had all gone off up country, but one of the best and most up country, but one of the best and most successful sportsmen on the river says that Sunday afternoon he sat on a fence and watched a mass of ducks clustered in a space of not over 10 acres, and he is willing to wager his existence that there was not less than 100,090 ducks in the lot They were in a large resting lake, where they had gone to get out of reach of shooters, and, as it was bright and sunshiny, they would not fly. He says there will be no more such big shooting this season, as there was two and three weeks ago, but there are still lots of ducks in the country. Any one would be likely to believe this after seeing 100,000 ducks in a

IMPRESSED BY FINE TIMBER.-Two strangers spent some time yesterday look-ing over a lot of timbers in the ground floor of the Weinhard block. The timbers were about 12x12, and are intended for floor beams and supports for the upper stories of the building. There is no sign of heart in most of them, and the wood is fine-grained, white and clear of knots, cracks or defects of any kind. Finally the strangers said they were from Detroit, and were in the building business there. and they wanted to know where such lumber was obtained, saying that, although they had very good timber in Michigan, they had never seen such a lot of beautiful sticks in their lives. They were told that timber of this kind was plentiful in Oregon, but there was some difficulty in procuring it at this time, when all the mills are overcrowded, and it is almost impossible to get orders for any kind of lumber filled on time

How ARE THESE FOR APPLES?-It would seem that the limit of large apples must be reached even in Oregon sometime; but the Permanent Exhibit has just received a trio which throw all the other apples received this year in the shade complete-Benton County, across the river from Albany, has sent in three Baldwins, which measure 15 inches around and weigh 14 ounds each, and are also perfect eauties. He has just sold 300 boxes of Baldwins, many of which were "three tier" fruit, and this is something hereto-fore unknown among Baldwin apples. The three sent in take the cake as the largest and finest apples seen here this year or probably any other year; but when Mr. Moore has time to cull, he may find larger ones.

STREETS ALL TORN UP .- Several property-owners on Fifth and Sixth streets are complaining on account of their side-walks having been torn up so long. They contracted to have cement walks put down, had the shade trees removed, etc., and have been paddling through the mud, some of them for about two months, and there are no signs of any new walks yet. When the complainants are told to remember that there has been stormy weather about ever since their walks fault with the poor judgment shown by the contractors in tearing up so many walks at once. Probably the contractors will say that they had no idea there was to be such a long spell of stormy weath-

FUNERAL OF JAMES W. FULLER.-The funeral of James W. Fuller took place yesterday from the private chapel of J. P. Finley & Son, Third and Madison streets, the religious exercises being conducted by Rev. Dr. Eliot, of the Unitarian Church. There was a large attendance of friends and the floral tributes were beautiful. The body was taken to the Portland Crematorium, and was cremated, the pallbearers being: Frank Spencer, Ed Ehrman, W. A. Mears, Ed Lang V. S. Hardy and H. E. Coleman.

MRS. GAY'S SOCIAL TIME.-Mrs. Alice Gay was before Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday, charged with being drunk, and she said: "Your Honor, I want a warrant for the man who assaulted me. He's a Glisan-street saloonkeeper, and he gave me s card, reading: 'Come and have a social time.' I went, and he knocked out one of my teeth, and struck me across the knuckles. O, yes, I had a social time." The case was continued, in order to investigate the woman's charges.

CAPTURED AFTER HOT CHASE.—Deputy Sheriff Adkins had another exciting chase Sheriff Adkins had another exciting chase last night after W. H. H. Read, who was wanted to answer a charge of trespassing on premises occupied by Jennie Lawton, at Ninth and Flanders streets. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Reid, and, as usual, when Adkins called at the Flanders-street house, the defendant was watching. Adkins got a lighted lamp and searched in Read's customary, hiding place, the basement, and Read escaped by a rear door, and ran several blocks, with Adkins in full pursuit after him. At Sixth and Glisan streets Rend disappeared, and Adkins returned to watch near Miss Lawton's house. Like a moth to the flame, Read came back, and then moved off in the direction of the Custom-House, with Adkins in pursuit. When Adkins came up with his man, the latter resisted arrest, and officer and captive had a furious struggle. Ultimately, Adkins got his revolver and said: "See here, Read. "Come with me, or I'll fill you with lead." Read qualled at the sight of the weapon, and said: "All right; I'll go with you." He was taken to the County Jall. MUST NOT FIGHT ON STREET.-Two mer senger boys, Henry Howard and Ned Barnes, were before Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday, charged with fighting on Third street. "We were not fightingwe were only playing on the street," one of the offenders. "But a crowd gathered," remarked the Judge. "Yes, some folks were rubberin". "Did you not know that it was against the law to fight?" "No, we don't," said the boy, stoutly. "Well," said the Judge, after a stouty. Well, said the Judge, after a pause, "you have heard of people being arrested for fighting on the streets?" "Yes," said the boy. "How, then, could we arrest those people, if they had not transgressed the law?" asked the Judge. The other boy then took a hand, and said: "Dunno." "You boys are business boys, not animals." went on the Judge. idea of you two fighting on the For shame. I could fine you, but I dislike to have to send such boys to jail, if your people could not pay the fine. You can go this time, but, remember, no more street fights."

SEA, NOT SALMON, TROUT.-The report er who prepared the market report for Thanksgiving, published yesterday, made one mistake, which set Game Warden Quimby and Assistant Warden Pretty-man to overhauling the markets. He saw some "sea trout" and mistook them for salmon trout, which are out of season. The Game Warden just wanted to find the man who had the salmon trout in his possession, but, of course, he could not be found. The mistake was excusable, as it takes an expert to distinguish sea trout from salmon trout. A man who saw a lot of Philadelphia Reed birds in a market reported to Mr. Quimby that they were meadow larks, and he had to investigate this matter before he could rest easy. There is variety enough in the markets without smuggling in anything out of MASQUERADE BY EAGLES.—The masquerade to be given by the Eagles tomorrew night promises to be one of the events of the season, and, as the best of order will be preserved, it will be as enjoyable as it will prove entertaining. The masquerade will number 20 men and women cakewalkers and buck and wing dancers, who will contest for the cash prizes. For the prize ballroom dancing nearly 100 couples will compete for the awards. These contests will take place between the dancing numbers, and a good night's entertainment is assured. A large floor committee will have charge of the ballroom, and will see that perfect order is preserved. The gen-eral admission to the hall will be 50 cents. and the fee for gentlemen maskers will be $1; lady maskers will be free.

FALLS DEAD OF HEART DISEASE,-After having bidden good-bye to a woman friend, who had called, Mrs. Addie Hoerschner, of 268 Second street, fell dead yesterday morning at her home, as sh had reached the head of the stairs. Her husband is a bartender on Fourth street, near Stark, and yesterday morning, at the breakfast table, she seemed to be in her usual good spirits and chatted pleasantly with him. A few hours afterward she dropped dead. Dr. Strowbridge, who was her medical adviser, states that Mrs.

Hoerschner suffered from heart diseas for some time previous to her death. IF You HAVE in view a trip to the old home-your childhood's home-try the North Coast-Kansas City-St. Louis spe-cial. LOOK OUT FOR THIS TAX .- Quite a number of people who are subject to the occu-pation tax have not yet paid their as-sessments, and notices of their delinquency are being mailed to them by the license department. The amount at present outstanding is not very great, but, as it will be an addition to the city treasury, every effort is being made to collect it. The delinquents will be given a reason time to answer the notices, and if they fail to put in an appearance before the last day named they will be arrested, and will have to stand trial before the Muni-

AFTER THE SALOONKEEPER Now.-Charges of drunkenness and going into a liquor saloon were proceeded with vesterday in the Municipal Court against two women, and Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald stated that, so far as he knows, there is no law to prevent a woman from going into a saloon. "But there is a city ordinance against the proprietor of a sa-loon allowing a woman to enter his barroom," went on Mr. Fitzgerald. The cases against the women were dismissed, and the police are now working on the other aspect of the matter.

"Hearts of Oak."

Terry Dennison James Horne Ruby DarrellEdward Wonn Owen Garroway....J. Leonard Clarke Mr. EllinghamAlbert Wahle Foreman of the Mill William Nash Clerk of the Mill Walter Coupe ChrystalGrace Estelle Clarke Little ChrystelLeona Evans

The play at the Marquam last night was The play at the Marquam last night was James A. Herne's "Hearts of Oak," a drama with the old plot, where a man surrenders his sweetheart, goes away, returns to find her married and with a child, discovers that he still loves her, and, when the husband stumbles upon the knowledge, once more renounces his love. In this play his renunciation is unavail-ing, for it is the husband who departs, not to return till all thought him dead and marriage has forever united those separated so long.

For so clear and moving a story there is required the interpretation of kindly and adequate ability. It must be confessed that the company in this case is unequal to its task. Climax after climax comes, only to meet with feeble, almost futile effort. Such a drama, touching as it so wonderfully does the ultimate bounds of emotion, should be in good

James Horne, in the role of Terry Dennison, falls completely to measure up to the one in the lane, is a listening car satisfied and then, just on the eve of achieving manly and affecting pathos, he drops into commonplace. Ruby Darrell, in the hands of Edward Donn, fares better. Mr. Wonn is certainly very inex-perienced, but his amateurish frankness saves two or three situations nobly. Yet he too, when he has the chance to do everything, slips by on the other side of success. Leonard Clarke makes Owen Garroway really a good hit, though here again one feels at times a maddening lack of true comprehension.

There are two people in the cast who redeem the play from barrenness. One of these is a brilliant actress by the name of Grace Estelle Clarke and the other is W. J. Gross, whose Uncle Davy is real-istically and artistically done. For Miss Clarke's acting it may be said that she has strength and sureness. It would be unfair to say that she proved so great a relief from the others that apprecia-tion is a reaction. Coldly considered, her work will stand. As Chrystal she moved in a gracious plane above criticism of the coarser sort. Better than her acting in the scene in the lane one could not de-It was noble, it was womanly, it

After this unpleasant criticism one ca cease to complain. "Hearts of Oak" gives much opportunity for kindly humor and pictures of domestic happiness. Two or three scenes carry themselves right to the heart. Still, for bachelors, it is to be surmised that the baby will be emas little Chrystal, and her slender pipe was charmingly natural and unaffected. There are several heavy pieces of scen effect, none very successful. Apart from these attempts at the seemingly impos-sible, there is nothing to detract from the genuine pleasure to be got from watching the work of Miss Clarke and the little ones.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Robson in "The Comedy of Errors." Stuart Robson, who appears in "The Comody of Errors" at the Marquam Grand next Wednesday night and Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee, probably has done more than any other American actor of any time to place this delightful Shakespearian comedy in its proper place in dramatic literature. Mr. Robson has always stoutly maintained that "The always stoutly maintained that "The Comedy of Errors" is a comedy of the highest order, while many persons, not overdeep students of Shakespeare, have been inclined to regard it as a farce pure and simple. Critics of today, however, almost to a unit, have come to accept Mr. Dobson's view as correct and credit the actor with having done for the play what the aged Macklin did towards rescuing Shylock from the buffooneries of the clown comedian.

On Thanksgiving night Mr. Robson will revive his other old-time success, "The Henrietta," appearing as Bertie the Lamb, the part he created with great success at the old Union-Square Theater, in New York. The advance sale opened yesterday morning.

MANY CATTLEMEN GOING

Large Delegation to Kansas City Will Capture Livestock Convention.

A large delegation will go from Portland to Kansas City to attend the National Livestock convention January 13-14. This question is settled, and the only question left to decide is that of how large the delegation will be. Several carloads of citizens will make the trip. The gentlemen mean to have the 1994 convention held in Portland. Judge S. A. Lowell, of Pendieton, will invite the convention to Port-land. He has been chosen as the spokesman of the delegation by a committee of citizens of this city. This committee met yesterday. It resolved to ask all persons who desire to go to Kansas City to make known their intention to J. W. Bailey, State Dairy and Food Commissioner. The railroads have granted half rates for the excursion. The cost of the round trip to each person will be less than $100. Mr. Bailey already has a list of excursionists sufficient for one Pullman sleeper. At Kansas City a public dinner will be served in the leading hotel. The dinner will have a special Oregon bill of fare. Oregon roast beef, salmon, fruit, bread and vegetables will be served, and the dinner will be set off by a profusion of Oregon roses. It is expected that the provisions for this dinner will be donated by Oregon citizens. A fund of $1600 will be raised by public subscription for badges, printing and headquarters at Kansas City. The excursionists will pay their own ex-

SOME STYLES OF MARTIN GUITARS

About 1845 Madame de Goni had a guitar made by C. F. Martin for her concert work. This was long known as the De Goni model, now No. 1. Such has been the progress of guitar-playing that this size then the largest, is now the smallest Martin regularly made. It runs in price from $25 to $70.

The famous Martin concert guitar is No. 0.88 price $25.

from $35 to $70.

The famous Martin concert guitar is No. 0-28, price $45. This is recommended in every way. Of late years a grand concert has been added, which is stronger, and on that account preferred by some. Both these sizes are made in finer styles, up to $100. Style 00-42, at $50, is popular for clubs and professional playing. Catalogue on application.
