AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Packing House Talk.

"There is a big market here for hog product and a packing house can only be run in Eastern Oregon with a plentiful supply of hogs," said R. D. Carter yesterday while discussing the packing house project for Baker City.

"We are paying today one cent higher than the Chicago market for hogs but cannot get enough local animals to keep us busy in a small way to say nothing about a supply for anything like a large packing house. There are two packing houses at Portland and packing houses at Seatle and Tacoma, yet they must ship hogs from Nebraska. The farmers around this part of the country have always said there was more money in selling their grain than in raising hogs.

"I am heartily in favor of the movement to raise sufficient quantities of alfalfa for hog feed and believe it can be done cheaply and without much irrigation, if an alfalfa will make a cheap as well as a first-class feed for hogs and if it is used successfully in Nebraska where there is plenty of cheap corn for hogs it certainly can be used here. Give us plenty of hogs and we will put up a packing house quick enough. It is impossible to run a packing house on beef alone. There is not enough demand for beef by-products to make the business pay and we can only supply the local market on fresh beef because beef is driven on the hoof to the butchers in all the neighboring towns where it is killed on the spot for local consumption."

Baker City wants a packing house and will probably get one some time. If the ranchers and stockmen here realize the importance and profit in hog raising as do the farmers who have just come here from the east and already planted their alfalfa fields there would be a packing house built this year.—Baker City Democrat.

Chamberlain Is Retained.

Persistent efforts have been made to secure the removal of Superintendent Chamberlain, of the soldiers' home, much of the opposition to him being based on the trouble that resulted in the legislative investigation. It is unofficially announced that there will be no change at that institution. It is understood the governor and the other state officers on the soldiers' home board are satisfied with Chamberlain's administration. One of the candidates is Adjutant General Barber, of the Idaho Grand Army, who resides here.—Boise Capital News.

Gilliam County Prosperous.

George and Mike Dukek of Mayville, were in Arlington this week with a bunch of beef cattle which were shipped to Troutdale. The government inspector met them here on Tuesday and pronounced the cattle O. K. The Dukek boys report the crops looking fine in the south end of the county. They have two more cars of cattle that they will ship this spring. There are a good many hogs being fed in the Mayville country for the spring markets. This is one of the best sections of Gilliam county, and the farmers are generally prosperous.—Arlington Record.

Boy Dragged to Death.

Adrian, the 8-year-old son of James Engberg of Bialock, was killed by a horse last Monday afternoon. He and a companion were out driving some cattle, but had become separated and it is thought that he was getting off of the horse and his foot caught in the stirrup which frightened the horse, causing him to run with him. The remains were taken to The Dalles and buried there Wednesday morning.—Arlington Record.

$75 Per Acre Near Alicel.

We were informed that 40 acres of what was formerly the Jap Rinehart farm near Alicel, was sold this week for $75 per acre. This is not the 40 with the residence and improvements. If this is correct, this is the highest price ever paid for farming land in the county.—La Grande Observer.

CLEANLINESS EVERYWHERE

On the premises where Pendleton Pilsner Beer is brewed. But cleanliness in manufacture is not the sole recommendation of this capital beer, its rich taste and nourishing qualities all add to its value as a beverage.

Hung Himself in Jail.

When John Fitzgerald went to the door of the cell occupied by Carl Sandeman, (the demented man referred to yesterday) and called for him to get up about 8 o'clock this morning, he received no answer, though as he looked closer the fellow seemed to be sitting on the edge of the bunk. John called C. L. Schmidt, who was in the office, and upon making an investigation they found that he was dead, having hung himself by tying a piece of his suspender around his neck, fastening the other end in a hook on the cell wall, about three and one-half feet from the floor, and placing his feet on the bunk, causing strangulation. No sound was heard by the prisoners and it is impossible to tell how long he had been dead, though it is thought about six hours.—The Dalles Chronicle.

La Grande Bond Election.

A petition has been filed with School Clerk A. C. Williams, asking the school board to submit to the vote of this school district the proposition to vote bonds to the extent of $12,000 for the purpose of purchasing ground and building a school house; providing for steam heating, to be constructed north of the railroad track.

As the cost of the building is limited in the petition to $12,000 the construction means an additional tax of about one mill based upon the present tax valuation, which is $755,-021. This will not include all the expense as such a building means additional teachers.—La Grande Observer.

Magnolias at The Dalles.

Referring to the magnolia tree in the Wingate yard last week we said there would likely be 150 blossoms thereon. It is rarely, if ever, that a newspaper reporter reduces a number, but this is an exception, for by actual count the tree contains between 700 and 800 blossoms.—The Dalles Chronicle.
