$50,000 Goes To Air Guard

Oregon's Air National Guard Thursday afternoon was granted $50,000 by the National Guard Bureau for rehabilitation of the Air Guard buildings at the Portland air base.

The funds were allocated to the Oregon Air Guard following a conference in Portland of Oregon's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea and Maj. E. M. Elliott, air installation officer for the National Guard Bureau, Washington, D. C.

In all 68 buildings belonging to the Oregon National Guard and damaged in the 1948 flood will be renovated with the funds. This will include the hangars, unit orderly rooms, supply rooms, flight hangar, operations rooms and other buildings. Work, according to Gen. Rilea, will be started at once on the project.

The National Guard Bureau had previously allowed the Oregon Air Units $15,000 toward repairing the flood-damaged buildings.

James Roosevelt to Make 'Announcement'

Los Angeles, Nov. 11 (AP) — James Roosevelt, FDR's eldest son, is expected to announce his intentions for the governership of California next Tuesday.

He scheduled a perss conference for the afternoon and a radio broadcast that night. Political insiders figure that Roosevelt, after pulse-taking tours of the state, is now ready to make his candidacy known. His probable major opponent in the 1950 democratic primary: George Lucky, Truman campaign manager in this state last year.

Every team in the National Hockey league won more games than it lost in 1948-49.

Milk Seminar November 16

City milk inspectors, fieldmen of fluid milk plants, mayors, city managers and milk plant operators of all cities having their own milk inspection service are being invited to attend the milk sanitation seminar scheduled for Portland November 16-18.

The seminar, first of its kind held in Oregon, is sponsored jointly by the Portland bureau of health and the state department of agriculture.

The three-day seminar will consider mainly matters of sanitation for dairy farms and milk plants as they relate to the state and municipal milk codes, according to Kenneth E. Carl, assistant chief of the division of foods and dairies who is in charge of milk law enforcement for the state department of agriculture.

Agencies cooperating in the sessions will include the Oregon State college, Oregon state board of health and the U.S. public health service. Under the program arrangement, the first day and a half will be devoted principally to matters of prime concern to sanitarians and fieldmen on production; the rest of the program will be for sanitarians and enforcement personnel from the various cities. A special Thursday night program is set for plant operators.

In two special features, Deane Seeger of Eugene, secretary of the League of Oregon Cities, will discuss "City Administrators Look at Milk Sanitation" on Thursday; and Dr. G. H. Wilster, professor of dairy manufacturing, OSC, will give highlights on Friday from the world dairy congress at Stockholm, Sweden.

The seminar will be held in the recreational room of the Damascus Milk company.
