My re-lation to the Jews can only be as that to brothers whom I love, not because they are Jews, but because they and everybody are the sons of one Father-God. That love does me no violence because I have met and known Lews who are transport met and known Jews who are very good people. My relation to the Kishinet crime is also defined in my religious beliefs. "Before knowing all the frightful de-

Above all, I was horrified at the real culprit, namely, the government, with its foolish, family the government, with its foolish, fanat ical priesthood and gang of robber offi-cials. The Kishinef crime was a conse-quence of preaching lies and violence which the government carries on with such stubborn energy. The government's relation to the affair is now proof of its rude egotism, hesitating at no atrocity when it is a question of crushing move-ments regarded as dangerous, and is proof of its complete equanimity which is like that of the Turkish government toward

BACKBONE OF BUSINESS. Tis Advertising, Says One Who Has

Succeeded Thereby. "Advertising is the backbone of bustness," said E. W. Spaulding, officially advertising director of the Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, and unofficially and at all times apostle of publicity, to an Oregonian representative in the lobby of the Portland Hotel yesterday afternoon. Mr. Spaulding is a fine pattern of the 20th century man of affairs, and the epleram to which he gave expression, as quoted above, is the keynote of the splendld success which has come to the Ladles' Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post, the ublications which he represents. His sit to Portland was an incident in a our of the Pacific Coast, which he is naking with a view to establishing a branch office of his company. He came to this city from Seattle and left last evening for San Francisco after an examination of

Our publications, the Ladles Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post, have a larger circulation in the Pacific Coast States than any other district in the United States in proportion to population. We appreciate this and realize the imrtance of having an office on the ground take advantage of the wonderful owth and development you are destined undergo in the immediate future. The East is beginning to realize the great im-pertance of this country, and is looking this way for business and this country should reciprocate and enter the Eastern markets with her products. Distance has always been the great barrier between the extreme sections, but that has practically been overcome ,and the two are now in effect one community. I would suggest that your business interests do more advertising in the East and get onto the ground with your goods. Advertising is the backbone of business, and the town or community which fails to advertise is

"The remarkable growth of our Ladies Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post is due to two things: First, giving the public the very best matter which can be put into a periodical; and, second, telling about it in a dignified way through the proper advertising channels. We spend $55,000 a year for newspaper and magazine space in advertising our publications. The Journal has 1,000,000 paid subscriptions, and the Post 550,000, and this result has been attained by advertising. We operate the largest periodical publishing plant in the world in Philadelphia and have offices in New York, Boston and Chicago. We employ more than 700 people and have a payroll of nearly $40,000 per month. We have 50 perfecting presses running constantly and during the year print 40,000,000 copies of periodical publications. We have been the pioneers in the matter of advertising and are expand-ing at a remarkable rate. We have been handling our Pacific Coast business from the Chicago office, but realize the need of getting right here among you and are planning an office at one of the Coast cities. We expect to spend a great amount of money here without expectation of getting it back inside of two years, but are confident that we will get it back. Your people appreciate good literature. We give it to them and at the same tim do not hide our light under a bushel. I can foresee great things for us out here and shall so report to my associates on the directorate of the company.

"I am amazed at the development of the states and cities of the Northwest, and am determined that our company shall keep to the front of it. This is the greatest field for investment in the United States, and the fact should be kept con-tinually in the mind of the people of the East. I might advise, it would be well to advertise unceasingly and without stint, to advertise unceasingly and without stint, word upon word. line upon line, precept upon precept. That is the business rule which wins and the importance of it is more apparent at this moment than ever before. I am impressed with the excellence of your newspapers; they are thoroughly micropolitan, comparing favorably with those of the big cities of the East, and are doing their utmost to advance this country.

The big fight for trans-Pacific freight The big fight for trans-Pacific freight business, predicted in Wednesday's Oregonian, is on at full blast in San Francisco, and the lines operating from Portland and Puget Sound ports are figuratively speaking "holding their breath" in fear of what will happen next. is considered that it might as well service is considered that it might as well have been cut to 25 cents per ton. Local transportation mea are at sea regarding the outcome of the fight, and have not yet decided what will be done with the hustness from the after ness from this city. The Portland & Asiatic Liner Indravelli which is scheduled to sail the latter part of the month, has pretty full engagements at the old rate, and this fact will give the cal company time to do a little ring for wind before it makes a decision regarding the future rate. Beyond the knowledge that the Pacific Mail has cut the rate to $1 per ton, very little is known of the transaction locally.

Some of the transportation men in this city are inclined to believe that this rate will apply only to Pacific Mail steamers salling on or about the same date as the steamers of the China Commercial Com-pany. Even if this be true, it will still cause a wast amount of trouble, for shippers will make it a point to hold back shipments for the dollar steamers. The new line which has brought on the fight has one decided advantage over the older ines, and that is that for the present at least it is well supplied with profitable cargoes coming in this direction.

The Atholi, the pioneer ship of the fleet, is reported to have brought on her first trip 2200 Chinese passengers for Mexico, and the promoters of the line are said to have a contract with the Market have a contract with the Mexican govern ent by which they are to bring over a sat many thousand more. Taking it altogether, it is about as interesting scrap as has come up in transportation cicles for many years, and the outcome no man can tell. to say the least.

It is only a few days ago that the Russian Minister of the Interior, in his official report, stated plainly that the trouble was due to religious ill feeling. And now comes the Russian Ambassador at Washington, Count Cassini, and is ready to swear that there is no ill feeling against the Jows in Russia because of religion, and that it was all because the Jews in Russia are all money-lenders. I wonder how Count Cassini would ex-plain away all the innumerable laws enacted by his government against its Jew-leh subjects in general, irrespective of their occupations. The Jewish mechanic is just as much under the ban of the law as the Jewish merchant, and the fessional man is not a bit more favored than the workingman. For not all the Russian Jews are money-lenders, any more than that all the American Jews are pawnbrokers. Is the Russian government excluding ambitious Jewish youths from colleges and universities because of fear they might turn out money-lenders? How

There has been an important discovery of anthracite coal four miles from Cum-berland, near the celebrated Comox mines. The deposit is found to be exmines. The deposit is found to be extensive, the same vein cropping out in places two or three miles apart. None has been brought to market, but 60 men are employed in developing it and a railway is in process of construction thereto. The Extension mines, ten miles south of Nanaimo, owned by the Wellington Colliery Company, have been closed since the middle of March. The cause is not any question of wages. In March a meeting of the employes was held to consider the question of asking for increased wages, when, at the instance of a repre-sentative of the Western Federation of Miners (an organization which has its headquarters in California), a large majority of the men present voted to form a union and to make it a branch of the Western Federation. As soon as news of this action reached James Dunsmuir, the president of the Wellington Colliery the president of the Weilington Coillery Company, he directed that a notice be placed all through the vicinity that the mine would be closed April I, 1905. The men responded on March 10 by voting to quit work at once. Since then not a ton of coal has been produced in this great mine. The men insist on their right to join any union they choose, and the directors of the Weilington Coillery Company maintain that while they have no objection to the men forming a union ction to the men forming a union among themselves, they will not employ men who belong to an international or-ganization and are subject to the orders of men living outside of Canada. The result is that 1000 miners have been idle for six weeks, and the town of Ladysmith is rapidly becoming depopu-lated. Large numbers of the miners have the island and have obtained work in the Crow's Nest, or Washington, mines. The president of the colliery com-pany, in a published interview, insists mines. The published interview, insists that he has spent millions of dollars in the development of his mines and will not submit to any interference by outside labor organizations, but will rather himself or ten years.

Up to date, therefore, the expected ex-tension of coal export to San Francisco, owing to the suspension of the United States duty on coal, has been effectually checked. Indeed, a coal famine in this city has been prevented only by the importation of coal from Washington, and the price has been raised from the importation of coal from Washington, and the price has been raised from $6 to $5.50 per ton for household use. The acuteness of the situation here has been brought to the notice of the Do-minion authorities at Ottawa, and a labor dition to come and have a talk with me, and I will explain to you a system of treatment which I have discovered after my whole life's experfence in the treatment of special diseases of men. It is a treatment that is based on a long lifetime treating Private Diseases of men, and one which time has proven superior to all others, as it has been used on thousands and has never failed. I have no FREE PROPOSITIONS, NO CHEAP OR TRIAL TREATMENTS, NO PAY-UNTIL-CURED PROPOSITIONS OR SCHEMES TO SELL MEDICINES. My education, my experience, my conscience, my reputation condemn all such quackery. If you will call and see me, I will give you FREE OF CHARGE a thorough personal examination, together with an honest and scientific opinion of your case. If, after examining you, I find your case is incurable, I will tell you so candidly; if, on the other hand, I find your case is curable, I will insure you of a permanent cure, and I will give you a written guarantee to cure your condition or refund every cent you have paid in case I fail to effect a cure.
