Man dies in Oregon when his time comes and the day is long in coming to many. George Webb rounded out a useful career with more than a fullness of years and many pleasant memories.—Oregonian.

Wheat Price Report Scouted.

Reports in a Portland paper this morning that $3 a bushel is being paid for Turkey Red hard winter wheat in the mid-Columbia counties are scouted by local grain buyers, who declare that $2.50 is the highest price at which wheat has been contracted this year, either for hard or soft varieties. Only in small quantities is wheat being contracted for, local wheat men say, and both growers and dealers alike are preferring to await the opening of the Chicago wheat pit on July 15 when some indication of the price trend will be given. The wheat market will be pretty quiet until that time, it is thought. There is likewise little moving in the last year's crop as it has virtually been all used up.
