Ashland Turns Out in Numbers to Hear the Candidate for Congress From the First District—Discusses the Tariff.

ASHLAND, Or., May 7.—(Special.)—Hon.linger Hermann met with a splendid reception at Ashland today on his campaign of the district for Congress. He spent the day renewing old acquaintances and making new friends, and tonight at the Chautauque Tabernacle he was greeted by a fine audience of representative people to the number of 500, who listened to his address with marked attention.

The programme was introduced by music by Ashland's brass band, and Mr. Hermann was happily presented by Senator E. V. Carter, who presided at the meeting. Mr. Hermann discussed the issues from a Republican standpoint very clearly, and his remarks brought forth frequent and enthusiastic applause. He pointed out the necessity of maintaining the present prosperity by support of Republican policies, and that any modification in the tariff, left this work to be done by friends of protection.

"Let not the tariff barriers be ruthlessly torn down by the enemy," said Mr. Hermann. He praised the significant administration of President Roosevelt and called special attention to the record he was making for the Republican party and the country in grappling with the trust problem. He concluded by pointing out the promising markets which were being opened up for the future in the Orient, and the necessity of fostering them by legislation which the Republicans are so ably formulating. Mr. Hermann spoke highly of his opponent personally.

As regards the question of his being in harmony with the Administration, which the opposition has raised, he reiterated strongly the statement that his differences with Secretary Hitchcock were those of administration only between himself and the Secretary only, and involved nothing further.

STRIKERS REJECT PEACE

NEW YORK, May 7.—Sweeping aside the pleading of their Consul-General and officials of the Central Federated Union of Labor, the 15,000 striking Italian laborers today unanimously voted not to return to work in the city subway until they are assured of $2 for eight hours' work.

This means that the arbitration agreement entered into by the committee of the federation and the subway contractors on Tuesday is repudiated. Secretary Wilcox, of the Teamsters' Union, scoffed at the proposition that the strikers would seek nonunion labor wherever it can be found.

Judge Munger today modified the injunction issued against the Teamsters' Union. One section of the order, which restricted the union from continuing its organization and conducting their business was so sweeping as to prevent the men from holding meetings, employing counsel, or even declaring the strike off. The judge eliminated these provisions, but the remainder of the order remains unchanged.

Fewer teams were working today than yesterday. President Frewa, of the Teamsters' Union, says that steps will be taken to secure, if possible, a further modification of the court's order.

In round numbers some 20,000 men are members of the organization which are making the fight on the double header question. The grand officers say the vote will be known Sunday morning, but out of courtesy to the general manager of the road, they will be made public until after being submitted to him, probably Monday morning.

The scenes in the lobbies during the first issue of the prospectuses resembled a football scrimmage, in which the weakest went to the wall.
