Multnomah to Play Oregon's Star Team Christmas.

University of Oregon Graduates and Best Players From Eugene Will Form a Strong Eleven-Faculty Gives Consent.

Arrangements were perfected last even-ing for a Christmas football game between Multnomah and an All-Oregon eleven, consisting of the present University of Oregon team and alumni. The 'varsity will send down its best men, who will be greatly strengthened by addition of Jak-way, Ziegler, Charles Templeton, Bradley, Wagner and a number of other old-time

The players will assemble in this city on Monday, December 22, and will begin practice for the big contest. In age, weight and experience, the All-Oregon team will be one of the strongest aggre-gations that ever set foot on M. A. A. C. field, and the contest with Multnomah ought to be well worth seeing.

Fred Ziegler, 1992, will appear in his old position at left end, and Jakway, 1991, will be pitted against Pratt, at left tackle. Charles Templeton, 1899, and Bradley, 1899, two 'varsity players of days gone by, will appear behind the line, while Wagner. 1901, or McKinney, Oregon's present cen-ter, will pass the ball from the scrimmage line. There is a possibility of several other Oregon graduates appearing in the lineer Oregon graduates appearing in the line-up, among them being Coleman, Wilson and Edmunson. None but amateur ath-letes in good standing will be allowed to play in the game, and the club men will play the same line-up as in previous games of the season. Captain Homer Watts will be shifted from tackle to end or halfback, and as he is a very speedy man, ought to make a good showing. The presence of the alumni players will instill esence of the alumni players will instill nfidence into the 'varsity boys, and they will come to Portland determined to give Multiomath the hardest struggle on record.

The clubraen realize that the All-Oregon team will prove a difficult proposition, and from now on rigid practice will be in op-der. The university team will not practice until the latter part of next week, when light signal work will be under-taken. After the team assembles here, the finishing touches will be put on, and preparations made for the best game of the year. Officials for the contest will be agreed upon this evening.

MORE CLAIMS FROM SEATTLE.

Basket-Ball Captain Asserts Title to Unearned Championship.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 10 .- (To the Edttor.)-I see by The Oregonian of December 8 that you take delight in running the Seattle basket-ball team down. You seem to think that the Portland Y. M. C. has a better right to the championship of the Coast than the Seattle team had. It is one thing to think a team holds the championship and another thing for them to prove it. If you have a little spare time I would like to give you a few true recorded facts, not assumed ones. first place, Seattle is on its third season without a single defeat. Can Portland show such a record? No.
Next, Seattle scored 486 points last year against 102 by her opponents, a differ Can any other team show the same scores? Next, Scattle has defeated Portland for the last four years by scores from 2 to 1 to 2 to 1. Two years ago Portland made a trip to Victoria, B. C., where she was defeated. Last year, besides being defeated by Se-attle 44 to 19, she was defeated by Vancouver, B. C., and she was also defeated a team in the small town of Salem, While Portland was losing Scattle was winning by large scores from Victoria. B. C., Tacoma, Wash., Spokane, Wash., and a number of other teams.

One of your papers came out and said that it was a well-known fact that Scattle had been practicing on the Armory floor prior to the Oakland games for a week or I would like to say that two of our team had never been on the floor until the night of the games, and that the other three had not been on the floor since 1898 she defeated Portland, 21 to 27 I take it for granted that the facts were furnished to you, and were not of your own writing, and I can put my hand on the man that gave them to you.

WILLIAM D. TEMPLE Captain Seattle Y. M. C. A. Basket-Ball Team, Champions Pacific Coast.

It is very fortunate that the Seattle Y. M. C. A. basket-ball people have at last come to the front and presented some tangible arguments as to why they should be considered the Pacific Coast champions. The only source of information regarding the matter heretofore available has been news columns of the Seattle papers, which, as has been said before, have very remarkable systems of reasoning and fig-uring, and on that account they are a trifle unrellable as to facts. Now, however, it is all settled, as any one can see, by the above epistle.

But suppose the letter is taken itself and the charges tackled one by one. take them all at once would be like stop-ping the morth wind with a bellows, and just as impracticable. The only thing to do is to take the letter piecemeal and work out the Seattle idea from the start. In rgard to the opening sentence, not a single word deprecatory to the Scattle Y. M. C. A. was uttered in the article referred to, as any one can see by reading it. The matter was simply mentioned in connection with the fact that the Seattle papers were great claimers

Next, it was not stated that Portland

Seattle claim, which any one has a per-

"It is one thing to think a team holds the championship and another thing to prove it." This was virtually the advice offered to the Seattle papers, and it still would be well worth their reading. It was never proved that the Scattle team won

In regard to the many statements of the wonderful records that Seattle has made in the past, they have no bearing on the subject. Last year is not this year, and what the Seattle team did last year or the year before has nothing to do with the matter. Harvard won from Yale last year, but that doesn't signify that they hold the championship this year. A game was necessary to settle it, and a game should settle the basket-ball question in the same way.

Whether one of the Portland papers came out and said that the Seattle team had been practicing on the Armory ground has nothing to do with the point at issue. The Seattle players may have practiced, or they may not have practiced in the Armory. If they didn't, and think it was to Oakland's advantage, let them take into consideration that the Oakland team was worn out by two hard games when they bit Seattle, and that they were practically fresh when they hit Portland.

The meaning of the paragraph about the facts being furnished is not clear, but if they were facts, as the Seattle captain says they were, then what's he kicking about? The Oregonian took its material from the Seattle papers, and from no one else, and the Seattle papers are to blame.

and not The Oregonian.

Lastly, it cannot be said that the letterwriter has explained or made the matter any clearer. He simply butts into print with the remark that Seattle is the Pacific Coast, which is incorrect, so far as an unprejudiced observer can see.

The following quotation is taken from the article in The Oregonian which the correspondent has been hitting so hard: We are not aware that the Portland Y. M. C. A. All-Star team claims the championship, but they will resist the claim of Scattle until a game can be pulled off that will really settle the matter one way or the other. As has been remarked before in these columns, scores made in games count for a lot more than those made on paper.

COLLEGE STUDENTS FINED.

They Forcibly Took Away Speculators' Tickets to Football Game. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 12.—Brad-ford Ellsworth, of New York; William R. Orthwein, of St. Louis; William Barnum, of Mammaroneck, N. Y.; Harold P. Saw yer, of Bridgeport, Conn., and John A. Moorehead, of Pittsburg, Yale students, were arraigned in the City Court today on charge of breach of the peace, preferred by Sidney Treeder, a ticket speculator. The alleged assault occurred on the night of November 20, when a crowd of students on Yale campus took away from Treede his tickets for the Yale-Harvard football game. A nolle was entered in the case against Moorehead, Ellsworth was fined $200, and Barnum, Sawyer and Orthwein were fined $100 each, after counsel for the men had handed in pleas of nolle con-tenders. The fines were paid.

The session of the committee was executive, and at the close it was announced that a further conference would be held January 5 at a place to be elected by Mr. Johnson. The principal business transacted by the National League members today was the abolition of the executive committee and the unanimous selection of Harry Pulliam, of Pittsburg, to the consolidated offices of president, secretary and treasurer. Before the election of Mr. Pulliam, a letter of resignation from N. E. Young was read. Mr. Young has directed the affairs of the National League for many years and retired because of ill health. He further intimated that a statement as to the exact location of the new grounds might be looked for in a day or two. The American League will, it is understood, insist in the peace nego-tiations that contracts with players now signed be rigidly lived up to. This means that large salaries, if peace is declared, will be maintained only until the present contracts expire, when they will be greatly reduced. The American League will also insist that each organization retain the players it now has, and severe pen-alties be meted out to those who violate the contracts.
