TELL THEM ABOUT CELILO.

If a topic of interest and value is wanted, upon which to talk to the Chicago Commercial club members who will be in Pendleton tomorrow, let some one be selected to address them on the subject of the obstructions in the Columbia river at Celilo. Eastern people are disposed to look upon Columbia river improvements as on a par with all of the petty schemes gotten up by two-penny congressmen to secure money for corners of their districts.

Here is a project that interests three growing states, Oregon, Washington and Idaho. It concerns the transportation to the seaboard of all the staple products of these three states. Particularly, Oregon and Washington are vitally interested. The magnificent empire of Eastern Oregon and Washington in which are produced vast quantities of grain and livestock is drained by the Columbia. By the removal of the Celilo obstructions, every producer will be benefited. The Dalles, situated below the Celilo rapids and enjoying the competition of the water transportation routes, now has freight rates quoted lower than they would be were the Cascade Locks not in existence. This should be true of the whole interior tapped by the Columbia river and its navigable tributaries.

Tell these Chicago people of this. Cite to them the great benefits they received when the federal government expended its millions in improving the channels of the Great Lakes, giving them at once rates such as railroad companies never dreamed of offering before it was possible to transport grain and merchandise by water to the East from the Middle West.

We are situated just as they were. They received the help they deserved. The Columbia river should now in its turn receive the help necessary in developing its latent resources.

WORK OF SALVATION ARMY.

Special activity by members of the Salvation Army at this time calls attention to the progress of that institution in all the countries of the world. Nowadays, wherever men are found are to be seen members of this unique organization, zealously working for the betterment of their fellows. It is customary for people to stand upon the street corners and ridicule those who appear in the uniform of the Salvationists, forgetting the wonderful things these same Salvationists have accomplished during the past few years.

The special excellence of the Salvation Army is that it pays little heed to mere dogma, but does things. It works. It toils. It helps the sick, the wounded, the poor, the hungry. It stands ready ever to assist the man or woman who has sinned. Among Salvationists are no pruderies, no "sets," no cliques, no exclusiveness. It has no sacred circles, to enter which people must possess wealth or social standing. No one ever heard of any doctrine promulgated by the Salvation Army, over which its members may wrangle, and then divide into denominations.

Here in Pendleton, perhaps, the Army has little to do. But, in the larger cities, as all know who have observed it there, it performs marvels for the cause of humanity. Its work there is the excuse for its existence, and it is today teaching the churches somewhat of effectiveness in performing the task set to all good men by the Man of Gallilee.

A PLENTITUDE OF GOLD.

It is possible and even probable that gold will be so plentiful in a few years that it will lose its present value, relative to silver, and that the financial issue will be then just as troublesome as it has been during the past few years. At the time the controversy began in the United States over the single gold standard, the proportion between the two metals was such as, in some measure, to warrant the position taken by the advocates of gold's supremacy.

However, as the years pass, the production of gold in South Africa, Alaska and British Columbia, and the discovery of gold in other localities, notably Siberia, causes the asking of the question as to how long it will continue to be the metal of highest value. There is nothing sacred in the yellow metal. The financial and commercial world accepts it as the standard, merely because it is scarcer than silver or any other metal. And the production of gold in sufficient quantities would upset all the calculations of the economists.

People who have given attention to the question believe quite generally that from Alaska and British Columbia alone will come such enormous quantities that those countries will themselves seriously affect the money problem. Already, the Yukon valley sends out something like forty millions a year. Yet, those regions have scarcely been prospected. Land almost illimitable is found there producing richly, when judged by standards of placer mining in other parts of the world. When mining methods have been perfected, and the ground there now unprofitable can be worked advantageously, gold will flow out in volumes greater than any stream of silver than ever flowed from the mines of the world.

Professor Shaler, of Harvard, estimates that there are thirty billions of gold in alluvial deposits now being worked profitably that but a short time ago was regarded as worthless. Whether his estimate is exact or not, matters little. It is certain that mining methods of late years permit the working of ground heretofore scorned by the crude prospector of former years, and it is within the limit of possibility that some day gold will be more plentiful than is silver.

SENATOR TURNER ON CONGRESS.

Senator George Turner of Spokane, who is home from the national capital, speaking of the work of the last congress, said:

"The last congress will be noted as the most reckless and extravagant in the history of the country. It was only six years ago that we had the billion dollar congress, and everybody was shocked at the idea that we could spend in two years in the conduct of government such an enormous sum.

"But under the stimulus of republican politics we spent during the last two years nearly two billions of dollars. Mr. Cannon, the republican leader in the house of representatives, admitted in a speech in the house that the sum would exceed $1,600,000,000. As a matter of fact, it was about $1,700,000,000.

* * *

"This sum is about one half the national debt at the close of the civil war, contracted as the result of that war, lasting five years, during the greater part of which we had an army of 2,000,000 men in the field.

"Our republican friends appear to have embarked on a wild sea of speculation and innovation, inspired by the idea that the resources of the American people are so ample that no strain is beyond their capacity to endure. The amount appropriated during the last congress would have been much greater but for the sturdy fight made by the opposition to the ship subsidy bill and not for the fact that Mr. Hanna and the friends of that bill, in revenge for its defeat, brought about the defeat of the river and harbor bill carrying an appropriation of $50,000,000.

"This last bill, as every one knows, provides for one of the usual necessary expenditures of government. It provides the money to pay for the improvement of our great harbors and rivers and is absolutely necessary in the interests of commerce.

* * *

"The river and harbor bill, which Senator Carter talked to death in the closing hours of the session, and for which he was rewarded by the president with appointment to a $5000 position, carried over $1,000,000 for this state and provided for the improvement of the harbors at Seattle, Tacoma, Whatcom, Olympia, Gray's Harbor, for deepening and keeping clear all the small rivers emptying into the Sound and into the Columbia river, and also for the improvement of the navigation of the Columbia, the Okanogan and the Pend d'Oreille rivers in eastern Washington.

"It was an open secret in Washington that Senator Hanna had the warrant of the president for encompassing its defeat. The president's purpose, no doubt, was to keep down the sum total of the appropriations, which had already grown to frightful proportions, but it is a sad commentary on republican statesmanship that all the necessary public works on our rivers and harbors should be stopped for an entire year, in order that the saturnalia of corruption and extravagance in other directions might not be made too apparent. As for Senator Hanna, he is not a man to be frightened by extravagance, and we must look elsewhere for the ground of his action.

"During the sessions of the commerce committee, of which Senator Hanna and myself are members, while engaged in framing the river and harbor bill, we had it dinned into our ears every day, indirectly, it is true, but plainly to the apprehension of every member, that if the ship subsidy bill failed the river and harbor bill would also fail.

* * *

"The ship subsidy bill provided for giving away every year for 10 years to the shipowners of the country the sum of $9,000,000, to be divided between the several ships according to size and speed and the number of trips made by them to foreign ports. It would have taken out of the treasury in principal during the 20 years $270,000,000, and in interest on the principal as much more. It would have cost the taxpayers first and last about $540,000,000.

"The pretense for it was that the shipping interests of the nation were suffering from the competition of other nations and could not make head against them unless assisted by the government. It was to be a pure, simple, naked gift to this favored industry.

"Moreover, it was so framed that but an infinitesimal part of its bounties went to sailing ships or the steam steamers which carry the farmers' crops. Most of it would have gone to the present established lines of steamers plying from New York and other Atlantic ports, and which undoubtedly contributed largely to the last republican campaign fund."

BAD BLOOD, BAD COMPLEXION.

The skin is the seat of an almost endless variety of diseases. They are known by various names, but are all due to the same cause, acid and other poisons in the blood that irritate and interfere with the proper action of the skin.

To have a smooth, soft skin, free from all eruptions, the blood must be kept pure and healthy. The many preparations of arsenic and potash and the large number of face powders and lotions generally used in this class of diseases cover up for a short time, but cannot remove permanently the ugly blotches and the red, disfiguring pimples.

Eternal vigilance is the price of a beautiful complexion when such remedies are relied on.

Mr. H. T. Shobe, 3941 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., says: "My daughter was afflicted for years with a disfiguring eruption on her face, which resisted all treatment. She was taken to two celebrated health springs but received no benefit. Many medicines were prescribed, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished the eruption began to disappear. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now seventeen years old, and not a sign of the embarrassing disease has ever returned."

S. S. S. is a positive, unfailing cure for the worst forms of skin troubles. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable.

Bad blood makes bad complexions.

SSS purifies and invigorates the old and makes new, rich blood that nourishes the body and keeps the skin active and healthy and in proper condition to perform its part towards carrying off the impurities from the body.

If you have Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, or your skin is rough and pimply, send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases and write our physicians about your case. No charge whatever for this service.
