EXTRA COPIES.

Extra copies of the New Year's EAST OREGONIAN may be had at the business office at 10 cents a copy, in wrappers ready for mailing, if desired. Postage prepaid.

FROM appearances the week's business in Congress, particularly in the House, will be made up of patriotic oratory and routine hard work, the former called forth by Edmund's Panama canal resolution, and the latter occasioned by the necessity of disposing of the remaining appropriation bills.

THERE are ten more days in which to determine whether Pendleton will have Hunt's road or not. Some few persons who should interest themselves in the matter have thrown considerable cold water on the enterprise, but others have performed effective work and to them, if the road comes, will be due all the credit. The answer must be "yes" or "no" by the 15th inst.

THOMAS KAY will build a woolen mill in Salem that will at the start consume 200,000 pounds of wool a year, and will employ about fifty people. The people of Salem, on the other hand, will give him a cash bonus of $20,000 for doing it Salem is wise, and the investment will prove a most profitable one. Pendleton could have a woolen mill if she would show a similar spirit.

IT is said now and then that "Salem is a dead town," but any one reading the Statesman, published in the capital city, will have a different opinion. It has a splendid advertising patronage, every business man appearing to be anxious to advertise his wares in its colnmns. The paper presents a live, prosperous appearance, and if there is any "deadness" in Salem the Statesman in time will do away with it. The property owners and business men of Salem are wise to give the Statesman a generous support. It pays them.

THE SPOKANE MERCHANTS

Organize for the Purpose of Fighting the Northern Pacific Railroad.

A dispatch to the Oregonian says that the merchants of Spokane Falls are determined to do battle in earnest with the Northern Pacific railroad company in regard to freight discrimination, from which they have long suffered.

What is known as a Merchants' Union has been organized. The object of the union is to secure mutual protection against discrimination. A suit will at once be entered against the railroad. While the organization is separate and distinct from the Board of Trade, it will work together with that body in this matter. The Board of Trade has also determined to bring a test suit, but while the object to be attained and the interest involved are the same, the action of Merchants' Union will be independent.

At an enthusiastic meeting much money was pledged, and it was decided to bring a test case before the interstate commerce commission, to determine whether or not Spokane Falls is discriminated against. A resolution was passed requesting the co-operation of all who have cause to complain of discrimination.

Similar action should be taken in Pendleton, and much good might come of it. If Pendleton is to be a city some effort will have be made to keep up with the procession of other towns. Spokane Falls, Walla Walla, Pendleton and the other interior cities are entitled to the same rates as Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and other coast cities. If not, why not? The interstate commerce commission must decide the question.

Advices from Chili state that Jelves, the celebrated bandit, was captured in Victoria after a sharp fight, in which one of the police officers was killed and another wounded. Several of the bandits were killed and wounded.

Buffalo, N. Y., suffered a $3,000,000 fire on Saturday last. A heavy wind was blowing at the time, and the flames could not be controlled. One fireman was killed and several seriously injured in fighting the flames.

LEGISLATIVE WORK.

Seven Bills Which Will be Laws With the Governor's Signature.

Up to this time seven bills have passed the Oregon legislature, and will have become laws as soon as they receive the signature of the Governor. He will probably veto one of them, the Portland water bill. Here are the seven:

Senator Watts' bill, authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Willamette river, between Marion and Yamhill counties.

Senator Irvine's bill to incorporate the city of Halsey.

Senator Raley's bill to appropriate money in aid of a wagon road from Pendleton to Canyon City.

Senator Carson's bill to amend the Portland charter, authorizing the water committee to issue bonds to the amount of $1,500,000.

Representative Robert's bill to change the name of Averill, Coos county, to Bandon.

Representative Maxwell's bill to change the time of holding the terms of the county court in Tillamook county.

Representative Harrington's bill to amend the section of Hill's code defining magistrates, so that circuit judges are included.

NEW GAME BILL.

R. A. Miller's bill to amend that section of Hill's code which relates to the killing of grouse, pheasant, quail and partridge, separates the two latter birds from the former. The close season for the entire four species is now between the 1st day of January and the 15th day of July of each year. Mr. Miller's bill makes the season close for quail and partridge from April 1 to October 1 of each year. The bill passed the House Friday.

Tried to Run the Dance.

From the Boise City Statesman.

Tom Gray, living about sixteen miles down the river, made it quite lively on Wednesday night for the dancers at Ayers' place near by. He attempted to run the dance to his own notion; slugged several young fellows over the head with his six-shooter; fired off his pistol and raised Ned generally. He is now trying to outrun the sheriff of the county, but word comes that this official is hard on his track, and Tom may be run in at any time. Lively times down the river.
