AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Boise City Drenched.

During the past 48 hours Idaho received a drenching such as the state had not experienced in years. Washington, Canyon, Ada, Boise, Owyhee and Lincoln counties rain or snow fell from sunset sunrise on Monday night and Tuesday morning and continued to pour down intermittently all day yesterday. Towards evening the storm began to break but the meteorological experts do not promise fair weather until tomorrow. Fortunately the indications are favorable for lower temperature which will lessen the flow of water in the already swollen streams.

The tributaries of the Boise river are all reported to be rising and the stream itself is climbing up its banks at the rate of about 12 inches every 24 hours. In Boise Basin the snow is packed hard and has not commenced to melt. The Little Camas creek is running bank full, and creek carries an enormous amount of water for that tributary and other small streams are threatening to break bounds.—Boise Statesman.

Telephone to Mt. Rastus.

It is understood that a number of Baker City business men are promoting a telephone line from Baker City via Bennett's mill, Pine creek, Unity, to Mount Rastus, the scene of the new mining excitement last fall and which bids fair to be of great importance as soon as spring fairly opens.

A telephone line to the section named is of greatest importance and the enterprise is in a fair way of being successfully carried out.—Baker City Democrat.

Rich Strike in Thunder Mountain.

A report received from the Glasgow mine, on Profile creek, in the Thunder Mountain district, states that a strike of a five-foot vein has been made on the cross-cut. The ore is said to be of a high grade and has caused considerable excitement in the camp and has been a boom to the properties on Profile creek. The striking of this vein on the cross-cut has given a permanency to the property and a prominence to other holdings in this section, says the Lewiston Tribune.

The Glasgow was discovered by John Patterson in the fall of 1901, and about 18 months ago was bonded to a company from Joplin, Mo., for $40,000. This company commenced the driving of a tunnel to tap the lead to establish the permanency of the vein and the opening of the rich deposit is more than was really expected from the property.—Boise Capital News.

Potatoes Go East.

The heaviest shipments of potatoes that have been made to Minnesota in a number of years have gone forward from Washington during the past few months, and withal the price has not been greatly increased. Scores of carloads of spuds from the Walla Walla valley and from the irrigated districts of Yakima county, have found ready market in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The market price at the Twin Cities now ranges near $1.15 per bushel, wholesale.—Walla Walla Union.

Heavy Snow in Mountains.

Most everyone who comes in from the mountains has the same story to relate concerning the depth of snow. William Ketchum, whose place is situated at the head of Mosier creek, says last year at this date he made the trip up in a wagon. A little over a week ago he went up and found six feet of old snow and still coming. Farmers on Dutch Flat also tell of several feet up that way.—The Dalles Chronicle.

Offices Hunting the Men.

The socialist convention last Saturday was somewhat different from ordinary political conventions. Instead of a scramble for places on the ticket, candidates had to be urged. In accepting they stated that they were taking places on the ticket as a matter of principle, not with any hope of present reward.—Times-Mountaineer.
