Wheat.

Many farmers are inclined to hold their wheat rather than sell for 68 cents, the price offered here. Some will be compelled to sell but not many we hope. The price at Portland stands at $1.40 per cental or 84 cents a bushel sacks included.

The Salem Record has this to say about the wheat prospects:

The Salem Mills have purchased all they require for the present, having paid 70 cents, and found buyers on the increase. They now offer only 68 cents. At Portland the wheat buyers have loaded the ships that were on demurrage, and are dropping down to $1 40 per cental. The contest is direct between the producers and those who control tonnage. There is a disposition to sell, even at low price, but if sales are freely made, wheat goes down and freights go up. If the farmers refuse to sell, the ships must come down to very reasonable rates. Low freights mean 75 cents a bushel for wheat at Salem, and high freights mean 65 cents or less. This is the sole question presented to us. There are—including those arrived—over seventy ships coming to Oregon, unless some of them stop at San Francisco. Last year one hundred and twenty ships loaded in the Columbia, and we shall need as much tonnage this year, and probably no more, as the diminution of wheat from east of the mountains will equal the increase this side.

The Oregonian gives the following view of the situation:

The latest news from Liverpool is that wheat, which advanced there a little ten days ago, has lately receded a trifle, but not so much as the late advance. The spring cargoes from California and Oregon were arriving and being sold at a very heavy loss, and so had a very discouraging effect on the market. This state of things keeps wheat down, and we cannot expect much buoyancy in the Liverpool market until the buyers have got rid of the cargoes that are producing them such a heavy loss. The parties here who have loaded the four or five ships this season all claim that they cannot expect anything but losses on their cargoes, ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 on each vessel. But the ships, which thus subject their charterers to losses, were engaged very early in the season and at rates much above those which prevail at this time.

The crop is all in and the farmers are busy putting in their fall wheat. Rain is now needed to bring up wheat already in the ground. A field of wheat sown by Ben Cornelius on fallow great just after the rain of a fortnight ago has come up well and is growing off finely. The low price of grain apparently does not discourage Washington county farmers, as they are making preparations to raise large crops for next year.

SHOT AND KILLED.

George Benson Shot and Instantly Killed by John Tuttle Near Hillsboro.

Sunday morning about ten o'clock near Hillsboro in an altercation John Tuttle shot and instantly killed George Benson and immediately fled and has not been captured yet. It appears that Benson had rented a Mr. Black's farm in the neighborhood of Hillsboro and had leased a part of it to Tuttle for a year, and that Benson was keeping his horses in Tuttle's pasture; but Tuttle as it is said did not keep the fences up, or in fact would throw them down so that Benson's stock could get out. On Sunday morning Benson went to Tuttle's place and they met and they had some words about the fence when Benson started to lay up a gap in the fence approaching Tuttle threateningly where the gap was when Tuttle instantly emptied both barrels of his shot-gun into Benson's body, the first shot hitting the deceased in the region of the heart and the other in the head. He died in a few minutes without uttering a word. Benson is said to have been a quarrelsome man. He had run Tuttle with an ax sometime previous to the shooting. The wives of the two men had quarreled and fought some ten days before the affray. These things led to the awful result. Benson leaves a wife and four children. Tuttle has no children, having been married only eighteen months. These men are both from Iowa and had been acquainted there. Tuttle is only 24 years of age and came to this country two or three years ago. The report that improper relations had existed between the wife of Tuttle and the deceased is pronounced false by persons in the neighborhood who are acquainted with the parties. Benson was buried in the Forest Grove cemetry on Monday. His remains were accompanied by relatives and some of his neighbors. A sad burial it was. And the pines hold up their hands over the victim of a red handed though not unprovoked act.

WASHINGTON COUNTY FAIR.

Eighth Annual Exhibition of the Washington County Agricultural Society.

Monday the first day of the Fair opened with some indications of rain, and the same on Tuesday morning, but in the afternoon the clouds passed away and the fields of green and seas of blue spread far away to the vision as beautiful and fair as any clime under the sun. On Monday the attendance was small as is usual in these cases. Tuesday and Wednesday it increased. On Tuesday evening the receipts at the gate were $800, which, it is said, compares favorably with any preceeding year for the first two days.

In the Pavilion.

The display of art and farm products in the Pavilion is somewhat meagre but will be better as the Fair progresses. We noticed some very fine vegetables and the samples of cereals are remarkably excellent as is always the case in this county. Samples of oats weighing forty pounds and wheat sixty-five pounds per bushel are exhibited, and such samples may be found on most any farm in Washington county. The display of fruits is large and fine as it nearly always is. Oregon cannot be beaten for big apples. And the exhibit of canned fruits, jellies etc. is extensive and veay creditable to the Fair (women). In fact the women bear away the palm in the Pavilion. The work of their hands is seen in abundance—painting, needle-work, wax-work and shell-work are all there, artificial and natural blending in such natural shapes, shades and hues that you wonder whether or not they did not all grow thus. In these works of the hand Forest Grove is well represented. Miss Ada Hughes contributes two of her amateur paintings. Mrs. Buford exhibits a beautiful little picture of shell flowers. Some exquisite wax-work by Miss Ada Hinman and Mrs. Prof. Robb is especially creditable. "Autumn Leaves" a wax-work wreath by Mrs. Robb is very pretty. We noticed some handsome feather flowers, and crosses made of moss, that are quite handsome, but the names of the fair designers we know not.

Live Stock.

As yet this department is slim. George Naylor exhibits some hogs and Mr. Naylor and Robt. Imbrie have in the stalls some sheep of the Merino, Leicestershire and Cotswold breeds. There are a great many horses of the race horse variety.

Entries Classified.

Tuesday afternoon the total number of entries were two hundred and fifteen, as follows:

Class I.—Horses: thoroughbred, for all work; draft sweepstakes for horses, mares and colts, and jacks and jennets; 19 entries; Ellis Bodwell, Superintendent.

Class II.—Horses for all work, saddle, draft, walking, trotting, pacing or running, to be proved by trial; 24 entries; H. Boyd, Superintendent.

Class III.—Cattle: short-horned Durhams, Devons, Herefords, Ayrshire, Alderney, Holstein and Grade; 15 entries; Thos. Withycomb, Superintendent.

Class IV.—Sheep: Spanish, French, American and Australian Merinos, Cotswolds, Southdowns, Leicestershires, Lincolnshires, Graded and Sweepstakes; 29 entries; A. S. Watt, Superintendent.

Class V.—Swine and fowls: Essex, Chesterwhites, Suffolk, Berkshire, Cross-breeds and Sweepstakes Swine, and chickens, geese, ducks, turkeys and Guinea fowls; 27 entries; A. S. Watt, Superintendent.

Class VI.—Grains, Seeds and Vegetables, and Grain Fields; 70 entries; Robt. Imbrie, Superintendent.

Class VII.—Fruits, green; embracing apples, pears, plums, peaches, grapes, blackberries and quinces; 7 entries; Wm. Chadwick, Superintendent.

Class VIII.—Flowers, fancy work and works of art; 105 entries; Mrs. T. G. Todd Superintendent.

Class IX.—Dairy and house work, domestic manufactures, dried fruits, etc.; 125 entries; J. Rowell, Superintendent.

Class X.—Mechanical department of Oregon manufacture, embracing wagons, drills, harrows, plows, harness, saddles, cabinet work, chairs, copper work, photographs, boots, shoes, horse-shoeing, etc.; 13 entries; Wm. Kane, Superintendent.

Class XI.—Shootings best rifle shots; 8 entries; Isaac Butler, Superintendent.

Of the Horse.

Four saddle horses contested for premiums at 10 o'clock P. M. (Tuesday.) "Billy" entered by T. Scoggin, "Iron Gray Jack," by John McKernan; "Boston Billy" by J. Wilson, and "Schonchin," by W. G. Scoggin. The premiums were $10 for the first, $5 for the second; and $2.50 for third. Billy got first premium, Schonchin, second, and Iron Jack, third. There were three entries on Monday at 1.30 P. M., for a purse of $50. "Foster," was entered by Bigham, "Norway," by W. Musgrove, "b. m. Antelope," by M. Gird. Foster beat Norway by nearly a neck's length and won. At two o'clock Tuesday afternoon a race took place, best 2 in three, for a purse of $200 to the first, $100 to the second, and $50 to the third, two mile heats, between "Foster," "Norway," and "Bill Gird." In the first heat Foster passed the string in 3:48 and Norway second.—In the second heat Foster came in, in 4:01, a length and a half ahead of Gird and full four lengths ahead of Norway, Gird taking second premium.

In the contest of buggy horses, Sewel took first premium and Miller second. W. D. Hoxter contested but lost.

Money Taken In.

Receipts for entries on Monday were $759; for licenses $400; at gate $300. For Tuesday receipts at the gate were $500. We did not learn the receipts for license or entries. This is a fair showing for the Fair we think considering the dullness of the times and stringency of the money market.

Schools Dismissed.—The students of the College and Academy were dismissed Wednesday afternoon for the remainder of the week for the County Fair. Most of the students will not go to the Fair but will hunt, fish and ramble through the woods and mountains during the recess. And we commend their judgment therefor. A party of them talk of going hunting in Mr. Swick's neighborhood.

Croquet.

Last Saturday as per appointment, Hillsboro and Forest Grove played a match game of croquet to decide the disputed championship on "horse billiards." The players were W. Luelling and Green Hale of Hillsboro, and Steve Harris and John Cooper of of Forest Grove. It was decided that the game should be for the two best out of three. Forest Grove lead out and although Cooper "boobied" four times, whitewashed Hillsboro. Cooper in spite of his bad luck at starting was rover first. At the second round Hillsboro lead out, and in this round Harris and Cooper gave their oppponents a double whitewash. In this round Harris made an unusal run, starting from the third wicket and going to the second stake before stopping. And the game was decided in favor of Harris and Cooper. The players were in the best of humor throughout the whole game. N. E. Goodell was umpire and we believe his decisions gave satisfaction. Several Forest Grove ladies witnessed the contest, and made an exceedingly charming foreground to the picture of oaks and green-sward. Forest Grove would like to know what other game Hillsboro would like to play. They must have some game that they can play better than base ball or croquet.

Runaways and Smashups.

Monday Frank Rice in backing to let a team pass backed the hind end of his wagon off the bridge over Dairy creek near Hillsboro but instantly yelled, whipped up and pulled it on the bridge again when his horses becoming frightened started furiously toward Hillsboro and ran off the bridge at the other end and had a first class tumble-over and break-up.

On the same day Mr. Templeton's team ran away and threw the wagon off the bridge beyond Cornelius near Mr. Will's farm and smashed his wagon to pieces.

On Tuesday just as Messrs. Hake and Sloan of the Grove were passing each other in the lane between this place and Cornelius, Charley Naylor attemped to pass between them when Naylor's horse got scared and ran against Mr. Sloan's team frightened so that they turned his buggy to which a sulky was attached clean over breaking shafts of sulky and scattering wheels harness, etc. etc., in various directions, knocking Mr. Sloan senseless for a few minutes. Charley Naylor's horse ran away with his halter shaker up the road, when the sinche broke and Charley was spilled on the ground in a manner as promiscuous as it miscellaneous. Charley found one stirrup and a saddle blanket, the remains of his rigging. After a while he found his horse with the halter wrapped tightly around his fore legs and the saddle tree hanging to his neck. This is a pretty good chapter of runaways. We dont have such a good thing often.
