STATE RETURNS.

Count Still Unfinished and Returns Are Very Slow in Coming.

Portland, June 4.—Returns from four or five counties, where the returns were incomplete yesterday, are not yet in, but Chamberlain's lead of 1000 will probably not be reduced.

Furnish has not yet conceded his defeat, however.

Today's figures indicate the election of a majority of the republican candidates for the legislature, insuring a successor to Simon, who, although a republican, was opposed to the ticket.

In twenty incomplete precincts in the city, where the count is not yet finished, indicate that Chamberlain is leading Multnomah county by 300 to 400.

Williams is known to be elected mayor of Portland by at least 500. The other city and county offices will all be republican, except Werlein, on the citizens' ticket, for city treasurer. W. A. Story, for sheriff, is the only republican in doubt.

The Very Latest.

Later—The last figures for governor show Multnomah county 6288 for Chamberlain, and 5384 for Furnish. Twenty precincts are yet to hear from in which a partial count shows an apparent even break so that it looks like Chamberlain will have above 600 in this county. The other counties outside this showed up this morning almost even, but the latest figures give Chamberlain gains. The contest is still close, but the outlook for Chamberlain is slightly better than this morning.

The sale of fine shoes of American manufacture in Canada has trebled in five years. It is estimated that it will this year amount to $900,000.

CHAMBERLAIN IS STILL SAFE

Despite Reports to the Contrary His Plurality is Still in the Neighborhood of 1,000---H. C. Adams Elected Instead of C. E. Macomber.

Although the majorities as estimated yesterday have been considerably cut down, it is firmly established today that George E. Chamberlain has been selected by the people of Oregon as their next governor, by a majority of from 600 to 1000, while the balance of the republican state ticket has been successful.

Last night considerable excitement was caused by a report gaining circulation to the effect that the returns from some of the southern counties had given Furnish such majorities as to place him in the lead, but today's developments fail to verify the rumor.

But little new information regarding the election was received today, but it is confidently announced that Chamberlain is the winner. In fact, the democratic candidate telephoned to headquarters in this city during the day that, allowing Mr. Furnish the same majorities as received by Governor Geer in 1900, in the counties not yet heard from, he, (Chamberlain) would go to Salem with 1000 or better.

In addition, Chamberlain has apparently carried Multnomah county by about 600 votes. This gives him a lead of 650 at a rough estimate.

These figures are partly made up from the returns at present received and partly from estimates on the partial results in counties not yet complete, and are not official.

It is now plainly evident that it will require the official count to definitely decide the gubernatorial contest. It would appear, however, that the republican state ticket is elected with majorities of from 7000 to 10,000.

As at present estimated, the legislature will probably stand:

Senate—Republicans, 20; democrats, 10.

House—Republicans, 40 democrats, 30.

Adams Elected Over Macomber.

One of the most startling developments in the county situation today was the discovery of the fact that according to the returns now in, H. C. Adams has beaten C. E. Macomber for representative by a plurality of 45. It was at first thought that Messrs. Macomber and Blakley had been elected as representatives for this county in the state legislature, but the figures in today show Mr. Adams to have received 1629 votes as against Mr. Macomber's 1548.

Three precincts, Gilliland, Mountain and Vancycle are not yet in, and probably will not be received until the official count is made, as the people in charge of the count in these precincts did not keep any tally outside their official report, which they have sealed in the ballot boxes.

Following are the pluralities of the various successful candidates in this county as at present figured up at democratic headquarters:

State ticket—Chamberlain, 273; Bean, 569; Dunbar, 296; Moore, 578; Williamson, 378; Geer, 63; Pierce, 65; Phelps, 201; Ackerman, 183; Raley, 681; Whitney, 726.

County ticket—Smith, 654; Adams, 45; Blakley, plurality over Adams and majority over other candidates, 304; Taylor, 671; Chamberlain, for county clerk, 269; Folsom, 228; Sommerville, 134; Strain, 251; Kimbrell, 529; Cole, 162; Gilliland, 162; Fitz Gerald, 64; and Bentley, 12.

No Celebration.

There will be no public celebration or jubilee over the outcome, the democrats realizing that but for the assistance rendered by dissatisfied republicans they would not have been so successful.

Another Report.

Portland, June 4.—The total vote on governor throughout the state is close. Present figures give Chamberlain 622 majority, in which some of the counties are estimated. At the democratic headquarters the claim is made that much, giving Furnish the benefit of the doubt everywhere. It is reasonably certain that Chamberlain will win, though some doubt still remains.

Inman is defeated for mayor of Portland by 200, according to the returns now in, but 15 precincts are to be heard from and their votes may change the result. McDonald, assessor, and Werlein, city treasurer, of Portland, are elected. Driscoll, sheriff, is apparently elected on the citizens' ticket, but this is not sure. The remainder of the republicans are elected in this city and county.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Passengers on the Pendleton-Spokane Flyer Had a Close Race With Death.

BOX CAR CRASHED DOWN ON PASSENGER TRAIN.

But Some of the Brake Gear Broke Just at the Critical Moment and the Heavily Laden Car Was Derailed, Thus Averting by Narrow Margin a Horrible Accident.

Walla Walla, June 4.—Passengers on the local train from Pendleton brought to this city last evening news of a narrow escape from a frightful wreck which fell to the lot of the Spokane-Pendleton flyer at Milton, Ore., yesterday afternoon.

As the train was passing a siding leading to a flouring mill at Milton, one of the loaded cars standing at the platform of the mills broke its brake chain and careened down the track to the fast approaching passenger train. Nothing could be done to stop the car, which was traveling at speed sufficient to strike the main track just as the flyer crossed the switch. The engineer on the passenger did not see the dange rand those
