Progress Made Upon Lebanon School Building

Lebanon—Good progress is being made in construction of the three-room addition to the Queen Anne school house. Cement was poured for the foundation Friday, and work on the superstructure is getting under way.

The addition is being erected by the Walter J. Bloute firm of Portland, which was awarded the contract on a bid of $9973. S. A. Patterson, also of Portland, is superintending construction, and the force which will average from four to seven men, are all from Lebanon with one exception.

The foundation walls, ranging from three to three and a half feet high, are of cement while the balance of the exterior will be made from one by eight siding. The plans call for a roof identical to that of the existing school house.

The western portion of the addition will contain two class rooms, and that on the east a music room. The inner walls of the L-shaped addition form a court which may be entered through the gymnasium.

Parking Will Improve

Lebanon — Parking congestion here is expected to be much relieved upon the completion of paving of Ash street between Main and Second. Diagonal parking has been ordered on the block, permitting nearly twice as many cars to park. The street is 44 feet wide, compared to the standard width of 32 feet. Completion of the improvement, which includes construction of curbs and sidewalk, is scheduled about August 10, according to E. M. Crabtree, foreman, and the block will be open for light travel August 24, and for heavy traffic two weeks from that date.

Dallas Church Host to Group

Dallas—A meeting of the Willamette Presbyterial was held at Dallas Friday in the Presbyterian church with approximately 100 members from the Woman's Missionary society of the Willamette valley present for the meeting. It was originally announced the meeting would take place in the city park but adverse weather conditions resulted in the change to the church.

Mrs. Skavlan of Eugene, president of the Presbyterial, presided at the meetings. During the morning session a director's meeting was held with Rev. Mahan, pastor of the Independence church and also clerk of the synod of Oregon, gave a talk in which he told of the plans for the fall meeting of the synod which will be held in Salem in October. The remainder of the morning was spent in informal discussions of plans for the month's work.

A covered dish picnic luncheon was served in the dining room at noon.

During the afternoon Mrs. Evanston of Eugene led the devotions. The principal speaker was Mrs. William Dielschneider of McMinnville, former president of the Willamette Presbyterial, and she talked on missionary work.

A Mrs. Robinson of McMinnville, stewardship secretary of the Willamette Presbyterial, talked on the work of her department and stated that the 1940-41 year would be known as Stewardship year in the society. Mrs. Mahan of Independence also gave a brief talk.

It was announced that the next meeting of the Presbyterial would also be held in Salem and would be held the fourth Friday in September.

Wiprud Automobile Damaged by Deer

Independence—Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiprud of Montana and their two children, Virginia Lee and Billy, called at the McIntosh home Friday afternoon for a visit.

Dr. Wiprud practiced dentistry here about ten years ago and lived next door south of the McIntosh home.

Virginia will enter high school this fall and Billy is entering the fifth grade. They encountered a deer on the highway coming over through the mountains and damaged their car somewhat. They will visit friends in Portland a few days.

Early Real Estate Price Draws Interest

By E. B. Fletcher

Along the Salem-Silverton road, in 1880, good farm land could be bought for $80 per acre. When it became generally known that the William Herren farm on Salem Prairie had had been sold for a figure close to $100 per acre, farmers along this road began to consult one another and real estate agents about prices, which soon advanced and soon other farms were selling at $100 per acre.

The William Herren farm, now known as the Walker place, is situated four miles from Salem, where the highway makes a turn, just north of the Middle Grove school. The residence and barns on this place have been landmarks for many years. It was sold to E. P. Walker in 1880, and the price at that time was reported to be $16,000.

Mr. Walker and his family came from Illinois to Salem in 1880 and settled on this farm. He had visited Oregon in 1875 in search of a home, going as far south as Roseburg. Five years later, on returning to Oregon, he showed his preference for Salem Prairie by making this purchase.

Noah Herren owned a farm across the road from the William Herren place. An early day school was located across the Silverton road from where the Middle Grove school now stands. The Walkers purchased the Noah Herren farm, and also the one belonging to John Herren, lying back of the Middle Grove grounds. These and other purchases they made increased their holdings to more than twice the original purchase.

Harvey Walker, a brother of E. P. Walker, brought his family from Illinois to Oregon in 1882, and settled on Salem Prairie. Here he farmed until 1889, when he sold out and moved to Polk county, in the McCoy district. Among other farmers along the Silverton road near the Walkerses were Riley Munkers, Henry Fletcher, Delos Jefferson and Joshua (Jot) Smith.

After several years of successful farming, Mr. Walker left his farms in charge of his sons, and resided in Salem the remainder of his life. He served in the city government as councilman for several years. Mrs. Walker was Miss Clara M. Davis of Tazwell county, Illinois. The names of their children are Thomas F., Mrs. Annie Martin, Mrs. Emma Savage and Harvey Walker.

Independence Man's Body Discovered

Independence—Fred Ernest Hamann of Independence, was found dead under the branches of a black walnut tree near the east end of the bridge leading to the Independence ferry Saturday.

From indications the cause was from alcoholism and strychnine. The body was taken in charge by Coroner Henkle of Dallas after being notified by local police and an investigation may be made. He had been observed by campers near the river, frequenting the spot where he was found, for two or three days.

A bottle of strychnine was found in his clothing and his liquor permit. He is a brother of Mrs. C. M. Baker of this city.

Floyd Fowler Wins Insurance Rating

Dayton—Floyd E. Fowler of Portland, formerly of Dayton, has returned from the annual convention of the Tower club of the Northern Life Insurance company, held last week at Seattle, Wash. He automatically became president of the convention by volume of sales. D. B. Morgan, president of the company, reports, and a picture of himself and Floyd, appeared in the Friday Oregonian.

He qualified over all the company's agents from every part of the United States, setting an outstanding record, Morgan reported. The three high offices were earned by Oregon men, M. H. Cummings of Corvallis, first vice-president; O. E. Lee of Salem, second vice-president.

This is the second consecutive year that Oregon, under the supervision of J. C. Long of Portland has carried off the honors of the Tower club. Frank J. Sardam, a representative of the Northern Life Insurance company of Seattle, reports.

Other members of the club from Oregon are V. L. Guild, Corvallis; J. A. Ostrom, Portland; S. G. Scott, of Bend; W. E. D. Turner, Portland; L. H. Cline of McMinnville.

OCE Faculty Changes Made

Monmouth — Dr. Willis B. Merriam, a member of the faculty of Eastern Washington College of Education at Cheney, has been named by the Oregon state board of education to succeed Dr. J. Norman Carlo, assistant professor of geography at Oregon College of Education.

Dr. Carlo, who has been with O.C.E. for the past five years, has accepted a position as head of the geography department at the Eastern Illinois State Teachers' college at Charleston, Ill. He left Monmouth last weekend by motor to visit Alaska and Canadian points enroute to Illinois.

Dr. Merriam is completing work this summer at the University of Washington for his Ph.D. degree. His dissertation is on the Rogue river in Oregon. He is the author of numerous articles published in geographical magazines in recent years.

Miss Alphenia Brenton, assistant professor of art, has been granted leave without pay for three months. Mrs. Marie Ring Erickson replaces Miss Brenton.

Miss Viola Brandt was appointed assistant professor of education and supervisor of teaching to replace Edith Norton, who resigned.

A leave of absence without pay for one year has been granted to Miss Dora Gallagher, assistant professor of education.

Mrs. Hazel Kirk Blackerby, assistant professor of physical education, resigned, is being replaced by Miss Ruth Lautenbach.

Sarah Eleanor Gill, supervisor of health, who has been in charge of the college infirmary for several years, has resigned to take a similar position at the University of Montana at Bozeman. She is both a registered and public health nurse. Ruth Denney, infirmary nurse, whose home is in Beaverton, will succeed Miss Gill. Miss Denney is attending the University of Oregon's medical school this summer.

Silver Creek Falls Chosen for Outings

Silver Falls State Park—Mrs. J. P. Heck returned to her home in Seattle Friday, after spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Goodwin.

Eighty representatives of McNess Products company of the state of Oregon, held their annual picnic and business meeting at Silver Creek Falls park Thursday. The field representative and northwest superintendent conducted the business meeting. Several members of the group made the hike through to the north falls after the meeting.

The Gates Improvement club members held their annual picnic at Silver Creek Falls park with the following members present: Mrs. Ruby Horner, Mrs. Ruby Minton, Reba Moberg, Mrs. Murphy, Les Ratzburg, Mrs. Willis, Roy Taylor, Glen Henness, Al Milnap, Mrs. Kiecker, Mrs. Knutson, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Irwin. Several of the members made the hike around the falls. After lunch the group was joined by Mrs. E. V. Collins.

Little White Dog Belies Her Name

Silverton—"Lady," the well bred wire-haired terrier of Camas, Wash., who is taking her summer vacation of a few weeks in Silverton while her master and mistress, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Powell are taking a trip into Canada, is making herself a valuable guest, although until the object of her act was understood she came near being given a second bath and combing.

"Lady" is very white and woolley when she is clean but she followed up her last grooming by coming in from the vegetable garden a purely black dog. She insisted on the family following her to her scene of operation where she had laid out in a neat pile by the side of a hole 18 inches deep, a mother gopher and four baby gophers with their nest well scattered and evidence of teeth punctures in the backs of their necks.

Bartlett Heirs Seek to Break Burkhart Will

Albany — Contesting the will of Sylonia Burkhart, Frank B. Hale, administrator of the estate of Jessie Hale Bartlett, filed a petition in behalf of the Bartlett heirs in probate court Saturday asking that the Burkhart will be set aside.

Mrs. Burkhart left an estate valued at more than $80,000. The Bartlett heirs are Fred B. and Elizabeth Bartlett.

Named as defendants or contestees are Thomas E. Swan, as executor of the will of Sylonia Burkhart, Laura Burkhart, also known as Mrs. F. G. Burkhart and Grant Hale.

The contestants allege in their complaint that Sylonia Burkhart was of unsound mind and memory because of age and disease and was mentally incompetent to handle her affairs. They also allege that Laura Burkhart assumed to control and direct the mind and will of Mrs. Burkhart and compelled Mrs. Burkhart to do and perform every act desired by her sister.

It is also claimed that the deceased was made to believe that her niece and nephew, Frederick B. and Jessie Bartlett, were not worthy and did not merit consideration in reception of property upon her death.

Mrs. Burkhart died in November of 1939 and it was declared that the will was signed on September 5, 1939, when the deceased was of unsound mind.

Jessie Hale Bartlett died intestate in Boise, Ida., March 1940 and left an estate in Linn county. Her husband was appointed administrator of this estate.

The petition asks for an order revoking and setting aside the will signed by Sylonia Burkhart on September 5, 1939, and purporting to be witnessed by L. L. Swan and Frances Mahlum, Salem.

The petition also asked that Mrs. Burkhart be adjudged to have been incompetent to make a will on that date and it also asks for an order adjudging and decreeing that Sylonia Burkhart died intestate.

Bank Report Received

Albany—C. C. Bryant, teacher of the First National bank, has received a notice of approval of final report on the liquidation of the bank reported Saturday. The report came from Preston Delano, comptroller of the currency at Washington, D. C.

Bryant reported that a number of checks are still in his office, uncalled for, most of which are for small amounts. The checks will be held in Albany until July 31, and after that date, they will be sent to Washington, D. C., where claimants will have to redeem them, Mr. Bryant announced.
