East Oregonian

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24 1889.

East Oregonian Branch Office.

Parties from Eastern Oregon are cordially invited to call at the EAST OREGONIAN office when in Portland, and make themselves at home. The office is in the Ayer building on Third street, between Morrison and Stark. Files of the EAST OREGONIAN, Portland dailies, and other Oregon and Washington territory papers are always kept for the accommodation of visitors, and there is a telephone in the office which all are welcome to use.

A. A. Gross, a prominent Helixite, was in town to-day.

A quality of timothy hay is for sale by T. F. Rourke. *

G. W. King can now be found in his office above the post office. *

Meals at all hours at the French restaurant, J. W. Stanfield, proprietor. *

C. J. Whitaker has the largest dental practice of any dentist in Eastern Oregon. *

J. G. Mauzey, an old practitioner of Walla Walla, is arranging to move to this city.

Geese, making a palatable dish for Christmas, have made their appearance in market.

Horace Evans has returned from an extended visit to relatives in the Willamette valley.

Lord Waffle is in Pendleton on a furlough from duty, which he is spending among his chums.

Found—A lady's purse, containing money on streets to-day. Return to this office and receive reward.

O. R. & N. Co. will take views of buildings inside or outside, 7x10 in size, $3 for six or $5 a dozen. *

The Handel-Haydn society meets at Prof. K. Hepburn's studio to-night, instead of to-morrow night, as usual.

Alsop, a smallpox patient in Seattle, died Monday. There is now but one reported case remaining in Seattle.

Dr. Bouillard, the well known Catholic of Baker City, is in town on a visit to the Rev. P. DeRoo, of Pendleton.

Jerry Sharp has fully recovered from his attack of sickness at Centerville, and will be down on this evening's stage.

Mr. Hagen is recovering from his attack of pneumonia, having refused to stay dead although brought very near death's door.

Insurance is all the rage in Pendleton, and many have taken out policies who were considered unapproachable risks.

The Walla Walla Statesman: E. Fitzsimmons of Albert Lea, is in the city with a view of establishing a cigar factory, which will employ from twelve to twenty hands are employed.

J. W. and Lee Wheeler, under the firm name of Wheeler Bros., are said to be doing well at Seattle, where they are located. They are in the money-lending business.

Frank Downing dislocated his arm last night at the train, but with the assistance of two drummers the member was put in position again on the spot without much difficulty.

You can get the best of artificial teeth of Dr. C. J. Whitaker's dental office now for $4.50 per set. All other prices greatly reduced. All work warranted. Filling 50 cents. *

Yesterday morning's passenger ran to the mouth of the Farmington branch, the new river bridge having been sufficiently repaired to admit of the passage of trains without danger.

The base-ball fever is being felt in its virulency, and the Stars have commenced to make preparations for the spring campaign with the willows, in which they hope and expect to come out victorious.

Joe Selling and Sam Christensen write that they are now located in Tacoma. They like the town, and intend to stay there. Joe will enter the business at which so many rustlers there have made fortunes—buying and selling real estate.

Rev. F. M. Hedger, who recently disappeared while visiting at Tacoma, and supposed to have been foully dealt with, is highly respected here, and is a brother of D. E. Hedger, a well known farmer in the Walla Walla valley.

Now is the time for bargains at Campbell & Wilson's. They are selling out at all winter goods, tobaggans, hoods, etc., to make room for their spring goods, as Mrs. Wilson will select personally in Chicago and New York. *

Frank Diamond writes to a Pendletonian that he is making money at Wallula, doing a brisk business with his merchandise store. Mr. Diamond is a gentleman who deserves success, and the EAST OREGONIAN for one is glad to hear that he is succeeding.

R. D. Earp was down from Weston last evening, and reports that people of that place are feeling good over prospects of good crops, the extension of Hunt's railroad, waterworks and sundry other beneficial enterprises. Earp always speaks a good word for his town.

The proprietor of the Statesman received two offers today from Portland, and one from Washington, D. C. The first was $3,000 for property in Albina, for which he paid $500 five years ago, and $5,000 for his magnificent mineral cabinet, now in charge of the Alpine Club there. The offer from Washington was to start a Democratic newspaper, with good backing.—Walla Walla Statesman. The Statesman editor ought to accept the latter offer. A Democratic newspaper, with Parker at its head, is one of Washington's long-felt want. It should be immediately filled.

Thomas Nicley, the Juniper granger, with wife and daughter, have returned from their "old home" in Arkansaw, where the parents of Mr. Nicley are still living, his father being eighty-five and his mother eighty years old. They are living on the farm in quiet and contented old age. Mr. Nicley says his trip taught him conclusively that the farmer of Eastern Oregon is immeasurably better off than his Arkansaw brother, and believes this country is boss of them all.

Mr. Robert Bennett, who several years ago resided in Pendleton, but has since been living in Montana, has returned, and has "come to stay" this time. He will form a partnership with S. A. Saylor in the barber business. Mr. Bennett expresses himself as greatly surprised at the extensive improvements which have taken place since his presence here in 1884, as, indeed, who would not?

It is authentically stated that a new time card will soon be issued on the lines of the O. R. & N., to correspond with one soon to be introduced on the Union Pacific railway. The time schedule now in use suits every one in this section perfectly, and proves a very advantageous one for Pendleton. The change will therefor be greeted with sorrow, especially by restaurant keepers.

A number of O. & W. T. officials returned Tuesday from a visit to Pendleton, where they had been to meet the citizens. It is now believed certain that the railroad will be extended to that place in the spring—Walla Walla Union. Yes, "certain," if Pendleton can raise the remainder of the subsidy, and it can't, why can't it?

The election of a chief of the Pendleton Fire Department to fill the vacancy caused by G. L. Burgy's resignation, will take place next Saturday. It promises to be uninteresting, as only one candidate, J. N. Young, is in the field, the nominee of both the Protection and Hook & Ladder companies. A better man could not be selected for the position.

A copy of the bill for the benefit of volunteer firemen throughout Oregon has been received in Pendleton, and appears to be satisfactory to the firemen here, who are anxious for its passage. It provides for many needed improvements and allows the privileges asked for by amateur firemen. It was originated by the Albany fire department.

Astoria Pioneer: A Portland corporation asks the modest sum of $200,000 for clearing out a twenty-foot channel from Portland to Oswego. This is about $10,000 a mile, and if the government will only invert it in rock and dump it overboard at the jetty, Portland, Astoria and all Oregon, except Oswego, would be better off.

A letter has been received by R Alexander, stating that E. Lobenstein, who has been lying ill in Portland for the past two weeks, has suffered a turn for the worse, and is not expected to live. It is hoped by his friends that a kind Providence will intercept in "Red's" favor, as he is too good a man to die.

A sister of C. N. Clark, of Pendleton, died at Dayton, W. T., on Sunday last, of pneumonia. Mr. Clark returned from Dayton last Tuesday, where he has been in attendance at the bedside of his sister, whom no earthly power could save. He has the sympathy of his friends in Pendleton.

Frank Pollock, the railroad conductor who has been lying at the Villard House for the past several weeks with an injured hip, will be out in a day or two, as good a man as ever, and his friends know what that means. He has had a weary siege of it, but has at last come out all right.

At a jack rabbit drive at North Yakima, participated in by some 200 persons, some 300 rabbits were rounded up, and at the killing it was both exciting and ludicrous. It was especially interesting to the small boy, and half the blows intended to kill rabbits were received by the ubiquitous kid.

Mason Long, the converted gambler, lectured to a large and interested audience last evening. He told the story of his life and his conversion to Christianity in a very effective manner, every word of his discourse being absorbed with interest by the congregation.

F. W. Campbell was drowned at Oregon City Tuesday. He fell in the flume when no one was near, and drowned, as he could not swim. He was an exceedingly popular man, and his sudden death is the cause of much sorrow among his many friends and relatives.

Sheriff Houser and Otto Kinney returned last evening from their tour of Helix, Juniper, and Vansycle precincts, where they have been collecting taxes, meeting with moderate success. Mr. Houser left this morning for Union precinct for the same purpose.

During a jail delivery at The Dalles, on the 20th inst., ten prisoners escaped; five were afterwards captured in the town. Two of the lucky ones who got away were the slick confidence men who so successfully worked the Spokane people a short time ago.

Manuel Carlson and James C Farrell, two young and ambitious Pendletonians, will leave on Monday next for the Sound, to seek their fortunes and to win with the country. That they may meet with unbounded success is the wish of all who know them.

Strangers in this country are notified that now is the accepted time to plant gardens in Eastern Oregon, in order that their contents may be ready for the table in a month or so. We won't have any winter this year; just spring and summer.

J. H. Turner's new fence has been placed in position, and when painted up in style will be the finest in the city. At the entrance is a patent gate, which is a model of elegance and convenience.

IN MEMORIAM.

Resolutions upon the Death of Judge G. W. Walker.

Now upon this day the following proceedings were had. On motion of Mr. Fred Page-Tustin, an attorney of this court, a committee consisting of Messrs. Fred Page-Tustin, John J. Balleray, J. C. Leasure and R. J. Slater to draught suitable resolutions upon the death of Judge G. W. Walker, and report the same at the coming in of court at one o'clock.

Now at this time the committee heretofore appointed to draft resolutions upon the death of Judge Walker, there being present the following members of the bar: F. Page-Tustin, J. J. Balleray, J. C. Leasure, W. Minor, W. F. Butcher, W. E. Crews, J. H. Turner, R. J. Slater, C. H. Carter, S. White, W. Ewing, T. FitzGerald, reported as follows:

Whereas, That mysterious power which controls the destinies of all men has recently taken from our midst George W. Walker, and,

Whereas, During his career as a lawyer he at all times upheld the dignity of his profession and commanded the respect of his peers, and while occupying the honorable position of judge in this court he was esteemed an able jurist, at at all times courteous, honest, dignified and conscientious in his high official station.

Therefore be it

Resolved, That this court has lost the aid and counsel of one of its most efficient officers, the bar one of its most industrious, careful and earnest members, the members of the bar individually a courteous, kind and generous friend, the community at large an upright, honorable citizen, and one who allowed his honest convictions to guide and direct his actions in all the walk of life.

That our deceased brother possessed in the highest degree the first of Christian virtues, "charity," and that without ostentatious professions lived an exemplary life, and we regret his early demise which shortened a career of usefulness worthy of emulation.

Resolved, That these Resolutions be spread upon the records of this court, and that out of respect for the memory of the deceased this court adjourn for the day.

FRED PAGE TUSTIN,
JOHN J. BALLERAY,
JOHN A. GUYER,
R. J. SLATER,
JOHN C. LEASURE,
Committee.

Whereupon Mr. Fred Page-Tustin moved and Mr. J. J. Balleray seconded the adoption of said Resolutions, and the motion being unanimously adopted the court ordered the clerk to furnish copies thereof to the Pendleton newspapers, and after appropriate remarks by Mr. Fred Page-Tustin and Mr. J. J. Balleray, the court adjourned until 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

IN MEMORIAM.

George W. Walker, Born Dec. 5, 1853; Initiated March 13, 1888; Died Jan. 12, 1889.

Faithful and true in all the relations of life.

CASTLE HALL, HARMONY LODGE, No. 24, K. OF P., P. PXY.
PENDLETON, OR., Jan. 22, 1889.

To the C. C., Officers and Members of Harmony Lodge No. 24, K. of P.:

We, your committee on resolutions, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, A merciful and all-wise Providence has called from our midst our faithful and beloved brother, George W. Walker,

Resolved, That in the death of this, our brother, Harmony Lodge loses one of its brightest and best members, and, while we mourn our great loss, we feel assured he so lived and acted that his memory will always be cherished by those so fortunate as to be associated with him through life.

Resolved, That a memorial page be suitably inscribed with name, dates of birth and death of our much-loved brother, together with these resolutions, be entered upon our journal, a copy sent to the relatives, and others furnished to our city papers for publication.

UNION COMES TO THE FRONT.

The O. & W. T. Will be Built to Union—$40,000 Already Subscribed.

UNION, Jan. 24.—Mr. G. W. Hunt, of the O. & W. T., leaves on this evening's train for Pendleton, en route for Walla Walla. The road will be built to Summerville and Union, $40,000 being the amount already subscribed.

Examination at the Sister's Academy.

The result of the quarterly examination held at the Sister's Academy last week gave universal satisfaction; among the large number of pupils in attendance there were only three whose average fell below 70. The following young ladies distinguished themselves by obtaining an average above 80: Misses Belle Murphy, Annie Hagen, Nellie Ramsey, Fannie Hinton, Lola Howard and Louisa Johnson, of the academic department; Misses Minnie Murphy, Clara Reith, Mary Curran, Lydia Beale, Emma Taylor, Regina Bettenbender and Eder Isaac, of primary department.

Medals of honor were conferred on Miss Belle Murphy for the highest average, academic department; Miss Minnie Murphy for the highest average, primary department; Miss Lydia Beale, for application in music; Miss Hattie Bentley, for neatness and polite deportment; Miss Marry Curran, for Christian doctrine.

SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS.

A Supposed Cause of Sickness.

There is considerable sickness prevailing in Pendleton at present, and several deaths have resulted. Whole families have been attacked with pneumonia, which, from some cause, seems to be dangerously prevalent in almost every town in the Inland Empire. One thing noticeable in Pendleton is that families who have suffered a call from the disease have almost invariably been using well water, which, from the nature of things, must be impure. To this cause might be ascribed a great deal of the sickness abounding in Pendleton, as those who obtain their supply of the crystal fluid from the reservoir seem to have escaped, as a rule, from the unwelcome visitors, disease and death.

CALL FOR A MEETING.

The Chance for the Last Talk with Mr. Hunt.

Mr. G. W. Hunt, of the O. & W. T. railroad, will arrive in town on this evening's train, and is positively the last time before his departure East. If the property owners of Pendleton want the road and have any interest in its coming, they should meet Mr. Hunt this evening in the Court House, and there settle the matter one way or the other. If the road is coming then the bargain has to be struck now or not at all. Mr. Hunt has intimated that the road will come down Webb street, as that is the route thought most practical by his locating engineer. The "EAST OREGONIAN" would have published this information before had it been in possession of it sooner, but it is not too late even now. Mr. Hunt will make his proposition known at the Court House this evening. Let every property owner, large and small, be on hand to listen to what he has to say.

HE IS ELSEWHERE.

Joe Koch, One of the Men Arrested for Cattle Stealing, Skips by the Light of the Moon.

This morning customers making their regular calls on the sausage factory on Main street, found the door locked. The reason was obvious. The firm, one of whose members, Joe Koch, was recently arrested for cattle stealing and bound over in the sum of $100, had vamoosed the ranch, it is believed, on the earnest solicitation of interested parties. A. W. Schulze and Pete Parmentier are Koch's bondsmen and are, of course, anxious that he be brought back to face the music. He was seen up to 11 o'clock last night and it was thought then he was making preparations for departure. It is supposed that he and his partner walked to some station up the line and then boarded the Farmington passenger this morning, but all this is mere surmise. He is probably now engaged in putting as many miles between himself and Pendleton as possible. It is generally believed that there is a great deal more in this "cattle-stealing racket" than has been generally supposed and that there are several parties who were anxious to have him out of the country and are now breathing much easier. Koch pictured himself in the EAST OREGONIAN'S columns as a very honest and virtuous gentleman, but his escapade cannot but place him in a very different light.

What a Noted Physician Says.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31st, 1888.

W. M. Wisdom,

DEAR SIR:—As you requested I have examined the formula of your toilet preparation, called "Robertine." I can assure you that the ingredients are both bland and harmless, and that the compound would form an excellent application in irritated conditions of the skin.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR DEAN BEVAN, M. D.
Prof. of Anatomy Rush Medical College and P. A. Surgeon, U. S. M. H. S.

DIED.

JONES—On Wednesday, January 23, at 2:10 o'clock P. M., Lewis L. Jones, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, aged 20 years and 20 days.

The funeral occurred to-day at 2 o'clock P. M. The deceased was a young man who possessed many good qualities. He was attacked with pneumonia but a short time ago, and although possessing a strong constitution, fell a victim to the encroaches of the subtle disease. His two sisters are also seriously ill with the same disease, but it is to be hoped that grim death may be content with inflicting the sorrow it has already occasioned, and spare the remaining loved ones.
