NOW SEEKS FATHER'S SLAYER. Son of Broker Simonds Determined to Solve Mystery.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Certain that his father, Edward M. Simonds, the New York broker, was mysteriously murdered in Chicago, his son, Alan L. Simonds, has started an investigation to get at the details of the dead man's business affairs, to recover his fortune and to obtain through his business relations a clew that may lead to vengeance on his father's slayer. That Simonds met his death while fuifilling a secret mission of importance to financiers in New York and Chicago is now the belief of his friends. They say he had almost completed a big. They say he had almost completed a big deal when he was killed.

Beyond that point, however, no progress has been made toward solving the mystery. For some reason Simonds for years kept from his family all informa-tion that might now furnish clews. Where his offices were, whom his business associates were and other details

When he left home he merely told his wife he was going to Chicago on a business matter of great importance. Ten days afterwards he wrote to his wife, saying he had been successful, was in good health and would return home in about ten days. This letter was re-ceived by Mrs. Simonds one hour after a telegram announcing that he had been killed.

Simonds' son says:
"I am willing to tell all I know, but it is of little value in the case. We came from Chicago five years ago, and father engaged in the banking and brokerage business, with an office down-town. He told us nothing and we asked no questions. That he was successful in his venture I have no doubt, but to-day I know absolutely nothing about his

A woman named Mrs. Frill had left her husband, which caused much agitation re-cently, by living with Malone, who had left his own wife. Mrs. Malone, the preacher's wife, objected vigorously to this arrangement, and Malone declared her insane, and caused her to be detained in jail pending an inquiry. This action aroused the citizens to a frenzy, and a warrant was issued against Malone and Mrs. Frill on the charge of unlawfully living together.

Constable Mooneyhoon Saturday night arrested both, and, because of the late-ness of the hour, decided not to take them to Caruthersville until morning, but in-stead took his prisoners to his own home for the night. Shortly after midnight Mooneyhoon opened the front door in re-sponse to a knock. He was shot dead in the doorway. A mob streamed into the house and seized Malone, dragging him out into the darkness,

Mrs. Frill frantically begged that no harm be done to him, but she was roughly pushed inside the house, and the mob departed. Malone was taken to a wood some distance away and shot to death. The mob then dispersed. No harm was offered to Mrs. Frill or to Mrs. Mooney-

With the exception of the seines fully 75 per cent of the gear is now in the river, and everything is in readiness to handle a big run should one occur. The arrival of several carloads of tin from the East has overcome the threatened famine in that necessary commodity. The theory always advanced by the Gov-ernment experts and generally believed by the public that salmon do not eat after entering fresh water has been effectually exploded by observations recently made. This season there is an unusually heavy run of smelt in the Columbia and in the stomachs of many of the salmon caught are found quantities of these littie fish. Another thing that has been ascertained this season is the fact that Curacao will probably be a profitable one, as far as Chinese fares are concerned.
