Potato, Onion Market

Oregon State College—Potato and onion shipments continue to decline, and prices were unchanged to lower.

Potato shipments during the week ending February 14 were heavier than shipments of a week ago. Total shipments in the nation this past week totaled around 4000 cars. This was an increase of some 350 cars over shipments of a week earlier. Here in Oregon, total shipments this season to date are around 800 cars ahead of shipments a year ago.

Potato prices this past week were slightly lower than prices of a week ago. Potato prices at some of the leading markets dropped off from 5 to 25 cents a hundred during the past week. At Portland this past week, prices for Oregon russets, U. S. No. 1's, started slipping near the start of the week, but steadied and were holding firm as the week closed. Wholesale prices ranged from $4.25 to $4.50 a hundred for the U. S. No. 1 russets, and the bakers were selling from $5 to $5.50 a hundred. At Chicago, Idaho russets have been unsteady in price all week. Supplies have been moderate, demand slow and the market slightly weaker. On February 17, washed, Idaho russets, U. S. No. 1 A's, 25 to 30 per cent 10 ounce minimum and larger, sold in carlot track sales for $4.95 a hundredweight. This was from 10 to 20 cents a hundredweight lower than prices of a week earlier.

The nation's shipments this past week totaled 368 cars. This is around 135 cars less than the previous week, and 71 cars less than during the corresponding week one year ago. Shipments from Oregon this past week totaled 100 cars and from Idaho 44 cars.

On the Portland wholesale market this past week onion prices remained unchanged. Oregon western yellows, medium in size, U. S. No. 1's, wholesaled from $3.50 to $3.75 a 50 pound sack.

At other markets in the nation prices held quite steady throughout the past week. No great changes were noted at New York, Chicago, Kansas City, or San Francisco.

Prices for other vegetables on the Portland wholesale market this past week were mostly steady with small price changes. Local cabbage sold mostly around $2.50 a crate for the medium size, and cauliflower wholesaled from $1.35 to $1.50 a crate. Oregon Hubbard squash sold mostly for 3 to 4 cents a pound with a few bringing 5 cents a pound.

Chicago Livestock

Chicago (AP)—With outside order buyers still on the sidelines Wednesday, hog prices took on a steady to 25 cents lower look even though there was a small reduction in the supply. The 3½-month peak price of $21.00 was maintained, however.

Cattle were mostly steady to 50 cents higher although some heavier heifers evidenced weakness.

Sheep trading was slowed by heavy receipts.

Butcher weight hogs generally sold from $19.75 to $20.85 and sows from $16.75 to $18.75.

Good to prime steers and yearlings sold within a narrowing range of $21.00 to $28.50 while good and choice heifers were $20.50 to $25.00. Cows had a practical top of $16.00.
