VALSETZ ROAD TO BE ASSET TO CITY

that freight from the Valsetz line would simply pass through Salem on a through routing and the acquisition of the road would mean no more to Salem than it would to Claxtar or some other flag stop along the Oregon Electric.

Espee officials state that the road under present conditions, when operating to capacity as in the middle of the summer, will handle as high as 40 cars of freight daily. It is figured around 25 cars of freight a day move over the road and Salem handles this every other day, the odd days the freight being routed out of Independence. But, they say, with acquisition of the road by the Southern Pacific and its operation directly as an Espee line, the entire routing will be into Salem.

Salem, in fact, they state, is the only town with terminal facilities in this section equipped to handle the freight traffic. It will probably mean, they say, the addition of two crews here, at least, when the new plans get under way.

All of the freight must come into Salem, they say, because the Valsetz trains must be broken up for rerouting of the cars and this will be done here, with some going north, some going south, and some routed for eastern shipment. When the big new Inman-Poulsen development comes on there is no telling to what extent it may increase the freight traffic over the Valsetz road and it may mean an entire rehabilitation of the lines between here and Independence to handle the heavy business which will roll down the Valsetz, into Independence and on into Salem, and from here to be broken up for destinations all over the country.

The present business of the Valsetz now includes a considerable number of hog fuel cars, the most of them routed directly into Salem for either industrial or domestic consumption in this city. Some of them go elsewhere but mostly in this immediate section.

The Valsetz road is 40 miles long from Independence to the Valsetz terminal at the head of the Luckiamute. The Southern Pacific already operates some summer excursion trains up into that section for fishermen and outing parties. With the Inman-Poulsen Lumber company development promised by the big or company development promised by the big timber buy of that concern, there are chances of Valsetz developing into quite a little town and with all of its business routing directly down into Salem virtually all of its development will be more or less reflected in new business for Salem, state railroad officials.

The possibility of developing a through train service between Salem, Independence and Valsetz is said to be a very strong one, with but one small thing standing in the way, that being a matter of priority service for train crews which have been operating for years on the Valsetz line. It is thought, however, this can be worked out and it is considered likely the through service may become a reality the coming summer. The train, if operated, will be both for passengers and freight.

The Oregon Electric, if it had acquired the road, had plans of bridging the Willamette at Orville and hooking the Valsetz onto the main line at that place. This, say Espee officials, would have meant only through traffic through Salem. But the Espee, they state, will bring the cars to the main line at its nearest place—Salem, and break up the trains for re-routing from here.

STYLE SHOWS HAVE TROUSERS FOR MISS

Yachting pajamas are one of the newest items of trouser display. They are made of white with light blue shirt and dark blue jacket.

Stylists predict great success for dinner pajamas of definite sophistication.

One such model has gray sequin trousers worn with a tight bodice which has a strap decollete. Another is pale pink silk crepe with a high necked bodice made of the open silk mesh which is new and much used for spring.

All pajamas feature wide semi-flaring lines tight hips and bodices which are generally attached to the trousers. Pajama costumes have loose hip length coats.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY BILLINGS
West Salem—Mrs. Mary Scovell Billings was born May 4, 1851, in Iowa, and died Friday, January 16, 1931, at her home, 1375 Plaza street, West Salem.

She crossed the plains to Oregon with her parents when she was two years old and with the exception of a short residence in Corvallis spent 70 years of her life in and near Salem.

She was the mother of W. F. McAdams, who is special delivery carrier for the Salem postoffice and also mailing clerk at the state house during the legislative session, and of Miss Lotta W. McAdams, both of whom made their home with her in West Salem. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. G. A. Nye of Salem, a brother, Cobb Hinkle of Lakeview, two nieces, Mrs. W. A. McCollum of Portland and Miss Vivian Hinkle of Salem; two nephews, J. C. Hinkle of Portland and Sichel Hinkle of Salem; two cousins, Mrs. C. A. Gray and Miss Alda Scovell of Salem.

Mrs. Billings was a daughter of Loren Scovell and a niece of Cal. Scovell, both of whom were pioneer stage drivers from Portland to the California line. She was married twice, both companions preceding her in death many years ago. She suffered a broken hip three years ago, since which time she has been confined to her home.

She was a member of Ford Memorial Methodist church and was called "Aunt Mary" by a host of friends.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Billings were conducted by her pastor, Rev. M. A. Groves, at the Clough-Barrick chapel, Monday afternoon, January 19. He preached from the text found in II. Timothy 4:7,8.

Mrs. Guy Newgent and Rev. F. L. Cannell, a former pastor, sang two beautiful duets with Miss Ruth Bedford as accompanist. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, Salem.

Relatives and close friends attending the services included Mrs. Kittie Evans of California, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eley, Mrs. W. A. McCollum, Portland, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Foley, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tom, Mrs. Carrie Strong, Mrs. Mary Lowell, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Ollie Miner, Corvallis; Mr. and Mrs. Plov, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Williams, and Miss Lavelle Williams, Airlie.
