FAITHFUL TO DUNBAR.

The East Oregonian is in receipt of another letter from Charles W Fulton, state senator from Clatsop county, wherein he reiterates that he can under no consideration be a candidate for the governorship. He gives as a reason that Mr. Dunbar, of Clatsop, is now secretary of state and asks a renomination; that he is in duty bound to support Mr. Dunbar, who has been a supporter of Fulton and therefore has earned the latter's unfailing support now; and, that furthermore, Mr. Dunbar is qualified to serve again, on the ground that he has been the best secretary of state Oregon ever had. Senator Fulton's position does him credit, and stamps him as a man who will not take to himself present advantage at the cost of his political honor. He has strengthened himself by his attitude, and won the admiration of friend and foe alike.

Mr. Fulton observes in his letter that the office of governor demands a peculiar quality of executive ability that few men possess, and he says that no man should ask for the office unless he be convinced that he have this sort of ability. He rightly attaches to the office of Oregon's chief executive immense responsibility and necessity for a vast mass of details to be properly accomplished only by one who has had the requisite business training. He modestly disclaims such qualifications, and believes he would refuse such nomination were it tendered him.

Whatever be the outcome of the coming campaign, Mr. Fulton has intrenched himself behind the breastworks of honorable principle, and this will not be forgotten by the people of the state.

So much of treachery is manifest in practical politics, that it is refreshing to come across a man who will put aside political preferment to keep his ethical pledges, implied if not actually made, to another.

It emphasizes further that the gubernatorial fight in the republican party is between Geer and one of the Umatilla county candidates, and, if late developments signify anything, presages the nomination of one of the Umatilla county men. Important changes have been made on the political chess board during the past few days, with the result that the republican nomination seems to be traveling towards Pendleton with the likelihood that it will arrive here sometime during the coming spring.

COUNTY FINANCEERING.

An interesting study in county finances is presented by the semi-annual report of the officers of Union county, Oregon, in which it is set forth that there is a total of actual liability of $263,465, and a total of resources, exclusive of public property, of $155,544. Here is a balance sheet exhibiting an excess of $110,000 of debts over the amount of money that will be available to pay them. In other words, Union county, if forced to the wall like private business men might be, could plead solvency only that in the future there will be revenues from taxation. In other words, Union county, rich in resources, populated by an energetic people who are thrifty and enterprising, endowed naturally with boundless stores of soil and vegetable wealth, boasting and rightfully, too, a garden spot of Oregon, would pay about 66 2-3 cents on the dollar, according to the manner in which private businesses are looked upon by creditors.

The principles herein involved are not confined to Union county. They are local in every county in Oregon. Hence, it is not pertinent to discuss them in these columns.

Government as administered in counties is wrong upon two considerations: Expenditures are not guaged to be less than revenues; and assets in the form of taxes levied are not closely enough collected. It is not certain that the matter of lax tax collection is not more an abuse than is that of spending the money. It is true that the county courts should be more careful than they now are, as a rule, and exercise greater economy. But, it is also to be greatly desired that the money due the people in taxes be collected so as to realize a larger per centage of the total than is now the rule.

There is not reason why so much of the taxes should be delinquent, or, if delinquent, why they should not be more closely collected than they are. A tax levy should be almost absolutely a 100 per cent asset.

These two things—economy of expenditure and greater thoroughness in the collection of taxes—are vital in county governmental administration. They correspont to the two principles necessary to success in private business, and only when correct private business principles are applied to public affairs can there be brought to pass a better status in county or state affairs.

MEN.

In men whom men condemn as ill,
I find so much of goodness still;
In men whom men pronounce divine
I find so much of sin and blot,
I hesitate to draw a line
Between the two, where God has not.
—JOAQUIN MILLER.

It is a common custom today, in this age of seeming heartlessness, to mistrust every motive of our fellows. We do it unwittingly, often. We have acquired the habit and followed it. So many deceivers practice upon the unwary that some justifiable reasons exist for the presence of the habit. Men would much rather not do this uncourteous thing. It is not the natural bent of most natures to be suspicious. This is an artificial formation in the human mind. It has grown up out of the very principle of self-preservation. It is the natural result of conditions. It has come upon the hearts of men, for the same reason the coat of the rabbit whitens with the first snowfall—self-defense.

* * *

We condemn men, especially public men, with whom we have no personal acquaintance, too readily. We have the right to criticize, and we exercise it ruthlessly. We throw the javelin at every suspicious act which comes to our notice. We do not wait to ascertain the motive. We see the deed through our glass and build up a cause to suit our view. We create wrong impressions, in our ignorance of the facts, and when a bad tale once takes root, it bears a hundred harvests, before it is exterminated. We forget that idle words are winged. That falsehood flies faster than truth.

* * *

The common people are not yet done reviling the bishops who rode from New York to San Francisco, on the special train belonging to J. Pierpont Morgan. The outward aspect of this action may justify its condemnation, from the point of view of the man who regards Morgan as his enemy. It looks to this man, as if these great ministers of the gospel were arrayed with the Morgan side of humanity, against the other side. It might appear that they actually recognized the "money line" among men. That they have forgoten the humble fountain head of the plain Christian religion.

* * *

But how many of us who have passed comment upon insincere motives of these men, know them sufficiently well to express an opinion upon their motives? We condemn the cloak and thereby the man under it. We may be wrong. These are intellectual men, of learning and experience. Their intents may be right, then judgment wrong. If those who sway the great tides of common sentiment were more tolerant in their views, it would encourage public men to be sincere. They expect to be misunderstood and misconstrued and so go in their own way about their business.

* * *

We encourage and cultivate mistrust. We follow the actions of those friends with suspicious eyes. We are lessening the sum of happiness in the world day by day. We are bringing up a race of deceivers and traitors, by our very example.

Where now the love that nerved the true and brave
To give the world of chivalry so much?
Where now the warm, wild impulse that once gave
The hand of Friendship its inspiring touch?
—BERT HUFFMAN.

$112,500 for a Prescription

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address JOHN J. FULTON COMPANY, 430 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal.

Beauty is Health.

Walnut Lake, Ark., June 8, 1900.

I thank you for the benefit I received from your advice and the Wine of Cardui I took in my terrible condition. My life was no pleasure to me at all and I was of no use to anybody. After receiving your advice and medicine I commenced taking it and began immediately to improve. The pains left me and the menses, which came at the correct time, continued three days. I have gained strength and my weight has increased. My husband says the medicine has made me better looking than ever before.

Mrs. LIZZIE MANNELL.

Womanly health means bright eyes, rosy cheeks, clear complexion and elasticity of form. This is the youth unmeasured by years—the beauty of perfect womanhood. Beautiful women are happier and get more out of life than their sisters whose faces indicate suffering. Wine of Cardui made Mrs. Mannell "better looking" and infinitely happier because it cured her of those terrible pains. But she is no exception.

WINE OF CARDUI

is giving thousands of women health, beauty and freedom from the dragging pains which made their lives so miserable. Wan faces, haggard eyes and emaciated forms are the results of suffering. What suffering can compare with the torture of irregular menstruation, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb! Beauty flees quickly before the ravages of such disease. The sharp pains of failing of the womb deepen the crow tracks in the face. Menstrual irregularities rob the eye of its fire and the complexion of its transparency. Leucorrhoea drains the body of its strength, but Wine of Cardui restores the natural beauty, brightens the eye, clears the complexion, rounds out the figure and brings back the vigor of health. Every druggist in this city handles $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
