A Correction By a typographical error, our large advertisement last Saturday read that we had just received $10,000 worth of Embroideries. This was a mistake. It should have been "$1,000 worth of Embroideries." We are calling the public's attention to this error because it is the policy of the Golden Rule Store to advertise the truth and never make a claim we cannot live up to.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS COMES TO END AFTER THREE DAYS

Many Recommendations Made—Banquet Held Satrday Night—Today Members of Congress Go to Salem to be Present at Opening of Legislature.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 13.—The irrigation congress ended its three days' work with a feast Saturday night at the Commercial club, President Edgar B. Piper of the club, as toastmaster congratulated the delegates on the fact that the meeting had proved the most important and successful of the kind in the state's history.

Coming just before the convening of the Oregon legislature and a change in the national administration, the congress took vigorous affirmative action on co-operative survey work of state and government in ascertaining the feasibility of irrigating unreclaimed areas, on the propriety of the state's underwriting the bonds of worthy projects, on state's financial support of defunct Carey act projects, and other changes and improvements of administration and laws.

Tells of Pioneer Days.

William Hanley, president of the congress, told the diners that when an irrigation policy that gets a dollar in value for a dollar of investment, obtains, then the tale of irrigation project failure will not be heard again in the land of Oregon. He turned from serious to jovial and related stories of pioneer days in Harney that made "The Virginian" seem tame.

Professor Thomas Shaw, the agriculturist of the Northern Pacific, suggested that the best thing with which to tie down the soil in the dry country is alfalfa. He said the railroad expects to establish demonstration stations at Ontario and near Prineville to find the profits of raising alfalfa for seed. Then he described the expected value of an acre of beardless turkey red wheat at Maryhill which will mature next season. The best crops for Oregon are winter grain crops, said Professor Shaw. R. R. Johnson of Hermiston eulogized the American farmer and warned his hearers against literal following of government reports. President Joseph H. Young of the Hill lines in Oregon said that the government must change its policy in settling lands, and think first of getting people on the land, then of getting the money for it. As it is, said he, the government wagers 160 acres of land that a man won't stick to it 5 years.

Gives Pointers on Crops.

Addresses were made by C. C. Chapman, development manager of the Commercial club; Morris J. Duryea, manager of the Eugene Commercial club; Arthur C. Spencer, general counsel for the O.-W. R. & N.

Many of the delegates to the irrigation congress will leave this morning for their excursion, which includes leaving their request for law changes with the legislature at Salem and a visit to the Oregon Agricultural college.

One of the most important sessions of the irrigation congress was that held Saturday afternoon. Professor Shaw told the need for raising on lands crops that will feed livestock and produce meat. Attorney-General Crawford discussed irrigation laws. George T. Cochrane, water commissioner from La Grande, told how the service of the board of control is growing in value to the project people, and should be more largely supported by legislative appropriation.

John H. Lewis, state engineer, made recommendations of matters important to reclamation which should be considered by the legislature, and outlined his plan for development of water power in the Columbia basin, the effect of which, he believes, will be to cut in two the price of energy and open a great field for development of industry and impetus to reclamation. Some of Mr. Lewis' recommendations are:

Recommendations Made.

"Provide additional funds for the board of control, so that the two superintendents can be kept working to their full capacity.

"The legislature should declare the beneficial use of water to be a public use and benefit, so that an individual may condemn right of way.

"Provide for the submission to and approval of detailed plans by the state engineer for all dams over 10 feet in height.

"Legalize the rotation of water under permits granted by the state engineer.

"Provide for the exchange of water between canal and reservoir owners, where no injury can come through such exchange.

"Provided that all water used in this state for any and all urposes shall remain appurtenant to the place of use.

"Within a few years, if this system is maintained with reasonable appropriations, we will know the total quantity of water available in the principal streams of our state, how much of such water is vested and rights to which are being protected by the state, and the extent of the surplus water which is available for new diversions."

WEDS SWEETHEART AFTER 30 YEARS

Devotion to Invalid Mother Kept Man from Woman He Loved.

New York, Jan. 13.—A romance of rare beauty was revealed by the marriage of Mrs. Helen Rollins and Harold Curtis Bullard, in the Chapel of the Good Shepherd. For more than 30 years, the two had been sweethearts, but Mr. Bullard had been forced to remain single so that he might watch over his mother who had all these years been confined to her bed by a painful physical infirmity. A year ago Mrs. Bullard died, and recently the childhood sweethearts were finally united.

Mr. Bullard is a millioaire times over and Mrs. Rollins, who lived at 203 West Fifty-second street, is also wealthy in her own right.

Soon after they first met they became separated through their families having moved away from each other, and in the lapse of five or six years, Mrs. Rollins, who was Miss Helen lister, married. Her first husband after several years died. Though she was free, Mr. Bul- Lester, married. Her first husher suffering more intense, and he asked her to wait. They waited nearly 20 years.

CLASS IN JOURNALISM GOES TO CHURCH TO GET "STORY" OF SERMON

University of Oregon Students Troubled Lest It Be Wrong to Work in Church.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., Jan. 13.—Eric W. Allen, professor of journalism at the University of Oregon, forced church attendance upon 35 members of his first year class in journalism. Not only must the rising newspapermen and women attend divine services, but they must pay such attention to the sermon that they will be able to write a "story" about it afterward.

The reports are to be in Monday morning to be used in a local newspaper of that day. Members of the class have questioned the propriety of attending church in the morning and performing the labors of a newspaperman the same day.

The Very Thing.

Miss Squeaky Voice—I'd lige to open a singing school. Do you think there is a large field in this community?

Resident—Yessum; thar be a field forty acres wide back of the boiler factory.

HODGIN GAINS TWO VOTES IN RECOUNT

La Grande, Ore., Jan. 13.—Two votes with "ifs" and strings attacher, were added to the total votes polled by John S. Hodgin in the race for joint senator when the recount was concluded so far as Union county is concerned. The specified precincts of Wallowa county will be counted when the county clerk of Wallowa county comes here on a subpoena to testify and allow the ballot boxes to be opened. The conditions whereby Hodgin gains two votes in this county are qualified and carry conditions that in reality make the ultimate results as problematical as they ever were. Judge Knowles has intimated that he will not rule on the doubtful ballots —in such a nexigency it will develop upon the legislature to make sole and final decision. In recounted fourteen precincts of Union county, Hodgin gained a total of two as seen from the table but in his petition for the recount he did not specify Antelope and La Grande No. 5 which are figured in the totals given. If by any cause these two precincts should be stricken from the recount figures, Hodgin would lose the two regained.

Not all the precincts in Wallowa county are alleged to be in error and it is just possible that the count will be completed tonight. It follows that the actual figures of votes finally determined will be known immediately thereafter, but the doubtful votes will still be a thorn in the side of indecision.

Kiddle's lead in the two counts was four—with two apparently eleminated, the outcome in Wallowa county becomes excrutiatingly close to the interested parties.

MANY TAKE SWIM IN SURF AT CONEY

Men and Women Have First Sea Bath of Years—Temperature Is 45 Degrees.

New York.—Swimming was the great American sport at Coney Island with more than two score men and women splashing about in the surf, apparently with as much glee as if it were a June day.

Automobiles took a back seat when they got to the beach, and the occupants of the motors sat to watch the first sea bathing in the year 1913.

At the parkway baths the shore was lined with hundreds of persons watching the activities on sea and land—for when the swimmers were not swimming they were tossing the medicine ball on the beach.

All normal thermometers were registering 45 degrees of temperature.

Naturally men swimmers were in the majority, but the half dozen women who were in bathing suits made up in pluck what they lacked in numbers.

MEN DUEL FOR LOVE IN DARK, ONE DEAD

Swains Blaze Away With Revolvers When Seconds Outside Give the Signal.

Washington, Pa.—Rita Berceren, 17 years old, was the unwilling cause of a desperate duel between Bert Quinn and Harry Mosconey, admirers, which was fought in a dark room at the boarding house of Mrs. Jestadds, at West Zollarsville, and which resulted in the death of Quinn.

The men, eacch having been devoted to the girl, had been enemies for some time. After several altercations which lasted well into the early morning hours, the men decided finally to settle the question of who should have the girl by going into a dark room and fighting a duel.

They both took revolvers and entered the darkened room, about 12 feet square. At a word from their seconds, who were outside, the men began firing and both emptied their revolvers. After the lights had been turned on by their friends it was found that Quinn had received a bullet in his neck. He died a short time later.

Mosconey, after learning of Quinn's death, disappeared and has not been arrested.

ARMLESS WONDER QUITS CIRCUS FOR OREGON FARM

Cottage Grove, Ore., Jan. 13.—Charles B. Tripp, an armless wonder formerly with the Ringling shows, has purchased a ranch in the Cottage Grove country and will spend the remainder of his life in the famous, fertile, fruitful Willamette, about the only country in the world where a man handicapped as he is can hope to make a living from the soil. Mr. Tripp is accompanied by his wife and the piece of property purchased is the Standish ranch near Lorane.

Mr. Tripp's ability to help himself is marvelous. He wears slippers which are easily removed, and uses his toes with about the same dexterity that an ordinary man does his fingers.

FIRST RAILROAD BUILDS INTO CURRY COUNTY

Gold Beach, Or., Jan. 13.—The first railroad ever built in Curry county is now being constructed, a logging road being built by the Brookings company up Chetco river. It has about four miles of the road completed and expects to finish it as fast as it can get men. The company has 85 men on the payroll and expects to have 400 by the first of July next.

ACCUMULATING A LIBRARY.

"When George W. Perkins goes in for helping the workers, and when Andrew Carnegie goes in for reducing the tariff, I think of my old friend Lobb."

The speaker was Samuel Gompers. He continued:

"Lobb was entertaining me in his library one evening. He said:

"'Sam, my boy, never lend your books.' Then, waving his hand toward a particularly handsome shelf, he said: 'Do you see those volumes? Well every one of them was lent to me.'"—Washington Star.

Patience may be a virtue, or it may be simply laziness.

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty, and makes it grow.

OLD RAILROAD MAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

La Grande, Ore., Jan. 13.—H. C. Gilman of Fruitdale, died at Portland, St. Vincent's hospital Saturday afternoon. Death came as the close of a brief illness brought on by bowel troubles for which he was sent to Portland a few days ago in the hope that an operation would relieve him. His wife was called to Portland Friday when it became known he was in a critical state. The remains will be brought to La Grande for burial. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Gilman was for many years a locomotive engineer out of this city. He worked with the old school of engineers long before the present facilities and privileges were in vogue. Soon after leaving the railroad service he became water superintendent in this city and held the appointment for several terms. A few years ago he moved with his wife and son Bert, to a fruit ranch near La Grande and was making his home there when seized by the fatal illness.
