THE INDEPENDENT.

FOREST GROVE, July16, 1874.

Local News.

A WORD TO THE WISE.—We want to say a few words to the Grove people about the patronage which it should give the meat market here, and before we begin we wish our readers to understand that we do not say this by way of advertisement as the owner of the market is not our patron in that line. It is a matter of interest to this community and so we speak about it. The people of this town have long needed just such a market as Mr. Johns has established, a market where you can always get good fresh fat meats kept in a neat store and a man always at the market to attend to customers. And in saying this we certainly cast no reflections on any preceding management, for Mr Johns pays his undivided attention to this business, and of course can serve the people better than they had been served. We have had Yakima beef, fat and juicy all spring and summer also pork, veal, mutton, game, etc., at this market and we have not patronized it as well as we should. A meat market in this place to make a good support needs the patronage of this entire community, which heretofore it has not received. This meat market has had opposition for two or three weeks past and many patronized it and last week, on this account partly, partly on account of the hot weather, Mr. Johns lost two hundred pounds of meat. Now the man who run the opposition having disposed of his stock on hand, and having something else to do has quit the business. Now suppose Mr. Johns, on account of such irregularity in the trade as this would leave, as he would be compelled to do were it to continue we would be deprived of a regular meat market and have ourselves to blame for it. It is to our own interest to support a regular established market in this place and we ought to do it.

RETURNED FROM STICKEEN.—A. Simpson our townsman who went up to the Stickeen mines last spring returned the first of the present week. He gives bad reports of the mines. No paying diggings have been found this year. About six miles on Dease creek and one mile on Tahlkets creek is all the ground that pays, and was discovered and claimed last fall. British subjects located all the good claims. The water has fallen so that a regular battle will take place for the claims. Disgusted gold seekers are leaving every day and many of them have no money or friends. The steamer Otter brought away on her last trip a great many who could not pay their fare. The business men of Victoria use every means to keep up the excitement about the mines. Mr. Simpson say that a company of five men on Dease creek in one week's working with sluices took out 7 ounces of dust. At Victoria the amount was published on the bulletin boards at 175 ounces. Only six miles of this creek pays, but the bulletin boards at Victoria say that the creek will pay from head to mouth. The creek is three hundred miles long. There are some very rich claims on this creek and our informant says that he would not be surprised to hear of some companies taking out a thousand ounces in a week.

With the present discoveries, it would be foolish for men to go to Stickeen.

PROCEEDINGS OF TOWN BOARD.—June 6th. Entire Board present.

On the question of the tax rate it was voted unanimously that the rate for the current year be two mills on the dollar.

The assessment roll of the city was taken up for adjustment. Wm. Geiger's assessment was reduced $100, when the assessment roll was approved.

A committee was appointed to amend City Charter. The city charter does not provide for the proper protection of city trees, hence the move to amend.

In regard to the improvement of streets it was voted when grading or other work is done by the citizens under the supervision of the Street Commissioner the Town Board will put in all necessary culverts.

JULY 8TH.

Full Board present.

A petition of citizens asking for a law to license peddlers was presented to the Court.

Committee on amending city charter reported progress.

THE farmers in the Hillsboro neighborhood are getting ready for harvest, and they besiege the blacksmith and wagon shops with headers, reapers, mowers and horse rakes for repairs from rosy morning to dusky eve, otherwise Hillsboro is quiet since the "heated term" set in. The streets are passable again as the croquet and horse-shoe players prefer to keep in the shade and whittle and fight flies for amusement, so that teamsters can drive through the streets without getting "wired" or having their horses brained with quoits.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Hillsboro is improving this summer. Judge Archibold is making improvements in his residence by extending a wing and porches to the main building. Chas. McKinney is erecting a two-story frame building, designed for a boot and shoe shop in lower story, hall in the upper. The I. O. G. Ts. and Patrons of Husbandry have leased the old Court House jointly for a term of two years and intend fixing their Hall up in style so that even a Granger will not be ashamed to be seen therein.

A SUCCESS.—The new bakery and grocery store started in this place a fortnight ago by Mr. Eubanks has proven a decided success. From the day that it opened until this time it has had a good run of custom for a small town like this and we hope that the Grove will support it for the bakery is a much needed institution. Mr. Eubanks keeps fresh bread on hand now, as well as fruits, vegetables and everything in the line of a bakery and grocery store. Stand, next door to J. B. Matthew's store.

The triangular fight for Governor and other State officers is over, and the returns are coming in. Some think the result will be in favor of the Democratic ticket, and vice versa, but it is certain that FISHELL & ROBERTS are leading in the race for supremacy in their particular line of business. This popular Clothing House is now filled in every department with the latest fashions, and they are offering great bargains, though that is generally understood by all who know the firm. Leave your measure and we assure you that satisfaction will be given in every stance. jun 11--tf

The Ins and Outs.

Our County Judge, A. C. Archibold entered upon the duties of his office on Monday the 6th inst. and it seemed as if all the attorneys, administrators, guardians, executors of estates and road men (not "road agents") in the county had urgent business with him that day. And to mix matters still more a road supervisor or some other man would "chip in" a grievance and make an explanation touching the condition of certain roads in the lower end of the county (which road of course, his Honor never heard of before,) but the Judge proved equal to the occasion. With a complacent bow, and "very well I will take the matter under advisement" he put the business through in a very creditable manner. Thos. Tongue, attorney, had the privilege of taking the first hour with the Judge in which time he pushed business through lively.

On Wednesday, 8th, the Commissioners Wm. Landers and C. W. Purdin took their seats. The first business before them was the examination and approval of the County Clerk's bond, and Mr. A. Dwelling assigned the duties of his office. Next came the Sheriff's bond (Chas. T. Tozier,) which was approved and the old Sheriff stepped out and the new one in. Next came the Treasurer's (W. Simmons,) bond, and two or three petitions for roads, and then Tongue asking for an order in some estate for some administrator or executor to sell land, and by eleven o'clock the Judge's stand was covered with papers and manuscripts which in due time found their way to the Clerk's desk for him to fix and meditate upon. The Treasurer's bond was approved and he took possession on Thursday 9th.

The old officers went out feeling that they had performed their official duties faithfully and honestly to the people of Washington county. And long may they wave.

ROAD TO NEHALEM.—Mr. H. B. Parker contractor for the mail route betw en this place and Astoria proposes to open at his own expense—together with what aid he can get from citizens interested—a road from Forest Grove into the Nehalem Valley. This is an important enterprise and will be of material advantage this place, and we hope that our business men will respond liberally. We will refer to this matter again.

OFFICERS.—Forest Grove Encampment of I. O. O. F. No. 21, at their last regular meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing term: E. C., S. Hughes; E. C., Mrs. P. A. Saylor; C. of H., J. B. Matthews; W. S., R. M. Porter; W. T., Mrs. Helen Jackson; S. C., M. S. M. W., M. Cready; J. C., Wm. M. Cready; W. C., A. Hunman; M. C., Mrs. A. M. Buford; F. S., Mrs. Mary E. Watt; F. G., N. E. Goodell; R., A. S. Watt; C. of R. C., W. H. Saylor; I., Miss O. A. Haskell; V., L. Brunson; O. G., P. G. Buford.

STEVE HARRIS & HINTON have gone into the livery stable business and occupy the old stand of W. R. Brown. Steve is well known here and the new firm will undoubtedly control the larger part of the Grove patronage. They keep good saddle horses and buggies constantly on hand. See their new ad.

HILLSBORO ENCAMPMENT NO. 21, I. O. O. F. elected the following named officers for the ensuing six months: E. C., C. T. Tozier; H. C., Z. P. Tozier; S. C., Annie Wilcox; W. S., A. W. Faulkner; W. T., Eliza Mooney; C. of H., H. Woodruff; J. C., Louisa Woodruff.

PROF. ROSA has bought two acres of land out of Mr. Eaton's place in the northern part of town paying $250 for the same and the workmen will soon begin building his house which he designs for his residence.

THE smallpox scare still worries some of our townsfolks. Dr. Vitz isn't afraid of it. Well doctors are a sort of preserved anatomies any how and nothing short of their own perscription will kill them.

MR. PARSONS, agent for the Singer Sewing Machine passed through the Grove Tuesday horseback, a tour through Washington Yamhill and Polk counties. He is selling a great many machines.

REV. E. WALKER whose farm is in the suburbs of the Grove has already sold over one hundred gallons of currants taken from a patch of less than a quarter of an acre and there is more where they came from.

W. D. Pittenger, ex-Clerk, and family left Hillsboro Tuesday morning on the train for Astoria and Clatsop beach for a season of recreation and a dish of clams.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

Forest Grove July 13, 1874.

Pursuant to announcement, by posters in every conspicuous place in our town a large audience gathered at the Congregational church last Saturday evening to listen to that far-famed expounder of Temperance and Law, Mrs. Duniway of Oregon. Our lodge not adjourning until too late an hour to be present at the opening of her discourse we thus lost much of the good things she had to say under the first heading of her subject—Temperance—She drew however some most dismal pictures of man's depravity and the horrors of intemperance ensuing from the sales of intoxicating liquors, backed up and sustained and licensed by MEN. A most happy illustration was made through the representation of John Jones, a rollicking good natured favorite of the people, running for Congress drinking his gallons of whisky, yet petted and exalted in society, while John Smith is enticed by the aforesaid John Jones to take but a glass, is made drunken and noisy in the streets and is arrested and taken to jail, thus bringing disgrace to his wife and daughters and misery to his household. John Smith for drinking his glass receives punishment, while John Jones for drinking his gallons is elected to Congress, and thus one happy thought after another following each other in rapid succession holding her large intelligent audience entranced with her most lofty flights of eloquence depicting the most wretched state of society and the laws. And wound up under this head by telling us that all that opposed this order of things were rebels against our government.

She then takes up the social leaning of her subject—Law She commences by telling us that Mrs. Duniway of Oregon is an earnest ardent woman. That she is extremely devoted to the cause she advocates. And if it were necessary for her to lay down her life in the defense of her principles she would gladly and willingly do it. She said that she had a sensitive nature (!!!Ed) and that her fine feelings had often been rasped by coarse and ignorant MEN. She told us of the inexperienced boy in homespun suited about to start out into the world away from his home to bid adieu to father, mother, brother and sister and battle for himself amid the heartless struggling, throng of a disdistant city. And Oh! with what throbbing, aching, hearts did she carry her audience into the very presence of that feebled agonized mother as she packed the little trunk for her departing darling. We see the last fond embrace and the sob of the over-burdened heart we see him brush away the tears from his manly cheek as his coat tail as he passes down the lane and passes through the gate he has climbed so often in his barefoot days, we see him jostled along in the old stage coach from village to village and hurled from city to city in the cars, until he reaches his destination. Here he wanders lonely and timid amid strangers in his homespun suit making sad contrast with the brilliant attire of those he sees around him. On the Sabbath he goes to the church but being awed by the brilliant scenes before him he dare not enter and turning back into the street in his lonely wanderings longing for his home and his darling mother, his inexperienced feet are led into a saloon, his first step to his destruction, his first step toward hell. Thousands of mothers are living in this city who down in the matrimonial compact thousands and millions of dollars whose very hearts are crying out to assist and save the the youths but can not do it because she is denied the right of the ballot. After most gracefully thanking the audience for their breathless attention, and taking up a collection Mrs. Duniway of Oregon subsided.
