W. B. Buell, formerly of St. Helens, is now representing the State Insurance Company of Salem, at this place. Mr. Buell's office is next door to The Enterprise, where he can be found by parties desiring business in his line.

Mr. G. H. Wishart, the Enterprising merchant who has a store on the bluff has purchased the residence property of Dr. Ross and will occupy it with his family. Dr. Ross will move to Portland, where he will hereafter reside.

George Welch, of Highland, returned Thursday, from an extended visit with his brother,in California. George says California is all right, but it can't hold a candle to the good old Willammette Valley.

Mr. Rintoul and family will leave us tomorrow morning for Oregon City. Mr. Rintoul, Sr., and Andrew have secured a situation in the woolen mills there. Mr. Denholm, his partner in the mill here, will remain.—Roseburg Plaindealer.

The Oregon City Manufacturing Co are placing a new water wheel in their woolen mill and expect to have it in running order in a couple of weeks. With the new wheel they expect to double their present power, which will of course add completeness to the already thoroughly appointed establishment.

Maj. Thos. Charman is having a new sidewalk laid along his property on the corner of Sixth and Main streets. Two-inch planking is being used in the walks, which is to be ten feet wide, and ten inches higher than other sidewalks, being in conformity in the latter respect with the street grade.

Strangers who have visited this section of the state during these later days of October are surprised at the exceedingly fine weather we are having. There surprise is well founded, especially if they hail from the east, where blizzards cyclones grasshoppers, drouth and hailstorms reign supreme.

E. J. McKittrick, our enterprising shoe dealer who is on business in the East was heard from last week. His family received a letter from him at Detroit Mich., from where he intended going to New York, and from which place he will return to Oregon City as soon as his business has been transacted. He is expected next week.

The anniversary meeting of the young People's Society of the Presbyterian Church will be held at the church on Sunday November 2. The society has made a good showing during its existance, and is now in a prosperous condition, its membership being about sixty. They extend an invitation to everyone to attend their anniversary meeting.

Howard's mill on the Molalla has been changed from a burr to a roller mill the change being made during the past few days. This will be quite an aid to the people who are disposed to patronize that establishment as it will enable them to get a better quality of flour on shorter notice than was the case before. Success to Mr. Howard.

Mr. John Wilhoit, of the town which bears his name, called on The Enterprise this week, leaving his order for labels, cards, dodgers etc., to be used in the sale of the new remedy he has discovered. Mr. Wilhoit takes pride in his new discovery and from what can be learned it is a good panacea for all diseases of a chronical nature. May success crown his every effort.

Mate A. W. Gray, of the steamer Latona, was called to his home in Vancouver, Wash., Monday, owing to sickness in his family. Mr Gray has been most unfortutate of late, having suffered the loss of one child a few days since and now that he is advised of the sickness of two more, his case is certainly a sad one. However, the last two, it is reported, are improving, and great hopes are entertained for their rapid recovery.

Sheriff Samson has on exhibition in his office a group photograph of the sheriffs of the following counties: Coos, Lane, Josephine, Benton, Wasco, Marion, Jackson and Clackamas: and deputies from Marion and Benton, and the superintendent and warden of the penitentiary. It is a fine looking group of officials, and it is very suggestive that criminals will do well to keep clear of their respective fields if they have any love for liberty.

G. S. McElya, has just arrived from Kentucky, and in company with four other men from Kansas has taken a contract to cut and pile one thousand cords of wood for the pulp mill. Mr. McElya reports that in his section in Kentucky the drouth has reduced the demand for labor to such an extent as to compel laborers to seek employment elsewhere. Compare this statement with the equable climate of Oregon, and be thankful you live in a country so blessed.

Saturday evening of this week a musical and literary entertainment will be given at the chapel of the Congregational church at Park Place. Some of the leading talent of Oregon City will take part in the exercises, which is an assurance that the entertainment will not be found wanting in that line. The proceeds, will be used in the construction of a new chimney on the church and addition of other improvements. An invitation is extended to everyone.

The lumber famine which is being experienced in Oregon City at the present time is a result of low water and the great amount of building being carried on in all parts of the city. For want of logs Broughton's saw mill will be compelled to shut down this week and until high water comes to bring down more material it cannot resume work. Mr. Broughton has several million feet up North Yamhill, and has several large dams to bring into use as soon as opportunity offers and the citizens with Mr. Broughton await with not a little anxiety the approach of that opportunity.

The Portland Salem Telephone Co. will have their line in operation in about two weeks. The poles and wires were already for business, but owing to the height of the poles within the limits of this city being shorter than what is required by the ordinance, they were compelled to be taken down and replaced with forty-foot poles, which is now being done. As soon as this work is completed the line will be ready for operation. The office for this place will be in Olsen & Louis' drug store.

Much credit is due the City authorities and board of health of Oregon City for the promptness they exercised in preventing a spread of diptheria which was epidemically threatened here a few weeks since. Inquiry proves that at present the city is entirely out of danger of a run of the dreaded disease, which is the result of stremuous efforts on the part of the health board to avoid it. If any the number of cases are very few, and we can but admire the energy of our officials.

Supt. William Howell desires to inform the citizens that the water will be shut down in the water mains, on Sundays, for a few following weeks. The mill company are putting in a new wheel in their mill, which necessitates their keeping the water out of the flume on that day, and as the supply of city water comes from that flume, hence the stoppage of the same Persons wanting water will do well to lay in a supply on Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Friday evening of this week, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church, W. S Holt, of Portland will give a lecture at the church. Mr. Holt has served several years in China as a missionary and it is unnecessary to state that his discourse will be instructive and beneficial. It is desired that a large attendance be present, as this will be the first of a series of lectures to be given by the society, and any assistance from the public will be appreciated. The admission price is twenty-five cents and everyone is invited to attend

Among the new residents recently added to Oregon City is the family of J Maccomb, from Stockton, Kansas. Mr. Maccomb says they were among a party of 200 who left that state for the West on one train, most of whom were bound for Oregon. The great exodus from the Mississippi valley is a result of repeated failures of crops which have been experienced for the past few years, brought on by drouth and grasshoppers. The railroad companies are giving greatly reduced rates for all emmigrants and all who can sell their property and effects for even a small figure are not slow in taking advantage of it. Oregon extends to them a hearty welcome

It was a worthy cause that the people of Oregon City so liberally supported last week when they suscribed to the paper circulated by Marshal Burns for the relief of the family of Mr. J. Shadle. Never was a family more sorely afflicted, and never was one in greater want than Mr. Shadle's after he had become destitute and distracted by the illness and death of his three children Diptheria had entered his home with the most disastrous results, leaving it in a state of misery and want. It was then a timely and wholesome act on the part of Marshall Burns and one of gratitude on the part of the citizens when they came to the relief of the afflicted family. The amount subscribed was cash, $138 15; goods, $2 50, and groceries, $2.00

The Sheriff's sale which took place in this city last Saturday, when some valuable horses belonging to D. R. Wells were sold was attended by quite a large crowd. People seemed astonished to see the animals sacrificed at such low prices, yet as is generally the case their surprise did not aid the matter, and no one seemed disposed to bid up. The horse "John Hall" is a beautiful steed, with a pretty good record; he was bought by W. Nesbit for $200; "Woodbury" noted throughout Oregon, California and Washington, with a record of two miles 2:23½, went to Al. Gribbet and Chas. Stuart for $475. Although there was some pretty good stock among the other seven horses sold, yet none could be classed unto the same head as these, and everyone considered them greatly undersold

An Enterprise representative had the pleasure of a call at the new restaurant recently opened up down Main street by D. W. Howard. Everything looks clean and tasty around the building, and it is appointed in such a manner as to give it a metropolitan appearance Aside from the dining room is an elaborately furnished parlor for the benefit of his lady patrons, and the same is a great improvement, furnishing a splendid resort for those who have occasion to wait there. His tables are well supplied with any dainty for which the appetite craves, making it in every respect a first-class establishment Mr. Howard deserves the patronge of the public for his effort to supply their wants, and if we are to judge by the business he is doing the public is not slow in comprehending it. The Enterprise wishes him success.

Deputy Sheriff Morris returned Tuesday from an extended trip over the country summoning witnesses for the Circuit court, which meets on the 3rd of November. From him it is learned that on Friday of last week a man roughly dressed and having a sandy complexion, called at the residence of Mr. Colburn, of Elliotts prairie, during the absence of all the family except one little boy twelve years old and demanded admission. On being refused he slapped the boy over and entered, when the boy ran to the bedroom and got his father's gun and drawing it on the tramp ordered him to leave, which he did in short order. The boy then ran to a neighbors and returning with them found that the tramp had again entered the house and had completely upset everything and had carried off a new $10 coat belonging to Mr. Colburn.

A quiet wedding took place at the Livermore house on Tuesday, the contracting parties being Mr. Henry H. Eyman and Mrs. Eliza Bell, both of Boone's Ferry, this county. Justice Fouts performed the ceremony in his usual brief but binding manner.

Death of Another Pioneer.

On Monday morning at 12:30 o'clock of the present week death called at the little town of Wilsonville in this county and took therefore one of the oldest pioneers of the state of Oregon. Mr. Jno. H. Blocker, well known in Oregon and Clackamas county was the victim. Mr. Blacker came to the state in 1847, since which time previous to his death Clackamas county has been his home and during when he had become well acquainted with nearly all the old residents of this section of the state. The cause of his death was heart disease, which ailment he has been troubled with for several years. At his death he was eighty years of age, and leaves a wife of about sixty years and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Jas. Evens. Mr. Blocker had accumulated some property by his long and continuous residence in Oregon, and the many friends he has made, join in sympathy for his sorrow stricken widow and relatives.

The work of taking up and relaying the wheat conveyor from the warehouse to the brick mill is progressing finely. The mill company have experienced not a little bother the past year in keeping the conveyor in working order, owing to the way the grain, after absorbing the moisture from the earth, clogs and renders the screw which transports it unable to do its work. Instead of being placed in immediate contact with the earth the piping is now being laid in cedar boxing, which will tend to keep the grain dry and make it easier propelled. The conveyor is an immense affair, being 640 feet long, and any misworking of it places the mill at great inconvenience. Upon the completion of the conveyor a new core wheel will be added which is now being cast in Salem. Two weeks is the time it will take, according to the opinion of Superintendent Davis, before that mill will again be in operation, but the company in the meantime are running the other mill to its fullest capacity, and are buying all the grain brought in.

The following marriage licenses were granted during the week by County Clerk Johnson: Newton Bennett to Jane McConnell,; Fred Koellemeier to Alma Platt; A. J. Owen to Kate B. Prideaux. Walter Emmett to Ellen Hughes.

Chairs of all designs at Warren & Holman's.

Mr J. P. Crocker, lately from the East, will, according to his announcement published in another column, open up a meat market on Seventh street, at the head of the depot stairs, the first of next week. Mr. Crocker has had an extensive experience in the meat business, and proposes to give satisfaction to his patrons, as he will carry none but the best of meats.

Owing to lack of time and space The Enterprise is not able in this issue to give further opinions of citizens as to the propriety of extending the city's limits. Next week a representative will call for the opinion of property owners, and it is hoped every one will freely express themselves. If there is any one whom we fail to see their opinion will receive due notice if handed into the office.

Call and see Cheval sixteenth century or antique finished hardwood suits at Warren & Holman. Six pieces for $32.50

Work on E. G. Caufield's new drug store is progressing quite rapidly The brick work on the basement has been completed by Mr. Kirkpatrick, who had the contract, and the frame work for the main building is now being prepared by G. W. Deeth, who has the contract to do the carpenter work. The building will be a frame—not brick, as was inadvertently stated in The Enterprise last week. It is being put up in a most substantial manner, and will present a handsome appearance when completed.

The death of Elwood Hickman took place at an early hour this morning at the residence of his uncle, C. T. Hickman, in this city. Mr. Hickman had only been here about two weeks, he having left Hastings, Nebraska, under the advice of a physician with the hope that a change of climate might restore his health, he being afflicted with heart and kidney troubles. The body will be embalmed and shipped to his home for burial. He leaves a wife and three small children.

Warren & Holman are selling more furniture and at lower prices, quality considered, than ever sold before in the city

The residence of Mr. Thomas Charman was the scene of a very enjoyable social event on Tuesday evening of the present week. It was in honor of the graduating class of Miss Charman, and a lady friend, Miss Walker, from Wisconsin. The evening was spent to good advantage by indulging in games of the usual order, until the middle of the evening, when a sumptuous repast was indulged in. After refreshments the floor was cleared of furniture, from which time on dancing was the leading feature. There were a goodly number of the young friends of Miss Charman present, all of whom expressed themselves as having an unusually pleasant time, and bestow unlimited credit on the popular young hostess and her kind-hearted parents for the elaborate manner in which they cared for the entertainment of their guests

A proposition will be submitted by Watson Bros. to the next board of trade meeting, looking towards the organization of a stock company for the manufacture of rustic furniture in this city This enterprising firm have gained a well earned reputation of being first-class workmen in this line, and the goods they have turned out is enough assurance that with necessary capital they could build up an enterprise which would be a credit to our city. Their reason for selecting Oregon City as a place of operations is because of its accessibility to an exceedingly fine quality of material for this class of work, it being superior to any which they have ever found during their long experience in the business in the East. An institution of this kind, that would give employment to a dozen or more men, could be maintained at a comparatively small cost here, as the excellent power which our rapids afford would be of the greatest importance. The Enterprise welcomes to Oregon City such beneficial industries, and trusts that the board of trade will consider favorably the proposition of Messrs. Watson.

The New Home sewing machine take the lead. For sale by Warren & Holman.

A decided improvement has taken place in the music store of J. H. Way. He has taken out the petition, which leaves a more commodious room for his stock of instruments, and given his store a fresh coat of paint and paper. Taken altogether the store now has a very nobby and smooth appearance Mr Way runs the only music house in town at present, and he merits credit for the quality of instruments he always carries. His stock of pianos, consisting of the celebrated Decker and Fisher manufacture is quite complete, while in the organ line he keeps the Mason & Hamlin, the Chase and the Weaver. Residents of the city can congratulate themselves on having a music store of the class of which Mr. Way is the proprietor among their business enterprise, as it adds to the city's name as well as lends convenienc to parties desirious of musical instruments Not least among the attractions of the institution are the reasonable terms. To those who cannot spare the cash Mr Way offers to sell instruments on easy installments. Read his ad in another column.

Warren & Holman of this city, have added to their undertaking establishment a Gleason Improved cooling board for the purpose of aiding in the better handling of a corpse. They now have as well appointed an establishment as can be found outside of Portland and those in need of their services will find them prompt and reliable and their charges always within the means of all.

Death Calls a Pioneer.

It is with not a little sorrow that we take the opportunity of chronicling the death of Mrs. Harriet Pease, one of Oregon's oldest and most highly esteemed residents, which took place on Friday of last week, at the age of 83 years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Pope. Mrs. Pease, a few years after the death of her husband, which occured in Troy, New York in 1849, took up her home in New York City, where she remained until 1862, when with friends and relatives she migrated to Oregon City, and since then she has made this city her permanent home. She has several children and grand-children living in the state, besides relatives and friends innumerable who will mourn her death. Mrs, Pease was stricken with a paralytic stroke last May, and while she has never fully recovered from the effects, has on several occasions felt able to ride in open air. A month previous to her demise she was overcome with what proved to be her fatal illness, gradually failing until that eventful morning, when at 11:30 she passed into that mysterious beyond, apparently without a pain or struggle. Her funeral occured on the following Sunday at the Methodist church, officiated by the Rev. Parsons. Her remains were followed to their final resting place by a large concourse of past acquaintances, who were united in their sympathies for the relatives of the lost one, and who realize that in the demise of the estimable lady they have lost a kind and true-hearted kinswoman, whose absence from their midst will be a source of the deepest regret.

Of criminal and other cases there will be but a small number up for a hearing. The following criminal cases are now on the docket:

Robert Heiser; bound over from Justice Forbes' court, of Damascus, for attempted rape.

Joseph Petek; bound over from Justice Fouts' court, of Oregon City, for selling liquor without a license.

Frank Armstrong; bound over from Justice Fouts' court, from Oregon City, for larceny.

A suit has also been instituted by J. H. Way, with T. A. McBride for attorney, against the Oregon City Manufacturing Company, for causing to his son the loss of a hand by, as he alleges, their criminal carelessness in having exposed machinery and putting a green hand at a dangerous work, without at first cautioning and giving him full instructions.

Al. Golton, a barber, and Wm. Wilton, of this city, were arrested last evening for the crime of enticing girls under the age of 16 for immoral purposes. They were arrested in the old Barlow house with the two daughters of one of our citizens, and arraigned before Justice Fouts to-day. Up to the hour of going to press their trial had not come up for consideration

Something which would add much to the welfare of Oregon City, and is receiving favorable consideration by many of its citizens is the matter of purchasing the small tract of land east of Recorder Whitlock's place now owned by private parties and extending the street through the same. This would be the proper thing to do as it would save an unnecessary amount of travel up the face of the hill on Tenth street, and offer a more convenient and less tiresome one instead. If citizens would contribute small sums each the amount could be easly raised for the purchase of the property and the benefit derived therefrom would be great.

Rev. C. C. Bateman, Oregon City, Or.

My dear Brother:

It affords me satisfaction to inform you of the great pleasure and profit obtained from your lectures before the Secretorial Institute of the Young Men's Christian Association of the Pacific Northwest which met last July on Vashon Island, Puget Sound. Your lectures were crowded so full of knowledge, of thought, and spiced with such good natured irony, that those who heard them were highly pleased and benefited. I shall always consider it a favor to commend your lectures to our Association, and am glad we are to have you in our members course of lectures again this season.

Very truly Yours,
Noel H. Jacks,

J. Herman:

The north half of the north half of section 19, T. 5, S. of R. 2 E., and the south half of south-west quarter of said section 19, T. 5, S.
