FARMERS RAISELATTIE POULTRY .- FARM-FARMERS RAISELATTLE POULTRY.—FARM-ers must endesvor to raise more poultry. If they had been able to supply this mar-ket during the Winter the prices they would have received would have more than made up for the poor prices they are getting for potatoes and onions. Dealers here are scouring the country all the time in search of poultry, but find very little. One of them said vestories that since One of them said yesterday that since One of them said yesterday that since February 1 he has imported from the East and sold no less than 25,00 pounds of turkeys, at an average price of E cents per pound. He is also importing from the East 20 dozens of Spring chickens for frying every week. There is sale for all the coultry that can be raised, at good paying serioss. Yesterday a farmer was offered 5 cents a sack for a load of good sound mions, but said he would drive around to dealers and try and get 50 cents for them. A good turkey would have brought as much as ten sacks of onions. He said he had received 14 a sack for onions, and a had received is a small had paid $6 a sack for dealer said that he had paid $6.50 for a sack of onlons which had had sprouts cut off of them, and sold it for $5. This was the high-water murk for onlons. Choice fancy potatoes are now selling for $50 cents a and common ones for $60 cents. All these old shacks will.

Save Portland Negligories in tender to clear off the old rotten shacks and put up a five-atory brick building, but none of his tenants takes any stock in it, nor does any one else. However, all things come to an end in time, and probably these old shacks will. potatoes are now selling for 50 cents a sack, and common ones for 40 cents. All farmers can tell of receiving $2 a sack, in days gone by, and occasionally more, but not often. Just now many potatoes are being used in fattening pigs, and with some meal and a little milk they make very fine pork. Farmers cannot expect high prices for potatoes or onions, or poultry, even, every year, but if they will produce plenty of all, when one goes flown the other will probably go up, and make DAIRTMAN SATS HE LOSES MONEY .-- A dairyman at Skamokawa, who is going out of business, complains that he can-not find purchasers for his cows. He says not find purchasers for his cows. He says that usually there are no cows to be bought at this time of the year, but this spring there seems to be no demand for them, so he imagines that every one must be going out of the business. One man has written to him to say that his cows cannot be very good at the prices he asks for them. That is a reasonable supposition, for there is large demand here for good cows at good prices, and it is not good cows at good prices, and it is not known that any dairymen in this section are going out of business. There should be more in the business, judging from the prices the people of Fortland have been paying for butter of late. The complainant has not stated why he is going out of business. Probably it is because he is not making money in it, and this may be because he has not the right kind of stock. No one wants to purchase a business that does not pay.

SALOON MAN WANTS A REBATE. - A Saloon Man Wants a Remate.—A saloon man was at the City Hall yester-day, complaining that he had been hardly used because no rebate was allowed him when he had to vacate his place a month before his license expired. He was told that rebates were not allowed in such cases. He thought this might be will right in most such cases, but not in his, as he was forced out of his place by having the rent raised from $75 a month to $300, which sum it was of course impossible for him to pay. It was admitted to him that his case was a hard one, but while the

TO INSTALL PERMANENT EXRIBIT. Secretary Lamberson, of the Horticultural Society, is in hope to get installed with the permanent exhibit in the new quar-ters in the Mohawk building, at Third and Morrison streets, before long. Men are at work putting up the elevator, and as soon as the staircase is built he will en-deavor to make arrangements to move in. He says there is not a day passes without more or less people coming up to his desk in the Chamber of Commerce, wishing to see the permanent exhibit. The exhibits are all safely packed away, waiting for the new quarters to be completed, and he does not intend that they shall remain boxed up any longer than is absolutely

REPAIRING FIRST STREET. - Work was started yesterday on the repaying of First street from Stark to Madison, a contract for which was recently let to the Carbolineum Wood Preserving Company. The old pavement, which is of plain wood, has old pavement, which is of plain wood, has been down about six years, and is in a very bad condition. The new pavement will be of blocks treated with carbolingum, which are guaranteed to last ten years. The work of repaving has been commenced at Medison street, and the new pavement is to replace the old one as fast as it is taken up. Only a small force of man has been put at work to start with, and it is not likely that a full force will be obtainable until the strike force will be obtainable until the strike

Stow in Parino Licensera — Licenses have not been paid up for this quarter as promptly as usual; just why is not known, for it is hardly possible that the strike has had anything to do with it. The amount paid in so far this quarter is $45.56, leaving about $5000 yet due. The Auditor now has supervision of the collection of licenses who are entitled to. He was telephoning to a number of business firms yesterday, notifying them that they were delinquent in the matter of license, and that this was the last notice. When asked if notice by telephone would be considered legal, he said he was not required to give any notice, and he was giving them notice as a matter of accommodation. The licenses were due and should have been paid April 10. When persons did not attend to this, the simplest and best way of notifying them was through the Mankelpal Court. A system of fining was tried, but after persons had paid their fine they would get their fine remitted, and then the bother of paying it back was more than the fine was worth, as the records had to be changed and a warrant drawn. A particular effort is being made to collect licenses from all spiritual mediums, palmists, fortune-tellers and others of the class known to the profane as fakirs and impostors, and Auditor Deviln is determined that not one of them shall escarse. profane as fakirs and impostors, and Au-ditor Deviin is determined that not one of them shall escape MAT CONDENN KAMM SHACKS.-An inspector who yesterday looked through the cluster of old shacks maintained by Jacob Kamm at the corner of First and Washington streets says the city should have no trouble in having the whole lot con-demned and removed, as the conditions in-side are even worse than the outside of the buildings, which are unsanitary to a the buildings, which are unsanitary to a shocking degree. The rotting, decaying structures have no connection with the sewer and there are no closets in them, not even a cesspool, nor any water faucet, except in a coffee joint and a stable. This condition of affairs is a menace to the public health and should not be tolerated. There is a rumor in circulation to the effect that Mr. Kamm really intends to clear off the old rotten shacks and nut

SAYS PORTLAND NEGLECTS IDAHO.—Frank Cole, a new member of the City Council of Lewiston, Idaho, inspected the office and exhibits of the Oregon Information Bureau yesterday. He was highly pleased with what he saw, but declared after he was done looking at the limiter that Ore with what he saw, but declared after he was done looking at the display that Oregon could not beat Idaho. "We have the garden spot of the West," said he. "Why, 55 bushels of wheat to the acre is quite common with us. Our Camas and Nez Perces Prairies and Potlatch Ridge can't be beaten anywhere on earth. But we feel that Portland is neglecting us. Your city does not appear to be doing much to bind to it the interests of our country. The O. R. & N. should extend its line to Lewiston, but from the way things look now it will not do so for a long time yet. We are intensely interested in an open river. We look forward impatiently to the time when Cellio Falis and the rapids below will be surrounded by a canal and locks."

Growing With the Times.—It is a suc-

GROWING WITH THE TIMES.—It is a successful enterprise that keeps abreast of the rapid growth of the great West, and the supreme officers of the Order of Washthe supreme officers of the Order of Wash-ington are congratulating themselves over the excellent growth now being made by their society. This society is purely a Western creation, managed by Western men, and is keeping up with the advanced growth of the country. New unions are daily being organized, and in the city sig-nal success is attending the order. The supreme secretary's office has just been supplied with some of the latest filing cabinets, and this office is now said to be the most complete of any society in the United States. The Order of Washington is attaining its present high standing on account of the prompt payment of all its just claims.

TRINTY CRURCH CORNER GOES FOR $12,000.—The northwest corner of the Trinity Church property at Fifth and Oak which sum it was of course impossible for him to pay. It was admitted to him that his case was a hard one, but while the city was in the licensing business, it had nothing to do with the rise in rents. If his rent had been raised $10 a month he would not have expected or asked for a rebate. The fact that his rent had been flucreased exorbitantly was no fault of the city, and no rebate could be made on that account. He concluded to find another place and go into business again and try to get even.

JUST A PIECE OF SLAG.-Colonel Hawkins journeyed up to Oswego yesterday to investigate the story of the meteor falling in that place. He returned last evening and reported that the rock was not a meteor at all, but simply a piece of iron siag from the Oregon Iron Works. A sample was sent to the City Museum by the man who represented that he found it glowing near his house, but, as it looked so much like slag. Colonel Hawkins' suspicions were immediately aroused, and as result he found"it was not a meteor at HEN LAYS & PRIEE EGG.-The Fire Department boys up at engine-house No. 2 have an egg that they think is about as big if not bigger than any of those written about up to the present time. These remarkable doings and the other exploits of Johannes, as described in the old German nursery song, are quite strongly suggested by the blundering stupidity of Hans, the walet, in the German comedy presented by the Arion Society at Arion Hail last night.

"Zu Befehl Herr Leutenant" is the title

"Zu Befehl, Herr Leutnant," is the title of the play in which Lieutenant Wetling. an ambitious young officer, is striving to win a Captaincy and an increased salary which will enable him to marry his sweetheart, Fraulein Neubaner.

The course of the Lieutenant's love does not run smoothly, owing to the innocent machinations of his servant. Hans mixes two letters written by his master, one a love letter intended for Fraulein Neubauer and the other a recommendation for his housekeeper, whom he has been obliged to dismiss after many stormy interviews about the cooking. After the housekeeper has gone it be comes necessary for Hans to order the Lieutenant's dinner from the Casino, and also to go to the house of Fraulein Neubauer, whose birthday it is, and present his master's regret over being unable to be present at her colebration. There is no reason why the Lieutenant cannot go, ex-cept his grief over the loss of a housekeeper, but he considers this a sufficient reason for keeping his room, and Hans explains this satisfactorily, but makes the astonishing demand that the fraulen send over the Lieutenant's dinner. Greatly mystified, she obeys, because she loves him so, but when Wetling discovers that the dinner has come from her instead of the Casino he becomes quite distracetd and sends Hans back with a note of apology.

Through all the complications, however the Lieutenant and the fraulein emerge triumphant, Captain's commission and ali. The part of Lieutenant Welling was played by A. E. Bittner in a very pleas-ing manner: Ma'm'selle Falte, his housekeeper, was excellently played by Mrs. C.
H. Precemeder: the valet, Hans, was eleverly represented by H. Ross, and Miss L. Lamers made a charming Fraulein Neubauer. The part of Fraulein von Seimer, the intimate friend of Fraulein mer, the intimate friend of Fraulein Neu-bauer, was well played by Mrs. G. H. Lob-sien. Otto Roenicke was the capable di-rector of the play, which was followed by

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Portland theater-goers will have an op-portunity this evening at the Marquam Grand Theater of witnessing one of the most delightful comedies ever produced at the above theater in "Are You a Ma-son" It is said to be of such a funny na-ture that the audience catches on very early in the first act, and from that tim on indulges in one large, continuous laugh And there is a whole lot to be laughe at that theater-goers have not laughe at before; and it is all so cleverly do and with such a fascinating spirit of jolity that the most frozen-faced spectator, so it is said, would be compelled to laugh in spite of himself. It is safe to say that no secrets bearing on Masorry will be exposed; and it is country safe to say that this this present the safe to say that the safe to say that the safe to say that this this present it. equally safe to say that this newest funny comedy will make a pronounced hit as a mirth-provoker. The company has been playing the Columbia Theater still remains, but the new owner will probably remove it soon to make way for a new building. The sales were made through F. V. Andrews & Co. piece from the German, has vastly proved the humor of the original, and John C. Rice and Thomas A. Wise, who head the cast, take full opportunity of every point furnished them by the adapter. "Are You a Mason?" will be with a special matinee Saturday.

Ralph Stuart in Prince Otto The lovers of dramatic drama are hav-ing a rare treat this week in the fine proction of "Prince Otto" now running a the Baker Theater. Ralph Stuart and his capable company are more than sus-taining their high standard of excellence. Mr. Stuart is alert and progressive, and his careful and painstaking supervision of every detail of his production is ap-parent in the smooth and artistic per-formances of "Prince Otto."

The play itself is a perfect gem of a theatrical creation—breathing the sweet, pure love of the picturesque peasants, and the facinating intrigues and plots of a royal house and their followers.

Mr. Stuart as Prince Otto, is the per when the time comes, protects the hon when the time comes, process the honor of his house with manily bravery, and rescues his kingdom from the revolutionists with masterfulness.

Miss MacGregor, as Princess Seraphina, is facinating and gives a most artistic

A New Collar

For the second week of his present sea-son at the Baker Theater opening next Sunday afternoon, Ralph Stuart has decided to present the new version of his play "By Right of Sword." Repeated performances in other cities, notably San Francisco and Los Angeles notably San Francisco and Los Angeles this sesson have made the company familiar with the play and insure a well-baianced performance next Sunday.

Air. Stuart is well aulted by nature as well as art to enact the leading role, Richard Hamilton, a typical American gentleman, who has many amusing and exciting, indeed almost tragic experiences in the land of the Crar.

Miss Helen MacGregor, who so well portrays the Princess Serephina in "Prince Otto" this week, and Frank E Camp, the virile young heavy man, have excellent parts as Oiga Petrovitch and Major Devioski, respectively, and the other members of the company, particularly Mary Horne, have ample opportunity to display their ability.

New and picturesque scenery, beautiful and accurate costumes are features of its production.

Ben Hendricks as "Ole Olson,"

No matter what the opposition may be Ben Hendricks in "Ole Olson" appears to do about the same amount of business Ben Hendricks in "Ole Olson" appears to do about the same amount of business each visit that he pays to Portland. There will be a souvenir matines Saturday afternoon. Everyone attending will receive a souvenir photograph of Mr. Hendricks in the character of "Ole Olson," and the children will be given a reception by Miss Mattie Lockette and the other children of the company. Parasites Cause All Hair Troubles.

Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp, and hair are caused by parasite germs. The importance of this discovery by Professor Unns, of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, can not be overestimated. It explains why ordinary hair preparations, even of the most expensive character, fall to cure dandruff; because they do not, and they can not kill the dandraff germ. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the dandruff parasites that burrow up the scalp into scales called scurf or dandruff, is Newbro's Herpicide. In addition to its destroying the dandruff germ Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing, making the hair glossy and soft as silk. For sale by all druggists.
