The majority of the sheepmen, Mr. Bonham reports, are not so heavily stocked this year as they were a year ago, and for that reason they will be able to care for their flocks.

Comparatively no losses have been suffered by either sheep or cattle during the winter from predatory animals. The range is in excellent condition and all stock is in better shape than for a numbe of years. At least 85 per cent of last year's hay crop is still in the fields unfed.

AMERICAN NAVY IS CARING FOR REFUGEES

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 24.—(U. P.)—The American navy is acting as guardian to the Crimean refugees in the hospitals of this city, whose families have been separated from them. The absolute necessity of evacuating refugees from Contantinople has resulted in hundreds departing from the city and leaving kinsfolk behind, ill in the hospitals. The American navy has undertaken to keep track of all of the sick people thus separated from their families.

The number of sick is increasing. The Russian summer embassy at Buyk-Dere has been turned into a refugee hospital equipped by the American Red Cross. Such is the inadequacy of facilities for caring for the sick, that in all hospitals available for refugees, more than half of the patients are sleeping on the floor.

P.)—Poland will press the inter-allied commission, charged with definite determination of Upper Silesia for a distribution of the territory between Poland and Germany based on the commune vote, according to official advices received today by the Polish legation from Warsaw.

CATHOLIC CHURCH LOSES A MOST LOYAL WORKER

Cardinal Gibbons Dies After Serious Illness; Wielded Strong Influence Everywhere

CLAIMED RELIGION WAS ONLY BASIS FOR SOCIETY

Last Days Were Spent Among His Friends in Native City of Baltimore, Maryland.

BALTIMORE, March 24.—(A. P.)—James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore and primate of the American Catholic church, died at the Arch-Episcopal residence today at 11:33 after a prolonged illness which mainly affected his heart.

Active service for more than half a century in the interests of his country as well as his church is closed by the death of James Cardinal Gibbons. At the celebration, in 1911, of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the Cardinalate, His Eminence, out of all the tributes paid him, expressed himself as most affected by that from William Howard Taft, his intimate friend, and then President, who said:

"Through his long and useful life Cardinal Gibbons has spared no effort in the cause of good citizenship and the uplifting of his fellow-man."

"You have portrayed your subject, not, I fear, as he is, but as he should be," responded the Cardinal. "One merit only can I claim, and that is an ardent love for my native country and her political institutions. I consider the republic of the United States one of the most precious heirlooms ever bestowed on mankind down the ages. It is the duty and should be the delight of every citizen to strengthen and perpetuate our government by observance of its laws and by the integrity of the public life."

Born in Baltimore, Md., of Irish parents July 17, 1834, James Gibbons spent his youth in Ireland, but when he was a lad of 14 years his family returned to America, settled in New Orleans where he acted as "punctual grocer's boy."

Graduated from St. Charles

His ambition for the priesthood began in those early days. At 21 he began preparations for his service in the Roman Catholic church. Graduating with distinguished honor from Historic St. Charles College in Maryland, he pursued his studies at the Seminary of St. Sulpice and St. Mary's University in Baltimore. His heart was moved by the tragedy he witnessed and throughout life he was strongly opposed to war.

Bishop Gibbon became Archbishop of the diocese, then the highest dignitary of the Roman Catholic church in the United States.

Sent to Rome in 1883.

As Archbishop, he headed the delegation of American prelates to Rome in 1883. He outlined their plans for the third plenary council to be held the next year. Pope Leo XIII. appointed him to preside over the council. He directed the enactment of many new decrees which were favorably approved by the ecclesiastical authorities.

"Religion," he said shortly before his health, is the only solid basis for society. Religion is to society what cement is to a modern building: it makes all parts compact and coherent. The teachings of Christ have been the basis of all Christian legislation for nearly 2,000 years and continue to be the light and guide for hundreds of millions of souls. Neither Solon nor Lycurgus nor Justinia nor Napoleon nor any other framer of laws ever exerted a tithe of the influence which the gospel of Christ exercises on the human races."

Last Days Among Friends.

The last day of Cardinal Gibbons were spent among his friends in his native Baltimore. He was a picturesque figure on the streets. Notwithstanding his high office, His Eminence was one of the most democratic of Americans. During his daily walks about the city, he received the respectful salutions of persons of all faiths, responding with his genial and cordial smile whether to a policeman or a distinguished financier.

Friends Were at Bedside.

The aged prelate wielded to an illness which confined him to his bed the greater part of the winter. Monsignor John Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States, Bishop Corrigan, vicar-general of the Baltimore diocese, and a large number of other clergymen were in the Cardinal's home when he died.

Cadinal Gibbons was born in Baltimore July 30, 1834. When James was three years old, the family returned to Ireland. They returned to the United States when he was 13 settling in New Orleans. He began his religious studies in 1854. He was first appointed assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, Baltimore. He was made Cardinal following the death of Cardinal McCloskey of New York in 1886.

VAUDEVILLE STAR IS NAMED IN LIBEL SUIT BY PIERCE SANITARIUM

Institution is for Soldiers; Actor Said it Was Dirty, Cheerless and Poorly Kept.

PORTLAND, March 24.—(U. P.)—Will Cressy, a vaudeville star, is being sued for $20,000 damages by the Pierce sanitarium, an institution for soldiers. Cressy is alleged to have "maliciously falsified" in a recent speech when he said the institution was "dirty and cheerless and was kept no better than many poorhouses." The complaint also charges Cressy with the statement: "I asked one of the boys what they did for amusement at the sanitarium. He said 'Mr. Cressy, there isn't anything to do here but sit around and wait to die, and watch other boys die before you do'."

Cressy came to Portland on the Orpheum circuit. The papers were served last night as the actor boarded the San Francisco train.

MARKET SHOWS ADVANCE IN WHEAT PRICE TODAY

An increase in the price of both March and May wheat is apparent today, March wheat closing at $1.53 and May at $1.41 3-4. Yesterday March closed at $1.50 5-8 and May at $1.41 1-4. Following are the quotations from Overbeck & Cooke Co.:

Wheat.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
March	1.50	1.53¾	1.49	1.53
May	1.40½	1.43	1.39½	1.41¾

Wheat—A pre holiday market dominated by the preponderance of export orders rather than influential news. An encouraging feature to holders was the absorption power noted on all breaks. Spot premiums in Chicago were slightly lower, while other markets reported firmness with an improvement in milling demand. Minneapolis millers were said to be actively bidding for wheat in the southwest and the former reported that Canadian wheat there was selling as much as 40 cents over their May prices. Export sales for the day were placed at 500,000 bushels gulf wheat and it was intimated that Germany would be in the market for an additional two million bushels at slightly lower prices. It would not be surprising to see an improved domestic flour demand in the very pear future. With continued buying for export account would no doubt stimulate influence on the future market.

CACKLING HEN MAY NOT LAY THE EGGS

OBJECT TO BEARING FULL COST OF WORK ON THOMPSON STREET

Property Owners Want Help In Meeting Charges for Providing Drainage Line.

Thompson street property owners do not want to bear the entire cost of the surface drainage system that will be required to carry off the Thompson street water when the street is paved. Last evening a delegation, including N. Berkeley, Mrs. J. M. Cook and Mrs. L. B. Ramsdell appeared before the council to make their protest known. The question was taken under advisement by the council and in considering the subject the council will act as a committee of the whole. It is pointed out by officials that the precedent in such cases is for the property owners to bear the entire expense as this was done by owners on South Main when that street was paved.

No Legal Objections.

City Attorney Harold Warner reported on the question of renaming the local streets, saying that no legal objections exist why the streets should not be renamed if found expedient to do so.

Paving bonds to the amount of $[illegible] for four small paving districts on the north side were considered at the meeting last evening. The paving company is to take the bonds.

The city surveyor was ordered to construct by force account a proposed extension of the Arc street sewer lateral.

U. S. REQUESTS RETURN OF RICH DRAFT EVADER

Secretary of War Weeks and Secretary of State Hughes Will Hold Conferences.

WAR DEPARTMENT WILL INSIST ON HIS RETURN

Campaign is Launched to Catch Draft Dodgers; Cannot Let Him Go Unchallenged.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(A. L. Bradford, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Secretary of War Weeks sent Secretary of State Hughes all the papers in the case of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll with the request that Weeks be advised what further action he was to take. Weeks asked the state department to consider the situation from an international standpoint and tell him what should be done to secure the surrender of Bergdoll and the release of the two Americans who recently attempted to capture the millionaire draft dodger. The fact that this had been asked of Germany was learned and announced by the United Press exclusively yesterday. Weeks and Hughes are to hold several conferences within the next few days to make effectual the demand of the United States that Germany surrender Bergdoll and release the men imprisoned for trying to capture him. It was learned from high officials today that the war department will leave "no stone unturned" to secure Bergdoll. It was pointed out that a campaign to catch 160,000 draft evaders was just being launched and authorities cannot afford to let the defiance of a rich man go unchallenged while apprehending those of lesser means. The belief prevailed that Germany finally will surrender Bergdoll, but the Berlin government is hesitating because of the popular outcry that would follow.

ABRAMS DENIES BEING CONSULTED REGARDING STILLMAN'S DIVORCE

Reports Were He Would With His Oscillophore Determine Paternity of Guy Stillman.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—(U. P.)—A denial that he had been consulted by the litigants in the Stillman divorce controversy was made by Dr. Albert B. Abrams to the United Press. The statement was in answer to reports from the east that Dr. Abrams had been brought into the case and would, by means of his oscillophore, determine the paternity of Guy Stillman. Abrams did not deny the case had been called to his attention by his eastern representative, Dr. Sigman Helfer.

Legitimacy Could be Proved.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—(U. P.)—The question of the Stillman's baby's legitimacy could be determined by "electric vibrations of Abrams" when put to the test in oscillophore, beyond the possibility of a doubt, declared Dr. Abrams. All that is necessary would be to have a minute portion of the child's blood submitted, he said. Stillman charges that Fred Beauvais, said to have Indian blood, is the father of baby Guy.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(U. P.)—One of the three affidavits filed in the first open hearing of the Stillman divorce scandal at White Plains yesterday contained copies of five letters Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman is alleged to have received from Fred Beauvais, a French-Canadian guide, whom James A. WASHINGTON, March 24.—(A. P.)—The snappy "buck private" with visions of outshining his comrades on Easter by the use of non-regulation touches around his attire, today received the news that Secretary Weeks had issured an order placing a ban on all non-regulation clothing.

In February, 1919, a war department order was issued permitting the wearing of certain uniform articles procured during the war emergency. Today's order rescinded that ruling.
