The Enterprise.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1890.

TOWN and VICINITY.

Bedroom suits at Warren & Holman's are selling fast, and those wishing any special design will do well by calling soon.

Among the new residence going up at present, we notice one on Madison street. It is quite a large cottage and is for J. D. Renner.

Warren & Holman having put in a stock of carpets, can now furnish your house completely, at prices unknown before in this vicinity.

The new residence of C. Meesse, on the corner of Sixteenth and Jackson is about completed. It will make a comfortable and nobby home.

The engagement of Mr. Dal. Shindler, of Portland, and Miss Daisy Diller, of this city is announced. The marriage is to take place in January.

In taking steps with a view to invest in good property take the steps leading to the Willamette Land company. Office over the Oregon City Bank.

A dwelling suitable for private boarding and lodging house at rear of the Commercial Bank will be for rent after the 18th inst. Inquire at the bank.

J. G. Porter, who recently converted his residences into one of the neatest in town, is now grading his lot, making the surroundings correspond in appearance with the house.

Mrs. Burmeister's jewelry store is being overhauled and repaired. New show-cases and other improvements have been added which gives the store a rather nobby appearance.

Warren & Holman can be found at all times of the day or night by those wishing their services in the Undertakers line by calling at room No 10, Livermore hotel, or corner 13 and Main.

The bell was taken out of the old Methodist church the first of the week and will be placed in the new one. It is expected that the church will be dedicated about the 14th of next month.

Jno. Ferguson living out four miles has killed three wild cats and one coon during the last ten days. Mr. Ferguson also brings in considerable game, such as grouse, pheasants, etc., which he has great success in killing.

Pope & Company have added another new stock of goods to their large hardware establishment. This firm is always at hand with an excellent assortment of goods, and as a reward for its enterprise, deserves the very liberal patronage it is receiving.

Mr. Lou, employed at the electric light works, was the victim of quite a painful accident last week. In jumping onto a raft he lighted on a nail, the same penetrating his foot for a distance of two inches.

J. P. Croaker, of the Mountain Root Meat Market, on Seventh street, recently opened, keeps constantly on hand first-class fresh and cured meats of all description. Customers can depend on square dealing at "live and let live prices". Call on him.

The Latona, which ran on the rocks at Stephens point and sank during a heavy fog a few days since, was towed down by the steamer Toledo Tuesday and is now on the ways at Willamette slipyard, where she will undergo thorough repair.

The friends of Mr. John Champion are pleased to know that his recovery from a severe attack of typhoid fever from which he has been quite ill for some time past, is now fairly assured and it will be but a short time until he can resume his duties.

The mill company hope to have their conveyor repaired and the mill running by Monday next. Everything depends on the arrival of a new set of gears from Salem, which if it does arrive will enable them to start up at once.

The eighth social hop to be given at the armory next Saturday evening promises to be a grand success. Those who have participated in the series of dances are always satisfied with their evening's enjoyment and we predict for the managers a good turn-out.

Mrs. C. H. L. Burmeister has just received a complete stock of One and Eight Day clocks, which she is selling at very low prices. Every one is warranted. If

Wood taken on subscription at the office.

During the past two weeks licenses to wed were issued to May Albright and B. E. Dolan; Ed. Aaron Preston and Miss N. A. Deon; Jennie Hawley and B. M. Racy; Laura Priester and Sherman D. Barney; N. A. Deon to Ella W. Richey; George Miller to Gertrude Shipley.

A drunken man undertook to catch a water hydrant near the Chinese laundry, Sunday, but was unsuccessful and instead took a header into a fence. He was pulled out and properly taken care of by an officer, but on Monday his face looked like a street sprinkler.

The lecture in the Baptist church on Friday evening last was largely attended, the large and commodious building being inadequate to seat all who attended. If the popularity of the first is to be taken as an indication of what is to follow, the church building will be far too small.

J. A. Cox, of Canby, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Cox has lately taken a large contract to furnish the railroad company with wood, and has put in a steam drag saw to do the cutting. With six men he is able to cut 100 cords per week, and in a short time he expects to be able to exceed that amount.

It is idle to deny the existence of frost pests in Oregon, or to attempt to cover up the fact from Eastern eyes, says the Salem Statesman. The thing to do is to make war upon the pests without ceasing—to ask the state to strengthen the hands of the commission having charge of the work of extermination.

Those parties who are blocking the sidewalk along the south end of Main street with poles, lumber, etc. would do well to turn their attention to other occupation. It is well known who they are, and is they continue the reckless practice of endangering human life on dark nights they may be called upon to suffer for the same at the hands of the law.

George Knight, one of the old-time and well-known merchants of Canby has taken as a partner Louis E. Carothers, of that place. The capital of the firm has been increased $600 and they expect to add largely to their stock of goods and otherwise improve their business. Their notice of partnership can be found elsewhere in this paper.

The "Hand-Book of Oregon City," the first issue of which will appear December 1 next, will fill a long felt want. It is a venture worthy the financial support of every business man in the city and county, since it will deal only with facts, and present a true picture of our business and resources. It will completely cover the field, without giving undue prominence to any one feature or enterprise.

S. R. Green, H. McCarver, Jno. Turpin, and W. V. Turpin returned home Monday from the headwaters of the Eagle Creek, where with the assistance of three men they have been developing their mines in that section. They have made a good showing and succeeded in securing some fine specimens of ore. An account of their trip will be published in our next issue.

Mr. B. C. Lewis, postmaster of Viola, and one of the old standbys of THE ENTERPRISE, having been a liberal contributor to its success for the past twenty-five years, was in Monday getting acquainted with the new proprietor. The editor himself was not in, we are sorry to say, but Mr. Lewis has left a pretty good impression with the rest of the force and he will always find a hearty welcome.

Street Commissioner Babcock I would be answering to the prayers of the public if he would cause improvements to be made in the alley between Washington and Center street in block 50, before the prolonged wet weather sets in. To shovel the dirt away from the fence and sod it would do only respect for Oregon City to act as did Portland, and prohibit the practice.

What is being done by the monied men of Oregon City to further the interests of Oregon City by a first-class freight and passenger transport ation facility scheme? No town of the superior location, and commercial and industrial importance of Oregon City when hampered by selfishness and foolishness has ever progressed beyond village proportions, and stagnation will assuredly settle down upon our beautiful city unless active and decisive steps are taken.

The case of Goltra & Wilton the notorious characters mentioned in last week's issue, came up before Judge Taylor at this term of court. Through some flaw in the indictment Golton was set at liberty, and immediately packed up his duds and silently stole away to parts unknown. Wilton was acquitted of the charge in the indictment, but was forthwith arrested under another charge and is now waiting in jail in default of securing $500 bail.

O. E. A. Freytag in addition to his large stock of groceries has done a business of no small magnitude this season in dried fruit. He has purchased the bulk of that article brought to market, and has always been particular as to the quality of goods he deals in. Mr. Freytag is a good man to trade with and the large and complete stock he carries, justifies us in saying that his store is worthy your patronage.

Henry Bagley, a stranger in these diggins, was arrested at this place Monday and taken to Portland by Marshal Burns where he was arranged before Judge Deady, of the U. S. Circuit court to answer to the charge of furnishing liquor to an Indian. Bagley purchased a gallon of the article of one of our liquor dealers and delivered it to a siwash. He pled guilty to the charge and was given his choice between a twenty-dollar fine or sixty days in jail. For want of the former he chose the latter.

E. W. Wheeler from over at Park Place and Edgewood speaks for his community and says that the people are generally opposed to annexation, they are paying for improvements of business streets without derriving any particular benefits. That to annex the city with the suburbs means the taking away of their postoffice, which will be of great inconvenience to them, compelling them to go a mile and a half for their mail. He said to put the Edgewood and Park Place people down as being opposed to the move.

The Portland-Salem Telephone Company now have the line completed and is already doing business. Satisfaction with the success achieved in the transmission of sound, is expressed. And well it may be. Out at this place speaking within a person in either Portland or Salem can easily distinguish what is said. The office in this place is at Dixon & Loder's drug store, corner Main and Fourth streets. The charges for conversation are very reasonable.

It would be easy, also, to show that the electric lighters have commenced the good work of putting in street electric lights, to extend the same to some of the more prominent residence streets outside the heart of the city. One would be in no proper place at the bridge on Washington street, near Twelfth. This is a much traveled course and the people who travel it demand the attention of the council to the matter.

The Albany Herald says that Sheriff Scott, of that place received a dispatch yesterday from J. M. Cosy, at Brownsville, stating that he had received a letter from Goldendale, Wash., with the startling information that "Whisky Jim" was there and that if wanted he could be arrested at any time. The sheriff says he has no use for the gentleman, and if this notice comes before the eyes of anyone who does, they are welcome to the above information.

A. W. Cheney, of the Clackamas County News, has disposed of his interest in that paper to Messrs. F. T. Shute, Wm. S. Runyan, and W. L. Chapman. Mr. Cheney has made a splendid effort in behalf of the interest of Clackamas county, and as he sallies forth into his printing other fields, he has the best wishes of a host of well meaned friends. To the new managers THE ENTERPRISE extends the right hand of fellowship, hoping their career in the art of enlightening the public may prove beneficial and successful.

The turning round and round of a dog before he lies down is a curious instance of the length of time that domesticated animals retain the characteristics of their wild ancestors. The forefathers of the dog that today treads a piece of flat carpet before composing himself in front of the fire were obliged to go through the same evolutions in order to trample down sufficient grass to form a bed. And this instinctive habit, like the burying of surplus food, will probably last as long as the dog race.

Let every body come to the New England supper at the Congregational church on Thursday evening, Nov. 20. A good old fashioned meal consisting of pork and beans, mush and milk, pumpkin pie, graham bread, doughnuts, etc., will be served, commencing at 5 o'clock P. M. in order that every one may have an opportunity of partaking of this supper instead of eating at their usual places. Don't forget to come. At eight o'clock a program of unusual interest will be furnished by some of the best talent of the city.

Mr. A. B. Graham, the popular purser of the steamer Altona, will move back with his family to Oregon City, the latter part of this week. They will occupy the Purrow house on the corner of 11th and Washington streets. During their residence in East Portland, Mr. Graham's health has been very poor, owing to the bad sanitary conditions of that city, and his return to Oregon City was imperative, as while here he enjoyed the best of health.

Mr. A. Sanders, one of Molalla's leading farmers, was in town Tuesday and made THE ENTERPRISE office a brief call. He states that as yet there has been but little fall wheat sowed as the dryness of the fall retarded plowing. The late rains, however, have put the ground in fine condition and seeding will be pushed from now on with vigor. The area to be sown this fall will be fully up to the average, the large yield of the past season and the fair prices prevailing very much encouraging the farmers.

Where's the Literary Society? Shall the winter pass without an organization of this kind? For the young no better school could be provided for the development and broadening of thought, and for the older persons it offers opportunities for improvements in oratorical and rhetorical abilities. Taken all together, it is far more preferable to a progressive euchre party, or a game of "freeze out" or "Jack Pot".

Oregon City's Pride.

If there is one institution in Oregon that is deserving of more credit than any other for its enterprise, magnitude, importance, as well as its benefit to a community, that institution is the Oregon City Packing Company's establishment. It has done its full share towards the development and advancement of Clackamas county, having been the means of bringing under cultivation a large portion of its land which would have otherwise in all probabilities have been idle. In it the ranchers and fruit-growers of Clackamas and contiguous counties have always found a ready market for their produce at prices that were never under and often over those of Portland and other markets. With the aim of doing as they would be done by, the Oregon City Packing company ranks without a competitor among the establishments of its magnitude on the west. Ever ready to co-operate with home institutions, patronize local dealers and employ home labor, this worthy institution has made a record and gained popularity that does it credit.

There is probably few people in Clackamas county, who can readily conceive to what an extent the company have pushed their work to meet sale and few can realize the great benefits such an enterprise is to a county. Then total output so far for this year is 40,000 cases. At their greatest capacity per day they have put up 600 cases giving employment to 287 persons, whose wages in the aggregate amounted to $1200 per week.

To Clackamas county they have paid $50,000 for fruit, while the female laborers they have employed have averaged from 6 to $9 per week. Such an institution is to the credit of Oregon City and Clackamas county and one in which our citizens can take pride.

Notice is hereby given that there will be an examination held for all candidates for teachers in the schools of Clackamas county, at the court house in Oregon City, on Wednesday, November 26, 1890, commencing promptly at 12 o'clock, noon.
