There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. As a substance, the diamond is one of the mysteries of nature, one of the despairs of science. Nobody knows whence it came, nor how—whether it is a spark from a comet's tail, or a crystallized drop squeezed in some horrible intensity of fiery convulsion from the white hot insurgent heart of the earth. Nobody knows much about it all, except that it doesn't "belong" to this world.—Everybody's Magazine.

Today the famous Hembree case will be argued. Hembree was convicted of murder in the first degree at Dallas. The crime for which he was tried was committed in Tillamook county, but because of the feeling against the prisoner in that county he was allowed to be tried in Polk county. Hembree was convicted this time of killing his daughter. He was convicted once before of second degree murder for the murder of his wife, and was paroled.

If wanted he will build another steamer and make the Corvallis run, perhaps further. The enterprise is one that deserves support. The valley needs steamboat transportation the year round, and this is the way to get it.—Democrat.

OIL WELL PROJECT.

Meeting of the Directors in Portland to Consider it Tomorrow.

The boring for the oil on the Whiteaker farm near town has assumed a new phase since our issue of last week, and delayed the departure of President McDaniel and the boring expert for Los Angeles until the new proposition is settled. Mr. Chas. Metzger, who is now here visiting his brother, is a practical oil man of considerable experience, and he is of the opinion that he can so far interest eastern capital in the matter as to stop the necessity for any further soliciting of subscriptions—men who will want to take hold of and run the experimental drilling. A meeting of the directors has been called to convene at Portland tomorrow to consider the proposition, and finally decide as to what is best to be done in the matter.

There is no question but what the showing made by the well already dug here is an enticing one to capitalists who are informed as to the findings, and it is a certainty than with the matter put up to men interested in such work in the east there would not be the least trouble in acquiring the necessary funds to finance a thorough trial of the resources of the ground.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The Little Tots are Entertained by Teachers at the City Park.

Yesterday was a red letter day for the children of the Presbyterian Sunday school, their teachers having prepared a treat for them in the shape of a picnic at the city park, that beautiful spot lying between the forks of the creek in the western suburbs of the city. The large crowd of teachers and students went down to the ground shortly after lunch, and from then on until late twilight the grounds resounded with childish laughter, as they partook of the different pleasures provided for them. Sports and games of all kinds were the order of the afternoon, and many swings were provided to assist in keeping the children in motion. Refreshments were served at a proper hour, and the children allowed to fill their tummies with the good things their guardians for the day had provided. Some of the married ladies of the party took advantage of the occasion to go in bathing, but it was requested of us that we say nothing of this, which we are not. Such pleasures as the one afforded the little ones should be of more frequent occurrence. They are helpful in a physical way, besides the enjoyment afforded for all parties concerned. We hope there will be more of such gatherings during the summer season.

HELPFUL JOHNNY.

He Thought He Was Doing a Great Thing In Cutting Out the Appendix.

JOHNNY loved his papa, there was no doubt about that, and one morning after he had listened to a long disquisition from the author of his being addressed to his elders on the general uselessness of the vermiform appendix, ending up with the broad statement that he hoped he'd see the day when every appendix in creation was cut out, the little boy resolved upon an agreeable surprise for his daddy. He worked in secret for several days and then sprang it.

"See what I have done for you, daddy," he said, leading the wondering father into the library and showing him a neat pile of many pages which he had accumulated. "I've cut the appendix out of every book in this library."

It was then that words failed, and Johnny's father's vocabulary made a general assignment for the benefit of its creditors.—John Kendrick Bangs in Judge.

The Ruling Passion.

His clothes said he was a tramp, but his brow was high and his manner grand. "Madam, may I request the favor of a pair of your husband's cast-off trousers? These are somewhat passee." This, with a sweep of a tattered hat, brought results in the shape of a pair of hubby's oldest, which were just about two degrees better than those the tramp was wearing. After a critical survey of his acquisition, instead of the polite words of thanks the good woman was waiting for, the tramp volunteered, with a deep, long drawn sigh of regret, "Madam, I see your husband discards from weakness."—Puck.

Trading Wisdom For Coin.

"When I started in business I was compelled to borrow $200," said the magnate.

"Without security?"

"Absolutely without security. But I gave the man advice that was worth many times the sum."

"What was it?"

"Never to take another chance like that with me or anybody else."—Washington Star.
