East Side veterans. On arrival at cemetery, Soldiers' nonument will be dedicated.

The most beautiful flowers which Portland produces in such abundance will be strewn today on the graves of the soldiers who are buried in the cemeteries of the city. These honors will be paid by the surviving veterans of the Mexican and Civil Wars, of the two Indian Wars and of the Spanish-American War and by the women, who suffered the heart ranges of of the Spanish-American War and by the women who suffered the heart-pangs of waiting for their return while they endured the privations and wounds of battle. Three generations will be represented in the ranks. All those who took part in the Mexican and first Indian Wars have passed their 70th year. All of those who fought the Indians in 1855-56 have passed their 70th year, and nearly all who took their 6th year, and nearly all who took part in the struggle with the Confederacy are beyond that age. The men who fought in the Spanish-American War and the Philippine rebellion are in the prime of manhood, being the sons and grand-sons of the generations which fought in Mexico and the South.

Portland Roll of Honor.

What ravages time has wrought in the what ravages time has stronger in the long ranks of the veterans is seen in the long rell of honor published in the programme for today's ceremonies. In the Grand Army, George Wright Post has buried 88 members, Lincoln-Garfield Post 34, Sumner Post 52, Ellsworth 1 and B. F. Butler Post 4, making a total of 159 members of that organization. Of veterans of the Civil War who were not members of the Grand Army there are buried in St. Mary's ceme-tery 10, Grand Army cemetery 65, River-view 7, Lone Fir 165, Mount Calvary 6, West Portland 1, Peninsular 1, Multnomah 6, Columbia Slough 1, Brainard 2, making a total of 184. This makes the total num-ber of Civil War veterans buried in Port-land and vicinity 345. Portland has also buried 11 veterans of the Mexican War and 20 of the two Indian Wars. The Second Oregon Volunteer Regiment has lost 64 members since it went to the Philippines, most of them having been killed or died in the islands and been brought back to e buried in Riverview cemetery. This askes a total of 448 dead soldiers whose semories will be honored.

Programme of Ceremonies.

This morning will be devoted to the dec oration of the graves by the surviving veterans. Details from George Wright and Lincoln-Garfield Posts will assemble at Grand Army Hall, together with those at Grand Army Hall, together with those from their respective Woman's Rellef Corps, at 9 o'clock, and will go to the cemeteries on the west side of the river and decorate the graves. They will be joined by veterans of the Civil War not belonging to any post who may wish, also by veterans of the Mexican, Indian and Spanish Wars on this side of the river. At the same time details from Sumner and B. F. But-ler Posts will assemble at their respective halls, together with the allied Woman's Relief Corps and any other veterans who may wish to join them, and will perform the same office at the East Side com-

The afternoon will be devoted to the dedication of the soldiers' monument in Lone Fir cemetery, in which all organizations of veterans will take part. George Wright and Lincoln-Garfield Posts will as-cemble at Grand Army Hall at 1:30 P. M. and proceed to First and Taylor streets, where they will be joined by veterans of the Mexican and Indians Wars who may wish to take part. They will march at 2 o'clock north on First to Morrison, west to Sixth, north to Washington, east to Third, north to Burnside, east to East Third. Sumner and Butler Posts will assemble at their halls on the East Side at 1:30 P. M., and march to the corner of East Third and East Burnside streets, where they will join the procession from the West Side when it reaches that point The procession will then continue its march up East Burnside to Grand avenue, south on that street to East Stark, and east on East Stark to Lone Fir cemetery The Woman's Relief Corps and ladies of the G. A. R. will assemble at the cemetery in front of the stand.

In behalf of Mr. North, the presentation was made by a friend, who referred to the fact that the Williams-Avenue School furnished 52 members of the Second Oregon, and that the first soldier to fall in the Philippine Islands was Edwin Hampton, a former pupil of the school. Cardwell Oakes, a pupil, made the following response in accepting the flag in behalf of the school:

Veterans of the Spanish-American War:
In schalf of the Williams-Avenue School I receive this flag with a heart overflowing with gratitude because we have been so favorably and honorably remembered. You are the only defenders of "Old Glory" who ever carried it so far away from the land of its birth in so glorious a cause. It floated over you in that distant land, a shelter from oppression, and an insignia of justice whenever your rights were assailed.

sheller from oppression, and an anasana of justice whenever your rights were assailed.

It was your inspiration in the hour of danger. It was your strength in the time of sickness and hardships. It enabled you to endure because of loyalty to its great principles, filashing like a search-light around the world, proclaiming to the oppressed and downtrodden in the uttermost parts of the earth that equal rights for all mankind were no longer confined to the Anglo-Saxon race.

Whenever you looked upon it with a heart yearning for home and friends, it whispered to you the old, old story of Valley Forge and Yorktown. It thrilled you with the gratitude of a race redeemed at Appomatiox. It saing to you the song of the triumph of its defenders, and your hearts grew strong.

You returned it to the land of its birth without a stain. We receive it from your hands as a sacred trust-a gift of which we will always be proud. This school has a just pride in the old Eighth Army Corps. Among your number were many of its boys who were taught within these walls that they owed their life to their country if circumstances required. They proved their loyalty, as this old flag testifies. For you and for them we will always prize it in commenciation of your devotion to duty. prize it in c

LOTHARIO OF THE STREET Thorhammer Pursues Women and Girls, but Is Captured.

T. Thorhammer, aged 41 years, was arrested at Second and Salmon streets by Officer Price last night for annoying women on the street with his attentions. The officer was off duty at the time, and was strolling up Third street near the Plaza blocks, when he noticed Thorhammer following a well-dressed elderly lady. Officer Price shadowed Mr. Thor-hammer until the lady entered a house, and the pursuer retraced his steps,

Not to be baffled in this manner, Thorhammer also ran. Then it was that Officer Price, who was dressed in citizen's clothes, took a hand in the affair. A foot race ensued, and, after a chase of seven blocks, the officer landed his man, who tried to explain that "It was all a mistake." Mr. Thorhammer was safely lodged in the city jail. He had but 45 cents on his person, but with an officer went to his room where he scraped up $30. He will appear before Judge Hogue Monday morning.

The University of California and the Portland Rowing Clubs will contest for honors on the placid waters of the Willamette at 1:39 o'clock this afternoon. Never before in the history of aquatic sports on the Willamette has as much interest been manifested in the sport as that aroused over the outcome of today's race. The oarsmen of the Pacific Coast will await with anyiety the outcome of will await with anxiety the outcome of the contest. Today's race will be a test of both skill and endurance. To become adepts at rowing, the eight young men composing the U. of C. and Portland crews have spent much time in practic-ing, and the work of the Portland boys has been done in the endless rain. ing with high outriggers has its advantages in rough water, and should the river be rough and choppy today their style of rowing will be to their benefit.

The stroke rowed by the Portland carsmen is with a low outrigger, with the hands almost in their laps at the finish of the stroke. The recovery is very quick, the hands being shot out and the body sliding forward very slowly. This does not retard the speed of the boat. The Portland crew's blade work is good and they all swing very well together.

To say which style of stroke will win is hard. Both strokes have won many Both strokes have won man; races and have been rowed by fine crews and superior skill will decide today's con test.

The Fortland crew was organized last Fall by George Luders, with the idea of practicing during the winter and competing in the tryouts for the regatta to be held at Vancouver, B. C., in July. The crew practiced on Sundays during the winter, and as soon as spring came started to row regularity every evening. They won the tryout last week, and were selected to meet the Californians. George Luders and Montgomery rowed in the junior crew at Nelson, B. C., last year. King did some rowing last season with the juniors, while Duncan is a novice. They are all well built fellows and are They are all well built fellows and are in perfect condition. They have had the advantage of the coaching of P. E. Stowell, who stroken the "big four" of the local club for so many years. He has been with the crew for the past six weeks and is responsible for the degree of perfection the boys have attained. The crew took its final spin last night, and the "wise ones" seem satisfied.

The California boys are practically novices at rowing, this being their first novices at rowing, this being their first year. They did some rowing last season, but for the lack of competition had few chances to get seasoned by racing. This year they have given a good account of themselves, having beaten the Delphins, of San Francisco. They have received some coaching by W. B. Contest Today.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, at the professional grounds at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn, the strong Monogram and Multnomah teams will cross bats and play for the local championship. As both teams are very evenly matched and have strengthened for the occasion, a red-hot game will no doubt be the result.

Two Stanford players will play with the Multnomaha, Crawford playing second and Chester Murphy third. Bill Sinnott will play first, and as these three men are all good players and capable of playing fast ball, a good game will no doubt be pulled off. The Monograms have a strong team this year and have not been beaten this season, and will try and add another game to their list of victories.

The Monograms will play the same team that they started the season with, with the exception of their pitchers, who have all been signed with Colfax, of the Inland

SPORTS FOR TODAY League. They have secured Pingree, who pitched for the University of Chicago, and he will probably pitch the game for them today.

FIELD MEET TODAY.

Oregon and Multnomah Track Teams Will Compete.

Everything is in readiness for the Ore-con-Multnomah field meet, which will be seld on Multnomah field this afternoon. The university men arrived in the city yesterday, and are quartered at the imperial Hotel. Most of them are in good condition for today's meet, and if the weather is warm and the track fast, some weather is warm and the track fast, some of them will make fast time in the runs. The 'varsity boys do not expect to win, but they hope to crowd the clubmen in a number of events. The Multnoman athletes are in good condition, and they will enter the meet with a strong determination to win. Oregon has always beaten Multnoman in track and field athletics, but a careful study of the present situation shows that the local team looks better on paper. If the wearers of the winged "M" lose today's contest, it will be because the 'varsity has a few surprises in store. The entries are as follows:

MEN EXCLUSIVELY

Contracted Disorders

Every case of contracted disease we treat is thoroughy cured; our patients have no relapses. When we pronounce a case cured there is not a particle of infection or inflammation remaining, and there is not a particle of danger that the disease will return in its original form or work its way into the system. No contracted disorder is sortivial as to warrant uncertain method of treatment, and we especially solicit thase cases that other doctors have been unable to cure.

We cure Hydrocele, Stricture, Contracted Diseases, Specific Blood Poison, Piles and all Kidney and Bladder disease.

We invite afflicted men to consult us free of charge, either in person at our office or by letter. Correspondence is absolutely confiden-tial, all letters being returned to writer or request. Colored chart sent securely sealed on
