DECEMBER 18 IS DATE SELECTED FOR BABY CLINIC

The third clinic to be held under the auspices of the Marion County Children's bureau will be Thursday afternoon, December 18, in the auditorium of the Commercial club, as heretofore, at half past one o'clock. The date was announced at the business meeting of the organization held yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club.

Matters of a purely business nature were discussed, and a number of broader endeavors tentatively planned. One thing of importance was the suggestion of having a follow up committee, whose duties it will be to examine all score cards as soon as issued to ascertain just what attention each child needs and follow up these especial children and see that the proper care is given.

Lectures Planned.

Lectures and informal talks by specialists on the various ailments peculiar to childhood and the treatment for same will also be a part of the bureau's program in the near future. Round table discussion for mothers will be arranged for shortly, when perplexing questions concerning the clothing, entertaining and general upbringing of children will be talked over in an informal way.

The members went on record as approving the adoption of weighing and measuring in all the schools, and making the scales, charts and measuring rods a permanent part of the school's equipment.

A series of "jitneys" in the various schools will be started shortly, if the plans of the bureau materialze through which the necessary money can be obtained to purchase this equipment, the balance to be used in furthering the work of child welfare work in Salem.

Score Cards Coming.

Great good has already crowned the efforts of the children's bureau, the interest extending, as it was intended to do, all over the county.

The official score cards are in from headquarters in Portland, and will be issued as soon as possible by the local secretary, Mrs. F. Von Eschen, 1775 Court street, to whom all applications for entrance cards at the next clinic should be made.

Babies scoring high at the last clinic were: Thelma Bell Lincoln, 99 1-2, Silverton, daughter of James Lincoln; Frances Gildon, 99, daughter of Melvin Gildon of Aumsville; Jean Van Slyke, 98 1-2, daughter of E. C. Van Slyke, 1340 Marion street, Salem; Loren May Harold, 981-2, daughter of Olaf Harold, Salem, R. F. D. 8; Julius Lee Harold, 98 1-2, Salem, R. F. D. 8; Marion Cheffing, 98, daughter of Floyd Cheffing, 2460 Maple avenue; Luther Paul Koehler, 97 1-2, son of George Koehler 1750 State street, Salem.

STATE DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS WILL FORM DEPARTMENT

The three tents in the state of the Daughters of Veterans—Salem, Portland and Marshfield—will meet in this city at the armory Saturday at 10 a. m. and form the state department. Under the regulations of the national organization of the Daughters of Veterans there must be three tents in a state before the state department can be formed. With Marshfield, Salem and Portland comprising the necessary number of tents it is planned to gain a state department charter at the meeting Saturday.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott, president of the Daughters of Veterans of this city, said today that it is the hope of the members of the organization that after the state department has been formed eligibles in other cities will form tents. At the meeting here Saturday officers for the state department will be elected.

ANCIENT NIAGARA IS FOUND BY ENGINEERS

Thorold, Ont., Dec. 5.—(United Press)—What engineers believe is an ancient Niagara Falls, which has been buried for thousands of years, has been uncovered here during the course of excavations for the new Welland Ship canal.

The "skeleton" of this great prehistoric cataract, according to engineers in charge of construction, was fully as wide and probably had a greater fall than the present Niagara Falls.

The first indications of the former cataract came to light when workmen uncovered a series of ledges in the form of steps with a total drop of 25 feet and a width of 400 feet. The rock from this point sloped sharply and a distance of about 100 feet from the end of the ledges showed a depth of 75 feet. Here was discovered what is believed to have been the main precipice over which the rushing water plunged hundreds of feet to its bed below.

The surface of the rock showed unmistakable signs of having been worn smooth by the action of water rushing over it for countless years.

There is nothing in history that mentions this former cataract, but experts believe it once formed the chief link between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Eight Mile Creek, a small stream, now flows over part of the course of the prehistoric waterway, and this in turn will soon become the new ship canal.

COAST SHIPPING IS LITTLE EFFECTED BY RULING UPON FUEL

San Francisco, Dec. 5.—The fuel administration order against coaling of ships flying foreign flags in California ports will have little or no immediate effect on trans-Pacific shipping, is the opinion of local shipping men.

After one o'clock tomorrow morning foreign vessels will be unable to fill their bunkers in California ports, according to the order issued yesterday by the fuel and railroad administratoins.

Officials of the T. K. KK. line, which flies the Japanese flag, said no sailings after today are scheduled until December 24. The Shinyo Maru will leave at 1 p. m. today. The Koyo Maru, which recently returned with a fire in her hold left this morning. The loss was only $20,000 the company said.

Vessels of other lines will coal at Vancouver, if the order still is in effect in January, officials said. The China Mail company with one boat under British registry, will be unaffected. Its other boats fly the American flag.

ARMY OFFICER BACK OF SPORTSMEN WHO SEEK TO SAVE GAME

Peter P. Carney
(National Sports Syndicate)

Free shooting and fishing must not be allowed to disappear, for directly thereon rest not only the health and happiness of thousands of our citizens, but in a large measure, our national security. No one doubts that as a nation we must always depend upon the virility of our young manhood.

Major General Hugh L. Scott strongly urges that both state and federal aid be given to every legitimate movement to make attractive and perpetuate our outdoor interests.

Hunting and fishing he places in the front rank of outdoor sports, which he believes was one of the greatest factors in making it possible for Uncle Sam to cross the seas with an army capable of standing the strain and acquitting themselves as our boys did.

General Scott knows whereof he speaks. Retired under the age limit, his robust body and keen mind permitted him to jump back into harness at his country's call. He credits his fitness to the clean outdoor life he has lead.

The most important thing to keep in mind is the sensible conserving of the game and fish we have now. No one section of the country must be allowed to over indulge its natural wish to take game or fish to its own detriment or to that of another section.

Whether we perpetuate a species by artificial breeding and distribution, or by common sense restrictive legislation, is not the point. The fact is that each and every American species must be saved and increased to numbers permitting at least some shooting. We cannot afford to delay or quibble over doing a thing that must be done.

The incentive to go afield being provided, some place to go must be furnished. The federal government, the states, associations or philanthropic individuals should set aside at once as many public hunting preserves as possible. This duty is the duty of the state but the state is an abstract term. It is up to the citizens to start the ball rolling.

Everyone Should Help

Marshes are being drained and thickets cleared to provide more grain and incidentally more dollars to some individuals. Now is the time to buy, while much territory can still be purchased at a low figure. Again, the question is not who shall provide, but the fact that some territory for public shooting and fishing must be provided. All interested should put their shoulders to the wheel and help.

This does not mean simply sportsmen, but all Americans who wish to see our nation composed of strong, healthy men, who may be better able to withstand the duties of our "strenuous" life.

WILLAMETTE GIRL REPRESENTS WEST IN NATIONAL MEET

Winner of the Pacific coast interstate oratorical contest, held at Los Angeles in 1917, Miss Margaret Garrison, student at the Willamette university, will participate in the national oratorical contest of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association, to be held at Des Moines January 5. In the 19 years of this contest series, only two other women have won entrance to the national, although many women have entered and eliminated in the preliminaries. So the position Miss Garrison has won on oratory is very high.

The series throughout offers a great number and variety of high hon or positions; there are many chances en route to the very highest, the national, for obtaining lasting recognition and high honor, as well as great practical experience.

First, there is held the "home" college or university contest, often preceded by a number of "tryouts," to select the half dozen best local speakers. The winner of the local contest is no longer a local speaker—he now is the representative of his school to the state.

Second, the representatives of the various colleges compete for highest state intercollegiate honors and cash prizes. It is a worthy honor and means much, recognition to win a state contest, or even to enter it, if the preliminary has been a good one.

Third, state winners enter the interstate to represent both their home school and their entire state in the contest which includes a group of from four to nine states.

Fourth, the victors in the interstate contests enter the national. Here the supreme degree of honor is reached —"winning the national."

Ex-Soldiers Twin Hunters As Aftermath Of Training

Boston, Dec. 5.—Hundreds of former soldiers are having their first thrills of hunting in the woods and mountains of New England this season, according to game wardens and license clerks.

These officials say that with their knowledge of firearms gained in the army, many men who never hunted before are enthusiastically on the trail of game this year. The increase in the number of hunters and their skill in handling guns is reflected in the unusually large kill of deer, moose and bears, the haul being particularly heavy in Northern Maine and New Hampshire.

POSTAGE INCREASE ADVOCATED

Washington, Dec. 5.—Increases in second class postage rates were proposed today in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Fess, Ohio. Rates of postage on magazines and periodicals, would be based on the percentage of advertising carried.
