PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

To the Patrons of Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

DEAR BRETHREN: In a few days I expect to start East to attend the meeting of the National Grange, and propose to be absent [illegible] about ten weeks. [illegible] Worthy Master, Bro. D. [illegible], Oswego, Clackamas county, Oregon.

I beg to call the attention of the Patrons of Oregon, enforcing the Washington Patrons, making the organ of our Order a leading organ. Patrons to give it a hearty and united support. Brethren, we need a paper devoted to the interests of the farmer. It should at once furnish us an account of the current events of importance, the state of the crops, markets, &c, give us a medium through which to exchange our ideas and experiences, and furnish our families a weekly repast of such pure and wholesome miscellaneous literature as is best suited to their wants. Such a paper requires a large outlay of means, labor, and talent, and cannot be furnished us without adequate support. Let me urge you, therefore, to give our own paper a cordial support; subscribe for it, write for it, work for it, so that we may have a farmer's paper worthy of the name and second to none.

Fraternally yours,

A. R. SHIPLEY,

Master Oregon State Grange.

GRANGE MEETINGS.

By invitation, Marion County Pomona Grange will visit Rock Point Grange on Friday the 1st day of November next, at 10 o'clock a. m. and will hold in fourth degree. We hope to see a full attendance. Also, by special invitation, we (the P. G. of Marion Co.) will meet with Round Prairie Grange at Brooks' Station on the 4th day of December next at 10 o'clock a. m., to participate in a grand celebration of the anniversary of our Order. Let every member that can, be present.

DAN'L CLARK,

Master Marion Co. P. G.

How glorious will be the time when the coming farmer will assist in driving the car of government. The reins have so long been held by men of interests opposed to the farmer, that they have arrived at the conclusion that they only know how to drive, and they are dreadfully afraid these men who "dig and delve in the dirt" will learn how, and then they will be looking out for employment. Of course they are disinterested, for in unskillful hands the team might become unmanageable, run away with these poor ignorant farmers who don't know the roads, and smash everything to pieces. The farmer as he now is, is more deserving of honor than the most of our senators and representatives. For it is more dignified employment to make good butter and cheese, raise abundant crops and fine stock than to make bad laws.—Exchange.

Some Good Topics.

The Iowa Farmer suggests the following subjects for essays, talks or discussions in the grange during the winter months:

Ought the women folks on a farm to do the milking? If so, why? If not why not?

What parts or how much of the garden making and cultivating ought to be considered women's work? Or is that properly men's work?

What conveniences can men put up themselves about the house to make the women's work easier, such as cupboards, shelves, clothes reels, nails, pegs, boxes, drawers, towels bars or lines, etc.

What can women do to make the home more attractive, pleasant, cheerful, comfortable, elevating, beautiful?

Ought the women to be expected to do the churning?

For the boys' and girls' interest here are some topics that would be good:

Ought the children on a farm to have chickens, calves, pigs, lambs, colts, etc. to be especially their own individual property? If so, why, and at what age? If not, why?

Is it best for farm girls to hire out to work for others for so much per week, or, if they do work out, should they be paid for their labor, why, how?

Is it best for farm girls to be employed in sewing, washing, ironing, scrubbing, wringing and mangling, scouring the knives, tending baby, etc? What good reasons can you give either in favor of or against the practice?

What can we do to provide more of healthful pastimes, more fun, frolic, amusement, recreation, wholesome pleasantry or social enjoyment for the people of farm families?

THE MARKETS.

The Wheat Market.

Since last week wheat has again gradually advanced from 80 cents to 85 cents per bushel here at Salem, which figure it reached on Tuesday. This is on the basis of 81.70 per cental at Portland, sacked for shipment. The Afghanistan war seems to cause distrust and perhaps the rise is due in part to that, but the advance does not seem to affect wheat on the spot at Liverpool, but is shown in higher prices named for orders for shipment on this coast. There has been a great difference between "spot" wheat and orders, all the fall, and it is perhaps only natural that orders should approximate to same price as spot wheat, for there have been years when orders were higher than wheat in store at Liverpool. We do not attach much importance to war rumors, so far as they threaten the peace of Europe.

Spot wheat in Liverpool shows little change for a month past. Orders have advanced a shilling on the 500 ℔ within a week.

Tonnage is abundant, with little doing in charters. Freights still rule low, and heavy shipments are being made to California. The Portland market is not easily understood, and Salem buyers claim that they are at the top figure.

Freight trains on all the roads are heavily loaded with grain, and the river traffic is brisk. It is probable that vessels can be easily loaded if they will pay the ruling figure. As to the future of the market, it is not easy to say anything about it with confidence. It is probable the price will be maintained.

We hear it estimated by persons engaged in transportation, that there will be a falling-off of 25,000 tons in the wheat surplus of the Willamette and Umpqua Valley, equal to 750,000 bushels. Marion seems to be the only county that has produced more than in 1877, due, no doubt, to the amount of dry land in the county, and the clearing up of thousands of acres of grub land, which is always dry, and unusually productive. So much of this clearing is going on in the hills of this county, as well as on the prairies, that it is predicted Marion will soon be the greatest wheat-producing county in the State. Salem warehouses have stored more wheat than ever before.

The deficiency is said to exist mainly in the upper valley counties, and especially in Linn county, whose prairies last year were unfortunate, owing to the dry spring. As a consequence, less wheat than usual was stored at Albany; also owing to the fact that the railroad policy is to discriminate against river points, instead of in their favor, as formerly. The present year promises to be favorable to grain production, and we may expect the harvest of '79 to be the largest ever gathered in Oregon.

N. Ten Bosch & Co., of San Francisco, commission dealers and wheat buyers, who had numerous vessels chartered at high figures, failed the other day in consequence of the low freights. Several of their vessels are in the Columbia River, and their charters are thrown up. It seems that J. M. Tenbo c'o, of Portland, their agent, is not implicated in the failure, but buys for responsible dealers on his own account. He referred us to responsible Portland bankers in proof of his ability to meet his engagements, and they inform us that he has heavy deposits with them to purchase cargoes for responsible houses; that he has their confidence as a prudent and careful business man. As Mr. Tenbosch is disposed to purchase at good figures direct from interior warehouses, we make this statement for him. The gentlemen to whom he gives reference, are of the most responsible character.

Oats are worth [illegible] per pound for shipment, and choice old [illegible] as best quality of feed oats, [illegible] per bushel. [illegible] demand. [illegible] samples of these oats at Salem. Still [illegible] 40 pounds to the bushel. It looks as if it might be very profitable to raise them. Won't somebody who has had experience reveal it to the public?

Mill feed is $12 for bran and $22.50 for shorts. Hay is in demand, retailing at $1.25 per cwt., and worth $20 a ton. A large dealer who was purchasing at Portland last week for shipment to Salem, had to pay $17 a ton for baled hay there. Undoubtedly hay will be scarce and high, and if the winter is severe, very high.

Pork packing is brisk at this season, and loads of hogs are brought to town. The very best bring 5½c. per pound, ordinary, 5c. No new cured meats are in market yet, and old meats are scarce and in good demand, at a better figure than some time ago. Lard bring 11c. and a trifle more, perhaps, being scarce, but that may be called the figure.

Butter, 30c.; eggs, 30c.; beans, 4c.; onions, 3c.; apples, 20 to 35c. per bushel; potatoes, 75c.

Local Markets.

SALEM, Thursday, Nov 28, '78.

Farmers can get following prices for their produce delivered this afternoon or tomorrow.

lb; fresh rolls 25@30c. Eggs 30c per dozen, and scarce. Potatoes, 75c per bush. Apples, 25c@30c per bush. Cheese, 12@14c per lb. Hay, $16 per ton. Oats, 32½@40c per bush. according to demand. Pork, 5c per lb.

FRUIT-PACKING MACHINES.

Mr. A. Collver of Coos Bay, is inventor of a peculiar machine [illegible] and needs [illegible] by any one [illegible] Valley for fruit growers. The machine will pack the fruit in [illegible] and boxes, and at the same time, as the weight of the paper boxes goes in with the weight of the fruit. These paper boxes, handsomely labeled and printed, can be ordered from the makers at the East at a trifling cost. Every man who has a Plummer dryer or any other good dryer, should have one of the Collver machines. Mr. A. B. Collver travels with one of his machines, and gives a practical exposition of its working. All who purchase them can also order boxes of Mr. Collver. The machines are made and sold at the furniture manufactory of F. J. Babcock, Salem. Specimens of the packed fruit can be seen at the office of the Willamette Farmer. At present Mr. Collver is canvassing the east side of the river, between Salem and Portland. Nov29-78-tf

The Farmer and Dealer, S. F., says: The superiority of the "Osborne" harvesting machinery over all others has often been demonstrated, but perhaps never more thoroughly than this year. Never have so many machines been sold in a single year, and the Pacific Coast, where, until within a few years, they were comparatively unknown, has proven to be one of their best markets; and every year witnesses some new improvements. The "Osborne" machines are always ahead, and the year 1879 will see such changes as will continue to keep them where they are now—ahead of all competitors, and acknowledged by all farmers who have used them to be the best machines in the world. Particularly is this the case with the now famous "Osborne" Self-Binder; which has proved its many points of superiority, and which promises to be the most popular harvesting machine ever devised, even in this wonderful age.

The Centaur Liniments are of two kinds. The White is for the human family; the Yellow is for horses, sheep, and other animals. Testimonials of the effects produced by these remarkable Preparations are wrapped around every bottle, and may be procured of any druggist, or by mail from the Office of THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 46 Dey Street, New York City.

PROOF
OF THE Superiority
OF THE
PACIFIC RUBBER PAINT.

Report of the committee appointed by the California State Agricultural Society, Sept. 1878, to examine and report upon the merits of mixed paints exhibited.

We selected from each of the exhibits viz., the

"Averill Chemical Paint,"
"Imperishable Paint," and
"Pacific Rubber Paint,"

a can of their paints, and had same applied by a painter under our personal supervision. Upon measuring the surface covered, we find that the "Pacific Rubber Paint covered 21,276 sq. in.

"Averill Chemical" " " 17,834 " "
"Imperishable" " " 14,445 " "

An equal quantity of each paint having been used, the above result shows that the Pacific Rubber Paint covered nearly TWENTY PER CENT. MORE SURFACE than the "Averill Chemical Paint," and nearly FIFTY PER CENT. MORE SURFACE than the "Imperishable Paint."

In view of the foregoing facts, and considering the ease of application of the Pacific Rubber Paint, and its superior covering qualities, we find it justly entitled to the award of the First Premium.

SPECIAL PREMIUM!
AWARDED ON WORLD RENOWNED OSBORNE
Self-Binding Harvester.

OREGON STATE AG'L SOCIETY,
SALEM, October, 17, 1878.

From the below report of the special committe appointed to examine special points with regard to Self-Binding Harvesters, it will be seen that the world renowned Osborn Self-Binder, for which Messrs. Newbury & Chapman are agents, was awarded a special premium at the Oregon State Fair, for 1878.

We, your special committee, called to examine special points with regard to Self-Binding Harvesters, find as follows, and would recommend a special premium in accordance with the facts set forth:

There were two machines entered, Woods' and Osborn's. First—With regard to durability: Osborn, 6 votes; Wood's, none. Second—Simplicity of construction; Osborn, six votes; blank one; Wood's none. Third—Case of draft: Osborn, five votes; blank 1; Wood's none. Fourth—Elevating: Osborn, five votes; blank, one; Wood's, none. Fifth—Uneven ground: Osborn, five; blank, one; Wood's none.

We, the undersigned, hereby testify that we have examined the fruit of the Silver Prune in a green state; also, dried by the Plummer process. We have also examined thoroughly the Coe's Golden Drop Plum, and we find the Silver Prune far superior to it in every respect, and entirely a new variety; and we recommend it to the fruit growers of Oregon as a superior prune, both in a green and dry state.

THE BEST FARM GRAINS, NEW AND OLD VARIETIES

The attention of merchants is invited to my large and well assorted stock of seeds of the above varieties. I have this year imported from England, that prince of lands for Black Green Peas, all the rarer and most new sorts for table use. I have now sixteen varieties, which I will sell to merchants in such quantities as they may want for their customers, in pounds and over, or whole sacks, bushels, or, if they wish to take my seeds, and MIX AMONG OTHERS on commission, I will send on seeds, on condition that I will only CHARGE TO MY JOBBING MERCHANT A GENUINE TRADE. As evidence of what I have stated, I may refer to the of my customers in Oregon City, for the last eight years he has refused to sell seeds for any other house while he sold seeds for me. The result was, there were no bad seeds, taken up with the good, to turn away his trade. When he sold seed some both on and I got the credit of it. Now mark the result. The past year, as I find from my books, he sold only $12.50 worth of seeds, last year his trade had grown to $18.50 in this one item, and that for in the face of competition with six or eight other stores in the city, all selling California seeds. The name of this merchant I will give to any one who wishes to verify these statements. My seeds are now ready, and up in neat, enclosed boxes, and merchants east of the mountains especially would do well to send for prices, or make orders at once, before the river freezes over, and have them forwarded from Portland with their fall stock of goods.

FRUIT TREES.

I have also a good stock of mixed, smooth growing trees, and shrubs of all the approved varieties, for Oregon, which I can sell as low as any one who does an honorable straight forward business. I would say to emigrants who are opening farms, that you can send to me for any or all the SEVENTY-FIVE varieties of apple trees named in my catalogue, or for CHERRY, PLUM, PRUNE, PEACHES, CURRANTS, GOOSEBERRIES, BLACKBERRIES, RASPBERRIES, and STRAWBERRIES, and you shall have them at prices which are fully down to hard times, and which cannot fail to to suit any reasonable man.

I can sell apple trees 1 yr old at $6.00 per 100; which are nice well rooted trees. They are one to three feet high; and trees, 2 years old 3 to 5 feet high, at $8.00 per 100. All the other varieties named at proportional rates.

The largest percentage given for selling the above named seeds or trees.
