Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hixson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

Not a few who read what Mr. Robert Rowls, of Holland, Va., has to say below, will remember their own experience under like circumstances: "Last winter I had la grippe which left me in a low state of health. The first bottle of it so far relieved me that I was enabled to attend to my work, and the second bottle effected a cure." For sale at 50 cents per bottle by Phill Cohn, druggist.

The Antelope Herald very truthfully describes Dr. Bill's mode of proceedure when it says that he stopped over there for about a month some two years since, representing himself to be a horse doctor, but before leaving distinguished himself as an all-round bilk. Bill established this sort of a reputation everywhere he went. He remained here for almost a year, consequently Heppnerites have an excellent opportunity to become familiar with his system. Dr. Bill has certainly gotten his just deserts.

A number of petitions have been sent from Wasco county to W. R. Ellis and other members of Oregon's delegation praying that the order prohibiting sheep and other stock from grazing on the Cascade forest reserve be rescinded. This is certainly a just request and should be granted. M. A. Moody, F. W. Wilson and A. M. Kelsay, of The Dalles, and E. M. Shutt and H. C. Rooper, of Antelope, were especially active in circulating the petitions.

"The Common People,"

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Mr. John E. Lathrop, of the East Oregonian Talks of the Situation.

Mr. John E. Lathrop, city editor of the East Oregonian, of Pendleton, the leading democratic daily of the state, sojourned a few days of last week and this week in Heppner, the guest of friends. While here a reporter of the Gazette sought to obtain an interview, knowing that his calling places him in a position to fully appreciate and understand the political situation. Mr. Lathrop was hard to corral, but at last, though reluctantly, surrendered to the importunities of the scribe, seated himself comfortably in an easy chair and then proceeded to talk earnestly about the political battles of next year.

"Is it not rather early to put fuel under the political pot and start it a 'bilin'? There remain yet several months before issues will be sharply defined and a man must assume to a high degree of prophetic wisdom, indeed, who pretends to say what combinations have been made by the politicians for the campaign of '96. It is generally conceded that John H. Mitchell will return to his seat in the U. S. senate. The powers that be have willed it, and the people generally are endorsing the decision with great enthusiasm. This issue seemingly settled in advance, eliminates from the campaign that which, under different conditions, would have overshadowed all things else and brought on a struggle which would have absorbed the time of our legislators during the next session.

Several weeks ago, the people of the first district gained an impression that W. R. Ellis' chances were dwindling and that he would probably emerge from the little end of the horn Doubtless this was caused by the springing of a number of candidates for congress. Of late Mr. Ellis' position has been strengthened and the conditions are radically altered. No one believes that John Rand, of Baker City, will rally any considerable support, and, as to the other candidates, I believe that people will be surprised to learn at the outcome how many are really not candidates and also how many of them are warm supporters and unfaltering friends of W. R. Ellis.

"Over in our country, there is manifested considerable interest in matters local to that section. Judge S. A. Lowell's renomination is dependent only on his wishes. He will be named by the republicans, if he will accept, and by acclamation, and the democrats will endorse his nomination. When it comes to state senator, the people generally regret that Col. J. H. Raley's term has expired, and, against his expressed wishes, his friends are pushing him along to make the race again. Col. Raley was always a force in the legislature and should be there again. This, of course, is from a democrat's standpoint, but is the feeling among conservative business men of all parties. The republicans are conceding to Union county the nomination for joint senator, but should Umatilla county name the man, Thomas C. Taylor can probably have the nomination. Mr. Taylor served two terms as mayor of Pendleton and stands with the highest as a clean, energetic, clear-headed business man. He says he does not want the office. Old 'Uncle John' Gurdane may go back as a representative, in all probability, and lots of democrats will forget party obligations and vote for him. John Gurdane has the confidence of the people."
